CITY BRIDGE BONDS—Won by 34,266.

CITY LIGHT BONDS—Won by 19,991.

COUNTY JAIL BONDS—Lost by 15,229.

The Democrats made a clean sweep of the judicial election in Cook county yesterday. They reelected their five sitting Superior court judges by pluralities ranging from 11,123 to 22,461; sent Municipal Court Judge John J. Sullivan to the higher bench by a plurality of 9,700, and elected Joseph B. David to the Freeman vacancy with 6,057 votes to spare.

It was a sizzling reception that Roger C. Sullivan's Democratic organization arranged for the embroiled Republicans and Progressives fighting over the presidential nominations.

TWO BOND ISSUES CARRY.

The bridge and electric light extension bond issues carried by handsome majorities. The county jail bond issue was ignobly defeated.

The vote was very light—less than 150,000. Approximately 7,000 women voted on the bond issues.

Judge Richard E. Burke, chief justice of the criminal court, who has been confined to his bed all through the campaign, led the entire field. Judge William E. Dever was not far behind. Judge Charles A. McDonald was a close third.

Judge William Fenimore Cooper, opposed by the state's attorney, the city hall, the bar association recommendations, and others, finished fourth, leading Judge Martin M. Gridley, who had been top man in the bar primaries. Judge Cooper's success is ascribed greatly to the movies, which, lead by D. W. Griffith, made a whirlwind campaign for the man who upheld them against political censorship.

"AMERICA FIRST," THE MOTTO; POINTS OUR "COMMON DESTINY"

From Justice Hughes' Speech Yesterday in Washington:

"This flag is the symbol of our national unity, our national endeavor, of our national aspiration. It tells you of the * * * sacrifice of brave men and women to whom the ideals and honor of this nation have been dearer than life.

"It means America first; it means an undivided allegiance. It means America united, strong, and efficient, equal to her tasks. It means that you cannot be saved by the valor and devotion of your ancestors; that to each generation comes its patriotic duty; and that upon your willingness to sacrifice and endure, as those before you have sacrificed and endured, rests the national hope.

"It speaks of equal rights; of the inspiration of free institutions exemplified and vindicated; of liberty under the law, intelligently conceived and impartially administered. There is not a thread in it but scores self-indulgence, weakness, and rapacity.

"It is eloquent of our common interests, outweighing all divergencies of opinion, and of our common destiny."

Justice in Address Hints Attitude on Preparedness

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—For the first time since attention has been centered upon him as a possible presidential candidate Justice Hughes, in a public address today disclosed, at least partially, his attitude on the question of preparedness.

The occasion for the speech was the annual ceremony of the presentation of a national flag to the honor members of the graduating class of the National Cathedral school, where his daughter is a pupil.

FLAG MEANS AMERICA FIRST.

Justice Hughes said the flag stood for "America first" and for an "undivided allegiance" and declared it the patriotic duty of the present generation to sacrifice and endure to uphold it.

"In these last school days," the justice said in opening his address, "your hearts are full of the perfect joy of friendship, and the dominant thought is doubtless of the associations which have been more potent in their influence than either the study or precept. The teachers you love mean more to you than the subjects they have taught. It is because of the winning power of their personality and your response to the message of their lives that memory will ever turn fondly to this spot.

DISCIPLINE THE WORD.

"But while all this is implied, the ceremony of today has a distinctive significance in its recognition of scholarship. This is a place of serious intellectual discipline. Intellectual interests are not sacrificed to meet the whims of folly or the indifference of the thoughtless.

"Peculiarly is it necessary for us to realize the need of thorough, well directed training. The school is the power house of democracy. You cannot expect to make efficient men and women out of the ill instructed and the undisciplined.

"It is a beautiful prize that I am privileged to give.

"It means more than association and reward. It is the symbol of our national unity, our national endeavor, our national aspiration. It tells you of the struggle for independence, of union preserved, of liberty and union one and inseparable, of the sacrifices of brave men and women to whom the ideals and honor of this nation have been dearer than life.

ANCESTORS CAN'T SAVE US.

"It means America first; it means an undivided allegiance. It means America united, strong, and efficient, equal to her tasks. It means that you can not be saved by the valor and devotion of your ancestors; that to each generation comes its patriotic duty, and that upon your willingness to sacrifice and endure, as those before you have sacrificed and endured, rests the national hope.

"It speaks of equal rights; of the inspiration of free institutions exemplified and vindicated; of liberty under law intelligently conceived and impartially administered. There is not a thread in it but scorns self-indulgence, weakness, and rapacity. It is eloquent of our common interest, outweighing all divergences of opinion, and of our common destiny."

NEWS EPITOME OF BIG CONVENTION

Roosevelt announces that if Hughes is nominated by the Republicans he will lead a third party.

Hughes continues to hold inside track for nomination, while T. R. and favorite sons court Penrose and Old Guard.

Henry M. Hyde pictures the preliminary activities of the only greatest political show on earth—four national conventions here simultaneously—two of men and two of women.

ALLIES PLEDGE 587 DELEGATES STAND UNITED

SHUT OUT T. R., HUGHES

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

The convention program of the allied candidates in the coalition against Justice Hughes and Theodore Roosevelt has been completed in its essential details.

THE TRIBUNE was authorized last night to say that final and binding agreement has been made between 587 delegates—nearly a hundred more than a majority of the convention—to act in harmony.

IOWA AND WISCONSIN JOIN.

Iowa, with its delegation instructed for Senator Cummins, determined to participate in the movement and designated Senator William S. Kenyon to sit in at the war councils of the field marshals representing the five original allies, Root, Weeks, Burton, Fairbanks, and Sherman.

The Minnesota delegation, also instructed for Cummins, is expected certainly to follow Iowa's lead. The delegates instructed for Senator La Follette have opened negotiations. The La Follette people bar Sherman as a possibility. They are willing to go along on the main chance.

The outstanding feature of the program, as the information was imparted to THE TRIBUNE, is that the candidate to be supported ultimately by the men in the combination will be named at a general caucus of the pledged delegates, to be held probably late Thursday night.

It will be an unbossed caucus, say the men who are handling the reins.

ROOSEVELT MEN OUT.

The pro-Roosevelt delegates, notwithstanding the realization of the colonel's representatives that they have common cause with the allies in encompassing the elimination of Justice Hughes, are not included in the coalition plans. It is presumed that if they enter the proposed caucus it will be with the understanding that the colonel is not on the list of possibilities.

The views of the bulk of the delegates from west of the Alleghenies, who figure in the agreed 587, are represented by the following official statement from Senator Kenyon of Iowa, in announcing the determination of the Cummins delegates to stand pat.

"The supporters of Senator Cummins," Senator Kenyon said, "are confident that harmony in the convention can be best accomplished by the nomination of a western man. Our instructed delegates have assured us that they will stay by our candidate to the end."

EASTERN FORCES ARRIVE.

The eastern delegates embraced within the coalition were quite as strong in their statements that they would play the game through with their western allies. The Root managers reiterated their insistence that a majority of New York is certainly for Root, and will act with the combination all through the proceedings.

The Fairbanks managers issued a sharp denial to the report that Mr. Fairbanks is figured as a vice presidential candidate. A formal statement was given out jointly by Will H. Hays, James A. Hemenway, and Joseph B. Kealing which said that "under no circumstances will Mr. Fairbanks accept the nomination for president." The Fairbanks management is in the forefront of the coalition movement.

HIS FRIENDS JUBILANT.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

Unexpected developments in the political situation last night brought the selection of a Republican candidate for president close to a crisis and produced sensations in the camps of both the old party leaders and the Progressives.

These were the principal happenings:

Theodore Roosevelt took a hand in the maneuvers to eliminate Justice Hughes, sending word to his managers here that he will accept the nomination on a third ticket if the Republican convention should name the jurist.

Progressive leaders, who welcomed the colonel's declaration, proclaimed that the result will be the elimination of Hughes, who is expected to withdraw from the contest in the face of the prospect of another party split meaning probable party defeat in the election.

With Hughes eliminated and Roosevelt leading a bolt, said the Progressive leaders, the Republican convention will be compelled to nominate the colonel in order to obtain a leader capable of defeating President Wilson.

TALK FAILS TO SATISFY.

Progressive leaders expressed dissatisfaction with the utterances of Justice Hughes on Americanism and preparedness in Washington yesterday and asserted that the statement does not meet their demands for an adequate statement of views on the issues of the hour.

Following up the ultimatum to Roosevelt to eliminate himself or suffer the nomination of Hughes Old Guard leaders submitted to George W. Perkins of the Progressive forces a list of favorite sons and dark horses as possible coalition candidates. Perkins rejected all of them.

ALL CALCULATIONS UPSET.

The sudden flank movement against the Old Guard executed by the redoubtable colonel of Sagamore Hill upset all the calculations of the Republican leaders. Roosevelt's assertion that he stands ready to bolt the nomination of Hughes and lead a third ticket as he did in 1912 was regarded as the most sensational development of the entire preconvention campaign. The Old Guard realized at once that the colonel had replied in no uncertain manner to its ultimatum to get out of the race.

According to reports of the conversation which Mr. Roosevelt had on the long distance telephone with one of the most conspicuous of the Progressive leaders, the colonel expressed characteristic indignation with the tactics of the Old Guard to drive him out of the contest by threatening to nominate Hughes unless Mr. Roosevelt should agree on the selection of one of the minor candidates.

HOLDS HUGHES DISQUALIFIED.

The colonel also is reported to have made it entirely clear that he distinctly disapproves of the nomination of Hughes and that he regards Hughes disqualified not only because he has not disclosed his views on current issues but because he has virtually been a candidate for the office while serving in the Supreme court, a violation of the proprieties, in the opinion of Mr. Roosevelt.

Finally the colonel took the position that Hughes, if nominated and elected, would represent the reactionary element of the party for the reason that he would be under obligations to the Old Guard for the honor of heading the ticket. Mr. Roosevelt asserted the nomination of Hughes by Republicans under such circumstances and the acceptance of him by Progressives would mean a setback in the movement for popular government.

On these grounds the colonel based

SKIES SMILE ON CONVENTION

"Chicago will live up to its reputation as a summer resort," said Prof. Henry J. Cox of the weather bureau yesterday in his forecast for the week. The temperature never will be higher than 80 degrees. Tuesday, however, and possibly Wednesday morning, is to be marred with showers, but after that weather in sight appears to be mostly fair. Bright and fair seems to be the general character of the weather for convention week.

SEEK PEACE NOW, HOLLWEG WARNS

BERLIN, June 5, via Amsterdam to London, June 6.—Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, has again discussed peace in the reichstag.

"Six months ago, on Dec. 9," he said, "discussing our military situation, I spoke here for the first time of our readiness for peace. I could do so in entire confidence that our war situation would continue to improve. Developments have confirmed this confidence. We have made further progress on all fronts. We are stronger than we were before.

"If, with this development before my eyes, I declared that we were ready for peace, I need not regret my statement, even if our offer evoked no response from our enemies.

Based on War Map.

"In the critical times of July, 1914, it was the duty of every responsible statesman before God, his country and his conscience to leave nothing untried that could preserve peace with honor. We also desired the successful repulse of our enemies, to neglect nothing that was calculated to shorten the terrible sufferings experienced by the people of Europe in such a conflagration.

"I told an American journalist how peace negotiations could only reach a settlement if they were conducted by statesmen of the belligerent powers on the basis of the real war situation as shown by the war map. This proposition was rejected by the other side. They will not recognize the war map, as they hope to improve it in their own favor. But it has constantly changed in our favor. We have added to it since that remark was made.

Asserts Verdun Victory.

"The surrender of the British army at Kut-el-Amara, defeats with tremendous losses, of the French at Verdun, the collapse of the Russian offensive in March, the mighty thrust forward of our allies against Italy, the strengthening of our lines before Saloniki, and just now we have received news of the naval battle off Jutland with jubilant and grateful hearts.

"This is how the war map looks now. If our various enemies desire to shut their eyes to it, then we must and shall fight on until final victory.

"We did what we could to pave the way to peace, but our enemies repelled us with scorn."

His "Capital Offense."

The most stirring passage in the speech came when the chancellor replied to a pamphleteer's charge that in the opening days of the war he had believed England would have remained Germany's friend, or at least neutral, and that he wasted three days parleying with England, three days which meant an enormous prolongation of the war because the first blow was not struck promptly enough.

"I knew that my attempts at an understanding with England," he said, "are my capital offense, but it was Germany's position in the period prior to the war. France and Russia were united in an indissoluble alliance. There was a strong anti-German party in Russia and influential and growing section in France which was urging revenge and war. Russia could only be held in check if the hope of English aid was successfully taken from them. They would then have never ventured on war. If I wished to work against war I had to attempt to enter into relationships with England.

Is Loudly Cheered.

"I made this attempt in the face of the development of an English policy which was hostile to Germany and of which I was entirely cognizant. I am not ashamed of my conduct even though it proved abortive."

HAIL, HAIL, THE GANG'S ALL HERE—ALL STATES ARE NOW REPRESENTED

his decision to accept the Progressive nomination for president in the event that the Republicans should name Hughes.

Republican as well as Progressive leaders recognized at once in the colonel's anti-Hughes declaration a fine bit of strategy to force the Republican convention into nominating Roosevelt. The effort of Roosevelt Republicans and Progressives all along has been to eliminate Hughes and put the convention squarely up against the proposition of choosing between Roosevelt and one of the minor candidates.

There is a prevalent opinion in the country that only Hughes or Roosevelt can defeat Wilson. With Hughes out of it, the Republicans would be compelled to take Roosevelt and probable victory or a minor candidate and possible defeat. The Roosevelt men are confident that under such circumstances popular opinion in the party would compel the selection of the colonel.

EXPECT JUSTICE TO WITHDRAW

The Progressives believe that with Roosevelt ready to take the third party nomination against Hughes the jurist soon will withdraw his name from consideration by the Republican convention. Friends of the justice have admitted for some time he would not accept the nomination unless it were tendered to him backed by the overwhelming approval of the Republicans and by the assurance of an indorsement by the Progressives.

It has been taken for granted by all the politicians that Mr. Hughes would not leave his life berth in the Supreme court and become the Republican candidate under circumstances that indicated his probable defeat in the election.

How Far Will He Go?

Whether Col. Roosevelt will persist in his opposition to Justice Hughes when he has had an opportunity to study the jurist's utterances on Americanism and preparedness is a question upon which there was much speculation last night along candidates' row.

The fact that Justice Hughes had made a statement of this character following closely upon the Progressive leaders' ultimatum to satisfy them of his position did not become known here until after Roosevelt had telephoned his opposition to the justice and his intention to bolt his nomination. It is assumed that Col. Roosevelt himself did not know of the jurist's utterance at the time he flashed his counter ultimatum back to the Old Guard.

Hughes' Views Please Friends.

Friends of Justice Hughes were delighted with the jurist's pronouncement and said they could not understand how the Progressives possibly could regard it as unsatisfactory. They averred that, although cast in generalities, it set forth fully the conviction of the justice that hyphenism must be banished from American life and that the nation must be prepared amply to defend itself and its interests. They expressed the hope that the utterance would prove acceptable to Col. Roosevelt and cause him to renounce his declared purpose of heading a third ticket, should Mr. Hughes be nominated.

If the attitude of the Progressive leaders here, however, is any criterion, Mr. Roosevelt will not be satisfied with Justice Hughes' attitude. Progressives here not only were dissatisfied with the jurist's statement, but some declared before they read it that any exposition of Hughes' views on current issues at this eleventh hour could not be satisfactory. The word soon passed through the hotel corridors that although Justice Hughes had spoken out as the Progressives had challenged him to do, they did not intend to be satisfied with anything he might say, however favorable to their attitude.

Interesting—Good Night.

"Well, what do you think of it, Perkins," came a voice from the corridor as the Progressive leader started to close his door.

"Doesn't worry me a bit," he laughed. "I'm going to bed and get a good sleep."

E. A. Van Valkenburg read the statement and said:

"Well, he's talked, hasn't he? And he hasn't been a candidate, has he?"

"Sounds just like Wilson," commented Hiram Johnson.

Harold Le Clair Ickes, Progressive national committeeman, and O. K. Davis, secretary of the Progressive national committee, said they would reserve comment until they could read the text of the entire Hughes speech.

Old Guard Keeps Active.

The effort of the Old Guard to eliminate T. R. and induce the colonel to enter into an agreement on the nomination of a minor candidate materialized during the evening. Senators Smoot and Oliver, National Chairman Hilles, and Congressman W. B. McKinley sought and obtained a conference with Perkins, Johnson, and Van Valkenburg.

Smoot opened the conference with a thirty minute speech, in which he said that it is quite clear Roosevelt is eliminated and that Hughes could be by mutual agreement. The Progressives heard him to the end and then started in to cross examine the emissaries of the Old Guard. Smoot was not able to satisfy the cross examiners. Senator Oliver seeing how things were going with his friend, Smoot, suddenly remembered an appointment and departed.

Want to Know Influence.

Then the Progressives demanded of the three gentlemen who remained a statement showing just how much influence they actually had in the Republican convention, how many votes they controlled, and what candidates they could put over, if the Progressives agreed to their proposition.

The four Old Guardsmen had gone into the conference with a list of compromise candidates made up of Root, Weeks, Burton, Harding, McCall, and Fairbanks. But they never presented it. The questions of Perkins, Johnson, Van Valkenburg, and the others present elicited from them the admission that they didn't control anything in the convention and that they were merely offering suggestions with no ability to put them into effect.

"Can't see as there is any use in our discussing this elimination any further," Perkins is reported to have told them, and out the Old Guardsmen filed.

Lodge and Perkins Confer.

Earlier in the day Senator Lodge had a conference with Perkins. Soon afterwards it was reported that Senator Lodge will be for the nomination of Col. Roosevelt as soon as he is released from his pledge to support Senator Weeks. Over the telephone Senator Lodge answered the report as follows:

"I have not said to any one that I would support any one other than Senator Weeks. I am going to nominate him and support him. Other than voting for Senator Weeks my mind is open. I wish to deny that I have said to any one that I would vote for any one other than Senator Weeks."

Penrose Aid Sought.

Still another attempt was made by the Old Guard to reach an agreement with the Rooseveltians on the nomination of a minor candidate. Penrose and former Senator Hemenway of Indiana met a committee of Progressives headed by Van Valkenburgh at a private house and talked the situation over. It was admitted by the participants afterward that no progress toward an agreement had been reached.

Despite the flank movement executed by Roosevelt to drive Hughes out of the race, the supporters of the jurist were not discouraged and predicted his nomination and his acceptance by the Progressives.

"Chances All for Hughes."

"As the situation stands tonight," said one Republican leader at midnight, "Hughes is the most formidable candidate. I do not think he is gaining in strength, but there is no doubt that close to a majority of the delegates are ready to vote for him. He is the easiest man to nominate and the chances are now all in his favor."

Gov. Whitman, following a roundup of Hughes delegates from all parts of the country, expressed the opinion that the justice will be nominated not later than the third ballot. Former Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock, who is coöperating with Gov. Whitman, asserted that the drive directed against Hughes by the Roosevelt faction and the favorite son candidates has resulted in complete failure. He conceded to the favorite sons a combined vote of 345, and then observed:

"It takes 493 votes to nominate. Hughes will have more votes on the first ballot than the combined strength of the favorite son candidates, and his nomination on an early ballot is inevitable."

Sure Colonel Will Win.

Former Secretary of the Navy George von Lengerke Meyer, generalissimo of the Roosevelt forces, refused to concede that the colonel is out of the reckoning. He was in telephonic communication with Sagamore Hill several times during the day and insisted that Mr. Roosevelt has not yielded to the pleas of the "old guard" to eliminate himself and expressed the confidence that the convention eventually will turn to the colonel as the only candidate certain to defeat President Wilson.

FORM HUGHES COMMITTEE OF REPUBLICAN DELEGATES

A Hughes committee composed of perhaps a hundred delegates from a score of states, both instructed and uninstructed, was created here yesterday, marking the first step toward a national organization of the forces which want to nominate the justice.

The purpose of the committee is to pledge every possible delegate to Justice Hughes before the convention meets and to stir enthusiasm for him by the use of bands, banners, badges, and buttons. The next meeting will be this afternoon, when, it is predicted, a score of additional states will be represented.

Every mention of the justice's name brought prolonged applause at yesterday's meeting, and when Gov. Whitman, Frank H. Hitchcock and Col. William Hayward predicted that he not only would be nominated, but elected, the delegates shouted approval.

"I wish from my heart," the governor said, "that all the states represented in this convention had done as Oregon in sending a full delegation here instructed for Justice Hughes. I only wish that the New York delegation was as united for Justice Hughes as is Oregon's. The sentiment in New York is overwhelmingly for Justice Hughes.

"As one who desires to see the party unite on the best man, it is my opinion that Charles E. Hughes not only will be nominated, but also will be elected the next president of the United States."

"The convention will not go beyond the second ballot and, possibly, not the first," Col. Hayword declared. "The nomination of Hughes is inevitable."

Republican and Moose staged a revival of the spirit of the 1912 convention yesterday when C. A. Barron and W. H. Unger of Shamokin, Pa., met in front of the Congress hotel. Mr. Barron is a delegate to the Republican convention and Mr. Unger to the Progressive. The delegates are of about equal weight. Bitter charges and counter charges brought cheers from a crowd which blocked traffic along the sidewalk. The combatants were halted by a polite but firm police officer. Spectators called the round a draw.

VISITORS POUR INTO CITY FROM ALL DIRECTIONS

Delegates and visitors to the Republican convention continued to pour into Chicago yesterday in a constant stream, in special trains and cars, in small groups, and in some instances "by their lonesome," the men who are to select the party's standard bearer arrived and helped to swell the ranks of the delegates already here.

One of the noticeable facts of the gathering has been the lack of musical features, relieved by the appearance of the Marion club band from Indianapolis and the Columbus Glee club, attached to the Ohio state headquarters, that came in Sunday night and has since been singing the praises of Senator Burton.

Alabama—Alabama vote is scattered, but Sherman has one vote. P. D. Barker, present national committeeman, is for the Illinois senator.

Arizona—Hughes has five of the six Arizona votes on the first ballot and all six afterwards. This was the announcement of State Chairman Edward Kent of Phœnix. One of the delegates is for Roosevelt on the first ballot.

Arkansas—Four of the delegates from Arkansas will vote as a unit in the Republican convention. They are the delegates at large and have been so instructed. The eleven district delegates will vote independently.

G. L. Mallory, secretary of the state committee, is authority for the statement that Roosevelt is the only man to whom there is genuine opposition within the delegation.

California—The party, which arrived more than 100 strong at the union station in the morning, after traveling since Friday, came in with delegates uninstructed. Two women delegates, Mrs. Olive C. Cole of Los Angeles and Mrs. Albie E. Krebs of San Francisco, are among the tweny-six "regular" delegates who were elected over the "United Republican" ticket indorsed by Gov. Hiram Johnson. Roosevelt "hasn't a chance" with the California delegation, as one delegate pointed out that the defeated candidates for delegate in the state were the ones interested in the former president.

Delaware—T. Coleman Du Pont, candidate for the presidential nomination, led the Delaware delegation into Chicago. Delegates were noncommital as to how they stood.

Florida—Eight delegates are believed to be for Hughes. Caucus is scheduled for tonight. Henry S. Chubb, national committeeman, has no opposition for reëlection.

Georgia—The delegates would pause only long enough in their hurry to see the city to say that they will hold their caucus today, that Henry J. Jackson will be reëlected national committeeman, and that the entire seventeen delegates were uninstructed, but would not vote for Roosevelt.

Georgia—Roscoe Pickett, chairman of the state central committee, said the Georgia delegation is divided, twelve for Roosevelt and five for Hughes. Of this delegation twelve are Negroes.

Idaho—Senator William E. Borah came into town from Washington and dropped into the Idaho headquarters. The eight delegates from his state are pledged to him.

Indiana—One hundred members of the Marion club, the big Republican organization of Indianapolis, accompanied by a band, arrived on a special train, proudly displaying the banner of Charles W. Fairbanks, Indiana's candidate for the presidential nomination.

From the Park Row station the club members, bedecked with Fairbanks badges and carrying over two dozen large American flags, marched down Michigan avenue to the Congress hotel, where the Fairbanks headquarters are located, through the hotel corridors, with the band blaring forth patriotic airs, out into Congress street, and through downtown streets to the Great Northern hotel, where a majority of them are stopping. They will remain all of the week, or "until Fairbanks is nominated," as one of them expressed it.

Iowa—Iowa delegates to the Republican convention, who are solid for Senator Cummins, made a move to keep intact the eighty odd votes which are now claimed for him. The "steering committee," composed of C. A. Rawson, chairman of the Republican state committee; J. Reed Lane and George C. Call, all delegates, appointed subcommittees among the other twenty-three delegates to keep in constant touch with the members of the Minnesota, Montana, South Dakota and Nebraska delegations. Later in the evening it was said they had made good progress.

Maryland—All sixteen delegates are here. They are uninstructed and will caucus today. Reëlection of William B. Jackson, former senator, as national committeeman, is expected.

Massachusetts—Although the delegation arrived at the Park Row station at 1 o'clock, an hour ahead of the schedule, local residents who hail from the New England states were on hand with a band and greeters' committee, which escorted them to the Congress hotel. Some of the greeters went to Michigan City, Ind., where they met thirty-two Bay State representatives. Other Massachusetts delegates arrived on an earlier train.

Michigan—The Michigan delegation got a big hand when it marched into the Congress hotel and took possession of the spacious Francis I. room. The Michiganders also soon attracted unusual attention for a state delegation when it became known that in their party was a man who attended the wigwam convention in 1860 and voted for Abraham Lincoln. He is Addison G. Proctor of St. Joseph. He has been invited by the national committee to sit on the platform as a special guest of the national convention throughout the deliberations. The delegation has decided that Henry Ford's name will not be presented to the convention formally, but only in announcing the vote.

Minnesota—Minnesota's twenty-four delegates arrived "solid for Cummins." This was because of the presidential primary in March, when the senator was victorious in that state. Former Gov. Samuel R. Van Sant of Minneapolis is chairman of the delegation. "We're for Cummins," he said. "That's all we have to say."

Mississippi—A test vote taken in the caucus resulted in a scattering vote. The result was not announced. The twelve delegates are uninstructed.

Montana—The Montana delegation will be complete today. The eight delegates are instructed for Cummins.

New Jersey—Justice Hughes has all but two of the twenty-eight New Jersey votes. Col. Roosevelt is conceded the odd pair. Former Gov. Franklin Murphy of Newark, who is slated for reëlection as national committeeman, headed the delegation of twenty-eight members.

New Hampshire—T. R and the New York sphinx can go whistle for the New Hampshire votes, for they are going to lavish all eight of them on their native son, Weeks. F. W. Esterbrook was reëlected national committeeman.

New York—The second section of the New York delegation, consisting of 120 persons, reached Chicago. The delegates are scheduled to caucus tonight. The mayor's committee used forty-five automobiles in caring for the delegation.

North Carolina—Twenty-one delegates from North Carolina are in the city. They are uninstructed. Roosevelt is said to be the favorite.

North Dakota—The North Dakota quota, now almost complete, has been instructed for La Follette. It is the only state which is solid for the Wisconsin senator.

Ohio—Senator Warren G. Harding, who is to be temporary chairman of the convention, was met at the station by his secretary, George Christian of Marion, and a delegation of Buckeye men, who escorted him to the Congress. He said the Ohio delegates are for Burton first, last, and all the time, although some, of course, have their particular favorites.

Oregon—The delegates predict the nomination of Justice Hughes. The entire batch of ten are instructed for the justice. W. H. Brooks of Ontario said that they have been in touch with the Hughes manager and that their seems to be a steady trend in favor of the jurist from all directions.

Pennsylvania—Braumbaugh and Penrose wings of the party came during the day. Members of the Brumbaugh wing are pledged to the governor, but their second choice is said to be Roosevelt. Pittsburg members of the Penrose wing wore Knox buttons.

South Dakota—South Dakota will go solid for Cummins, handing out ten votes for the Iowa senator, says Gov. Burns of that state. W. C. Cook of Sioux Falls is national committeeman.

Tennessee—Hughes will get ten of the twenty-one Tennessee votes, it was predicted by H. O. True of Memphis, member of the Republican state committee, who was greeting the straggling delegates at headquarters. The delegates from Tennessee have been slow in arriving, but a full quota is expected today.

Vermont—Vermont's delegation, instructed for Hughes, is on hand. Theodore N. Vail of Lyndon, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, chairman of the delegation, arrived with them. Their headquarters are at the Hotel Sherman.

Washington—Fourteen Washington delegates, uninstructed, arrived and held their caucus. S. A. Perkins of Tacoma was reëlected national committeeman. No announcement was made as to the candidate favored.

Wyoming—"We will nominate the next Republican candidate as we are the last to vote," said Patrick Sullivan, delegate at large of the Wyoming delegation. They are said to be for Hughes.

PERKINS WARNS G.O.P. 'BIG GUNS' OF 'DYNAMITE'

Fears He Cannot Hold Moose in Leash and Delay Naming of T. R.

BY CHARLES N. WHEELER.

George W. Perkins last night began the real work of trying to induce, cajole, or scare Republican chieftains into accepting Theodore Roosevelt for president.

The "help" and curbstone aids were brushed aside. He went after the big guns. With all the influence of the large business units behind him and the possibility of a third ticket dangling before him, Mr. Perkins demanded that they come across.

CORTELYOU ON THE WAY.

While Mr. Perkins was hammering away at the Old Guardsmen last night advices reached him from Oyster Bay that George B. Cortelyou, former secretary of the treasury, had left Col. Roosevelt a few hours before and was taking the train for Chicago to join the Perkins forces.

Cortelyou, it was understood, is being rushed here to offset the work former Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock is doing for Justice Hughes. Both Cortelyou and Hitchcock have an intimate acquaintance with the Republican delegates from the south, and Cortelyou, speaking for Roosevelt, will be relied on to checkmate Hitchcock in the effort to stem the Hughes tide.

PERKINS CALLS LEADERS.

The fourth floor of the Blackstone hotel was the most important political spot in Chicago for several hours. Perkins, who had been pleading with the old steam roller engineers all day at other hotels, began sending for some of them to meet him at his rooms.

Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, who will place Senator Weeks in nomination in the Coliseum and who is slated for chairman of the platform committee, was the first one of the "important" chiefs to respond.

Mr. Perkins, a moment later, dashed out of another room and slid into the place where Lodge was guarded from prying eyes and listening ears. Satisfied that the Massachusetts senator intended to remain a while, Perkins dashed out again and ran into a flying wedge of newspaper men.

WIRES HOT TO OYSTER BAY.

He could wait but a moment, reiterating his statement of the morning, and was off to answer private telephone calls, arrange for other conferences, and keep the wires hot between the inner room and Oyster Bay.

Mr. Perkins held a long conference with Chairman Hilles of the Republican committee and Charles D. Warren, committeeman from Michigan. They asked him to hold off the nomination of Roosevelt by the Moose convention until after Thursday. He told them that while he didn't think the Moose would nominate "right off the bat," he could not promise what would happen the second day.

A part of the stuff handed out during the day for press consumption was bluff. The threat of a third ticket, however, was taken out of that class when the rank and file—the folks back from the tall grass, the mountain cañons, and the alfalfa fields—began to tear down the row. From all the western states they came, and with a heavily loaded gun concealed beneath the olive branch they dangled nervously along Michigan boulevard.

WESTERN MEN RALLY FOR T.R.

Victor Murdock, chairman of the Progressive national committee, and former Senator Joseph Dixon of Montana, now a Republican delegate, were among those who were ready to do all they could to nominate Roosevelt in the Progressive convention.

In the face of all the friendly talk indulged in as to the Republicans and the repeated declarations that the Progressive convention would be held in leash to see if the Republicans would take T. R., Mr. Murdock made this flat statement:

"Theodore Roosevelt will be nominated in the Progressive convention. You can quote me as saying so."

Meanwhile Mr. Perkins continued his work of "playing fair" with Republican chiefs. He frankly laid his cards on the table and told them it is their duty to name Roosevelt to make sure that there will be no third ticket in the field. He told them he is not in favor of a third ticket if it possibly can be avoided and that he will do all in his power to avoid such a catastrophe.

FEARS BIT IN THE TEETH.

At the same time he warned them that the Progressive convention might take the bit in its own teeth, sweep the so-called leaders aside, nominate T. R. in a hysteria of enthusiasm, and go home. Then, he told them, it will be too late to repair the damage.

He outlined these views also to Gov. Johnson of California, James A. Garfield of Ohio, William Flinn of Pittsburgh, Joseph Dixon, Brainbridge Colby, and others who dropped in last night along with the Old Guardsmen spokesmen.

They agreed with him that there is a big charge of dynamite in the situation and that it may or may not be touched off. If it does explode, they all agreed, no power on earth can stop the wild stampede that will sweep the Progressive convention and culminate in the nomination of Roosevelt and the launching of a third ticket movement that no action of the Republicans, other than the nomination of Roosevelt, can stop.

However, they all agreed, at Mr. Perkins' suggestion, that they will play the string out with the Republicans and play it fairly and aboveboard.

They decided, both at the meeting of the national committee earlier in the day and at a late night conference formally to send an address to the Republican convention leaders, explaining just where they stand, just why they want Roosevelt, and plainly inviting them to respond to the proposition.

At the national committee meeting it was decided to ask the Moose convention to withhold its nomination until Friday at least to give Republicans an opportunity to decide what they want to do. The Moose forces then named the following steering committee to carry on the official parley with the Republicans:

George W. Perkins, chairman.
E. H. Hooker, New York.
Walter F. Brown, Ohio.
William Flinn, Pennsylvania.
Herbert Knox Smith, Connecticut.
Oscar King Davis, New York.
Meyer Lissner, California.
Gov. Johnson, California.
Horace S. Wilkinson, New York.
William Hamlin Childs, Brooklyn.

Murdock Pleads for Roosevelt.

At the meeting of the national committee Chairman Murdock extolled Roosevelt as the one man to meet the crisis of the country at this time. He also declared that the Chicago conventions this week will determine the history of the human race for the next thousand years.

"Personally I will stand for no negative character as a candidate," he said. "I want Roosevelt. His nomination would be a signal to the world that America means business. It would put an instant stop to the fatal and humiliating policy of wait, watch, wabble, and withdraw in Mexico."

ARMOUR TELLS WHY HE'S FOR T. R.

J. Ogden Armour, the Chicago packer, yesterday gave his reasons for supporting Col. Roosevelt for the Republican nomination:

I am for Theodore Roosevelt because there is no mistaking his position on Americanism, preparedness, and the other vital issues of the day. We know where he stands. Can as much be said for any other candidate now before us?

I think if he is nominated that America will go through a period of prosperity that will last long after the war in Europe is over, and this, in my opinion, is a very important factor for the American people to consider.

Theodore Roosevelt has had wider experience than any other man in the country. He has held the office and knows the situation, both here and abroad, better than any other living man. He knows personally all the European powers and they know him, and I believe that at this particular time this is a most important element in the situation; and I further believe that Roosevelt would gather more votes than any other candidate who could be put before the American people.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

This is entirely confidential. It might upset things badly if it got out before the proper time. At any rate suspicious people would be sure to throw doubt on the good faith and sincerity of a young man who is simply trying in his own artless way to make things agreeable for visitors to our fair city.

One recalls dimly that shortly after "Big Bill" Thompson was swept into the city hall on a tidal wave of votes the rising young statesman was the orator at several banquets in various parts of the country, being once or twice mentioned by flattering toastmasters as a possible candidate for president of the United States. Then something happened to nip the bud of presidential ambition, and of recent months it has bloomed—if at all—unseen and unsuspected.

Anxiety of Mayor.

Now comes the Republican national convention to Chicago. What more natural than that a Republican mayor should be anxious to extend every courtesy to the statesmen of his own party when they assemble to conduct their arduous and important deliberations in his own city? What more natural than that the friends of the mayor—moved entirely by the same desire to be courteous to guests of the city—should organize a committee for that purpose and raise among themselves funds to cover the necessary expenses?

Is there anything wrong about that? Certainly not. Particularly not when the thing is organized in the most modest and discreet way possible, simply as "the mayor's entertainment committee," with no mention at all of the potent name of Enormous William.

Fifty or More City Autos.

If there are fifty or more automobiles belonging to the city, which would not be working on the Sabbath anyway, is there any harm in using them to meet incoming delegates at their trains, thus saving them the humiliation of riding on street cars to their hotels? And if several hundred other automobiles are offered by their owners for the use of the committee, the object being to show delegates the admirable and world famous parks, boulevards, and playgrounds of our metropolis—of the last of which, by the way, may I point out, Mayor Thompson was the originator—is there any one who has either the right or the inclination to criticize?

The Wistful Portrait.

Behold then at one end of the parlor floor of the Congress hotel, decently remote, yet not too far from the seething headquarters of the presidential candidates, a neat but not guady suite of rooms, in the decoration of which the committee has followed the quiet, simple, and modest plans which have so far marked its whole course.

There are placards announcing that here are located the headquarters of the mayor's entertainment committee. Immediately above them stands a chaste oil painting about twelve feet in height. Covering almost the whole of the canvas is an unnamed potrait of a burly, broad shouldered young man wearing a cowboy hat and looking somewhat wistfully into the immediate future.

There is no clew to the identity of the original, nothing to lead one to more than suspect that it may possibly be the counterfeit presentment of Enormous William.

At the desk just inside the outer door to the suite sits a young man.

"There are just thirty-five of us in the mayor's entertainment committee," he said. "At least, thirty-five of us financed it among ourselves. We have a lot more helping us now."

"And how do you entertain the visiting delegates?"

"We meet them at the railroad stations and drive them to their hotels. We are also taking them on automobile rides through the parks and to see other points of interest. We give them theater parties and, occasionally, a little dinner."

"You have plenty of automobiles?"

"O, yes. More than we can use. We have 800 machines offered for our use."

Just then a party of men came in. Among them were two fat, preternaturally solemn darkies in long black coats and carrying heavy canes. The young man turned to bid them welcome.

"Is there anything we can do for you gentlemen?" he asked, extending a welcoming hand. "If there is anything at all we can do for you please let us know."

It is a coincidence, doubtless, that a friend of Mayor Thompson, who should be in a position to know, said during the afternoon he was informed that two of the Negro delegates to the convention would vote for William Hale Thompson for president on the first ballot.

"Troubles Enough."

Evidently the mayor himself had not heard of it, for when the question was put plump at him as he was passing down the corridor to the committee headquarters, he waved his hand hurriedly and said:

It is on such slight evidence that certain political enemies of Large William are spinning an amazing yarn of what is likely to happen if and when the convention gets into a stubborn deadlock and finds itself unable, unassisted, to make a nomination.

One has heard that on the day when Abraham Lincoln was nominated for president in the old Wigwam on the lake front in Chicago in 1860, thousands of members of Lincoln Wide Awake clubs stood about the building and cheered the Railsplitter until the delegates inside heard and trembled in their seats. Why should not history repeat itself?

How to Stampede.

Suppose that, the present convention being tied up in a deadlock, say on Thursday or Friday, the generalissimo of the Thompson organization should quickly telephone to ten of his corps commanders? Suppose that each of them should drop nickels in the slot and each communicate with ten brigadier generals? Suppose the process should continue until 5,000 or 10,000 men should start in a body for the Coliseum, surround that devoted structure and shake its walls with their demands for "Big Bill?"

Nor do the imaginations of the mayor's political enemies stop there. Who, they ask, will guard the doors of the convention hall against entry by the surging populace? Who but the police force of Chicago? And what would the police do, if ordered by their superior and supreme officer to make way for Liberty? What would be the result if even 5,000 stalwart men went clamoring down the convention aisles announcing with a single voice, "We want Big Bill?"

But, after all, the convention probably will not get into a deadlock. In which case it will never be possible to prove just what big liars the enemies of Mayor Thompson are.

TEXAS REGULARS, ENEMIES OF LYON, SEATED BY G. O. P.

All District of Columbia Thrown Out—Louisianians Given Half Vote Each.

The "Regulars" in Texas—the old time foes of Col. Cecil Lyon, who was Col. Roosevelt's close personal and political friend—swept the platter yesterday when the state's contests were decided by the Republican national committee.

The national committee completed the temporary roll of the convention to the satisfaction of everybody, apparently, except the defeated contestants, and adjourned until tomorrow morning.

When the committee quit it was agreed the contests had been disposed of strictly upon the merits of the individual cases and after painstaking and judicial investigation of the issues involved.

Summarized, the final day's business was as follows:

The "Regular" or McGregor delegation in Texas was seated in its entirety. The opposition delegation at large withdrew its contest without a hearing in the interest of party harmony.

The national committee threw out all three of the contesting delegations from the District of Columbia because of "palpable fraud" in the record of each of them.

The Louisiana contest was disposed of by seating both the Lily White and the Black and Tan delegations with one-half vote each, and with the agreement that Armand Romaine of the Lily Whites be elected national committeeman and with the solemn warning from the national committee that Louisiana must behave in the future.

The national committee reversed its earlier action and seated with one-half vote each: Eight delegates at large from Kentucky; delegates from thirteen Texas districts; delegates from two Virginia districts, and eight delegates at large from Tennessee.

F. J. Allen of the Henry S. Jackson faction was seated as the delegate in the Fifth Georgia district. The committee declined to reopen the First Georgia district case and also denied a rehearing in the Sixth Oklahoma case.

As now constituted, omitting the District of Columbia, the national convention will consist of 989 delegates by virtue of the two votes each permitted by the national committee to Hawaii, Porto Rico, and the Philippine islands.

FRED W. UPHAM DEALS OUT TICKETS FOR CONVENTION.

Those Who Favored $100,000 Subscription Fare Luckiest in Distribution of 2,210 Pasteboards.

On the top floor of the Consumers building yesterday Fred W. Upham shuffled and dealt a large percentage of 2,210 pasteboards worth approximately $500,000, for the Republican convention at the Coliseum. Mr. Upham is chairman of the committee which raised the $100,000 to bring the conclave to Chicago and those who favored the subscription most lavishly are the ones who fared luckiest in the distribution.

Already offers of more than $200 have been made for a ticket, but this is one case in which money falls before political preferment and scalpers are on the outside looking in. Before the convention ends it is likely a ticket would bring as high as $500 should a holder care to part with it.

Hundreds of applications were turned down, Mr. Upham promising the favored few that the most they could hope for would be that some one for whom a ticket had been reserved would be taken ill and fail to call by tomorrow morning.

MOOSE DODGE G. O. P. TREATY ON PLATFORM

Fear Shelving of Roosevelt if the Planks Are Agreed On First.

BY ELISHA HANSON.

Negotiations between the Republicans and the Progressives over their respective platforms came to a sudden halt yesterday, following the arrival of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, who is to be chairman of the Republican resolutions committee.

Both Republicans and Progressives, who are to serve on the platform committees of the two conventions, expressed the view that in all fundamental matters the parties are in harmony now. Efforts to get them together failed, however, because the Progressives reached the conclusion the Old Guard in the Republican ranks wanted to bring about an agreement on platforms and then use it as another weapon against Col. Roosevelt.

Want O. K. on 1912 Planks.

In order to prevent such a situation the Progressives announced informally that while they still cling to all their doctrines of 1912 they believe the new issues, created by the European war should be given all the space in their platform, and that a one sentence reiteration of faith in the 1912 series of pledges will suffice the country at this time.

The Republican leaders don't like this at all. While they are all willing to concede practically everything to the Progressives with respect to the doctrines of 1912, which they called revolutionary at that time, they want to do so in some manner other than pledging themselves in only one sentence to carry out the promises of the Progressives four years ago.

The Progressive platform has been tentatively agreed upon by a committee appointed by the Progressive national committee. This committee, headed by William Draper Lewis of the University of Pennsylvania, will offer it to the resolutions committee after the Progressive organization is completed.

One Plank—Preparedness.

There is but one plank in the Progressive platform. It is preparedness.

In this plank the Progressives express their belief that what the American people want is a preparedness to meet not only a military but also an industrial invasion, as well as domestic difficulties in trade and commerce.

"Preparedness sums up everything," said Dean Lewis.

Gifford Pinchot, one of the front rank Progressives, in discussing the platform of his party, asserted that it should be brief and to the point.

"The briefer it is the better it will be," said Pinchot.

Mexico, Americanism, and foreign affairs will all be included in the Progressive declaration on preparedness, but all will be used incidentally to point out the need of preparedness.

Saw Early Settlement.

Before the arrival of Senator Lodge the Republican Old Guard believed it would be possible to settle the platform question quickly. Murray Crane had submitted a draft to Perkins, with a request that it be given to Col. Roosevelt for suggestions. Nicholas Murray Butler arrived in Chicago with a draft of his own preparation, which made concessions to the Progressives of such a nature that even they were amazed.

Senator Borah of Idaho, not an Old Guardster by any means, also reached Chicago, and he had his ideas on the platform clearly in mind when he came. Borah, Crane, Lodge, and all of the other Republicans were for a clear statement on the five great issues—preparedness, peace, Americanism, Mexico and the tariff. They were also willing to concede practically everything in the 1912 Progressive platform, except the "recall of judges" proposal. They thought that the Progressives would receive them with open arms.

It was practically determined at night that there will be no mention of Mexican intervention in the Mexican plank. Rather the Republicans will assert their intention to protect the lives and property of Americans in Mexico and their purpose not to interfere in the purely domestic affairs of Mexico.

Madden Meets Committee.

Congressman Madden of Chicago, who will represent Illinois on the resolutions committee, will meet with the other members of the committee today.

Mr. Madden will insist upon the insertion of three planks in the platform. One is for the creation of a waterway and flood control commission in order to kill the congressional pork barrel. Another is for a straight from the shoulder plank promising to eliminate child labor from all factories doing business in interstate commerce and to regulate the hours of labor of women employed in interstate commerce industries. The third is for a declaration in favor of the enactment of a comprehensive inheritance tax law which will serve to prevent the concentration of great fortunes against the public interest.

LODGE IN FAVOR OF BIG NAVY PLANK BY THE REPUBLICANS

Massachusetts Senator Pledges Support of Proposal to Make U. S. Second Sea Power.

Assurances that the Republican party will indorse the Navy league's plan to restore the United States to second place in the world's navies were made to officers of the Navy league and to other leading men of the country by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts at a conference last night at the Chicago club.

Here is the resolution presented to Senator Lodge and which he promised to use his influence to have indorsed by the committee on resolutions:

"The Republican party, recognizing the constitutional duty of protecting each state from invasion and realizing that the peace, security, and honor of the country depend absolutely upon an adequate navy, pledges itself to the immediate restoration of the United States to the place of at least second sea power of the world and its continued maintenance therein. It pledges itself to provide a general staff of the navy and a council of national defense."

The same resolution will be presented to the Progressive party at the Auditorium hotel today and later submitted to the Democrats' meeting in St. Louis.

Col. Thompson, Mr. Breck'nridge, and Admirals Wainwright and Osterhaus were found last night in a suite at the Lakota hotel. Neither admiral would talk for publication, as their lips are closed by Secretary Daniels' orders.

FOUR RINGS FULL AND SIDESHOWS 'WHOOPING IT UP'

Great National Conventions Bring Crude Men and Stylish Women from Far States.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

The only greatest political show on earth is almost ready to open its doors. There will be no less than four national conventions operating at one and the same time in as many different rings. Two rival masculine conventions will divide public attention with two rival feminine conventions—to say nothing of several little boy and little girl conventions which will occupy small tents along the way as one approaches the big tops.

Every train entering Chicago on each of twenty-seven different railroads is unloading the exhibits. There are principal performers, man eating bosses, beautiful young ladies, wild black men captured at vast expense in the jungles of Mississippi and Alabama, many ferocious eastern millionaires, innumerable presidential candidates, a whole horde of canvasmen, and any number of other unparalleled attractions.

Center of Attraction.

Until the ticket wagons at the big tents—the Blackstone and Princess theaters, the Auditorium and the Coliseum open their windows the center of attraction is the long stretch of Michigan avenue from Washington street to Congress. With the rival organizations of ladies getting ready to hold their meetings in the first two theaters—meanwhile glaring mingled harmony and defiance at each other from their respective headquarters—the men, farther down the avenue, are indulging in preconvention agonies more poignant and prolonged than usual.

Yesterday the wide sidewalks of the avenue were thronged. Men in top hats, afternoon coats, white spats, and wide ribboned eyeglasses mingled with roughly dressed delegates who proclaimed themselves from Kansas by the huge sunflowers they wore in their coats. Young women in gay summer gowns, cut high enough to reveal a glimpse of silken ankles, promenaded behind huge Negroes of portentous solemnity, who stopped now and then to shake hands with white political managers whose cordiality seemed a trifle forced.

The Canvas Sign.

Out of the Auditorium hotel—Progressive headquarters—now and then emerged a stalwart westerner who held aloft a big canvas sign. In the center of it was painted an appealing picture of a humble log cabin.

Inside the hotel the Progressive delegates and visitors were milling about the lobby. Oscar S. Straus of New York, once member of Roosevelt's camp, came down the wide center stairway to the office floor. The little short, dapper man with his scanty gray beard was stopped by an enormous and very black Negro who leaned far over with a smile which revealed a mouthful of gold teeth. He whispered behind his hand. Mr. Straus shook his head impatiently and started to go on. But the Negro persisted. Again, behind the screen of a huge black hand he whispered his request. Mr. Straus waved his hand towards the upper floor and fled.

Gifford Pinchot.

In the center of a little circle stood Gifford Pinchot, in an unpressed suit of tweed, his hands in his trousers pockets. Every few minutes he was greeted with warmth by old time political allies from various states. A matronly, gray haired woman, handsomely dressed, with a gay colored sash about her shoulders, passed among the crowd distributing invitations to an afternoon reception of the new National Woman's party and to the mass meeting last night. A young girl, also with a sash, sold copies of the Suffragist to all whom she could persuade to buy.

Half a dozen tall, well dressed, and somewhat austere looking men—apparently from Boston—who were talking together in well modulated tones, were suddenly interrupted by a rough looking young man, his coat covered with Roosevelt badges, who demanded to know where they were from and who they were for. They moved over unanimously and attempted to turn their icy Bostonian backs on the intruder. But he horned into the midst of them.

"Show your colors!" he demanded. He seized the thinnest and most dignified of the party by the lapel of his coat. "Who are you for?" Terribly upset, Boston beat it down the avenue.

Most of the parlor floor is given up to the Progressive headquarters, with glad handers at the wide entrance doors to greet each comer. In an inner suite of offices sit George W. Perkins, Horace Wilkinson, and the other men who are directing the Progressive end of the Roosevelt campaign.

To add to the many present troubles of Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania the parlor floor of the Auditorium also contains the presidential headquarters of Martin G. Brumbaugh, who is announced as "Pennsylvania's Progressive governor" and whose managers claim that they control at least half of the Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican convention.

Real Show at Congress.

But the real show is under way at the Congress hotel, across the street. Here the lobby is a constantly changing maelstrom, pouring its overflow down Peacock alley, while the upper floors are full of the headquarters of favorite sons and other presidential aspirants.

At the main entrance stand men who present every one who enters with a Root button, a Weeks badge, a Sherman streamer, or some other decoration. At various points about the lobby preconvention orators and debaters are busy. Two old men, one in Grand Army uniform, stand in the center of an eagerly pressing circle of 200 men. They are waving their shaking forefingers in each other's faces.

The other advances a threatening finger close to the other's nose. "I accuse him, suh, of sins of omission."

"Of what, suh?"

"Of sins of ommission, suh," roars the other, in a voice of fury.

Here, buttonholing delegates, is Leslie M. Shaw, once governor of Iowa and secretary of the treasury, now, himself, an active, if a more or less one-man candidate for the presidential nomination.

Down at the end of Peacock alley opens a huge room, which is, at present, scantily occupied. On the walls and in the lobby outside hang many artistic portraits of an elderly gentleman with a gray mustache. They are done on gray paper in white and gray chalk. The legend calls the delegate to the support of Theodore E. Burton, Ohio's candidate for president.

"How appropriate," says a Roosevelt boomer. "A pale gray portrait of a pale gray candidate. Why, the warmest thing Burton ever had anything to do with was the river and harbor bill."

But there are placards up announcing a "get together meeting" of Ohio people, with music by glee clubs from Columbus and other buckeye metropolises. And when Ohio people get together things are likely to happen in politics.

Root in Ex-Candy Shop.

Across the alley the Root people have rented an ex-candy store with an opening on Congress street, and today they will begin trying to raise the temperature in that corner of the building. Until today the Root headquarters have been in a small suite of rooms on an upper floor, in charge of former Congressman Dwight of New York.

On the floor above, in another vast room, are the Sherman headquarters, with a portrait of the man who looks like Lincoln looking down on a historic banner, which was carried in the campaign of 1860 and which bears a rough likeness of the great martyr president.

Here also are the Republican headquarters of the Roosevelt campaign, in charge of former Secretary of the Navy George von L. Meyer, and across the way the hall where is to be held the convention of the National League of Republican clubs, with John Hays Hammond as its president and everything said to be set for the indorsement of the man from Oyster Bay.

All the other gold rooms, crystal rooms, King Francis rooms, and other huge and regal apartments in the hotel are rented to other favorite sons. The Fairbanks boom has at least two such headquarters, and in letters of fire the name of the candidate burns brilliantly above the doors of one of them. In the open doors stand two young gentlemen, who greet every man who passes along the corridor with a warm and clinging handshake.

"Come in, sir, and meet Mr. New and the other gentlemen from Indiana."

Nor dare one forget a somewhat more modest suite of rooms—one does not call it a headquarters—the entrance to which is ornamented by the nameless portrait of a tall and bulky gentleman, wearing a cowboy hat and a dignified expression on his rotund face. He is also coyly shaking hands with himself. These are the rooms of "The Mayor's Entertainment Committee," and in and out of them swarms an endless stream of visitors.

Crowds in Motion.

Up and down the stairs and elevators the crowds are constantly passing. They visit each headquarters and are presented with buttons, badges, and pamphlets containing extracts from many deathless speeches.

One wonders how so many men, whose chances of the nomination for president do not seem to be imminent, can afford to pay a rental of from $50 to $1,000 a day for headquarters, to say nothing of the other large expenses of the campaign, including press agents, paid managers, and railroad fares.

Meanwhile in quiet rooms on higher floors the party managers are in session, holding endless conferences, receiving delegates from the various states, sending emissaries back and forth to the Progressive headquarters, securing pledges, making offers, getting ready for the opening of the convention at the Coliseum on Wednesday.

RING LARDNER TAKES HIS PEN IN HAND

If You Don't Know What He Writes About You Have Nothing on Him—He Doesn't Know Either.

BY RING W. LARDNER.

I usually write stuff on the sporting page, but along last May or April I received a letter from a newspaper in Quakertown, where there's a Quaker Girl, and this letter said they would slip me so-and-so if I would cover the Republican and Democrat conventions. So I took the letter in to the boss because the letter offered me a flat offer of some money and he says:

"What about it?" he says.

"Well," I says, "I would love to do the work on account of the money."

"Yes," he says, "but are you working for a Quakertown newspaper or are you working for us?"

"Either way, you flatter me," I says.

"Well," he says, "if you report this convention for anybody, we would rather have you do it for us that pays you your salary for doing nothing. If you finely made it up in your mind to work, it is only just and fair that you works for us."

"All right," I says, on account of loyalty.

Cold Truth Dawns.

But lately I got thinking about it and thought maybe this will be a whole lot of work and something I don't know nothing about, and if I can duck it and play golf every P. M. and just keep up the Wake of the News column on the sporting page that's easy as pie to write so much the better. So the day of the parade of the people that would a whole lot rather walk around the loop than fight I went to the managing editor and says:

"Say," I says, "this was a kind of a joke about me reporting the convention."

"Yes," he says, "I thought so, too, but the higher ups says you was to do it and that settles it."

"Yes," I says, "but I don't know absolutey nothing concerning politics."

"Listen," he says. "Don't you often write something about football?"

"Yes," I admitted.

"Do you know something about it?" he ast me.

"No," I admitted.

Well, Why Not Politics?

"Also," he continued, "you write about dancing and baseball and fighting and babies and poker games and auction bridge whist and so on. What do you know about them?" he ast me.

"Nothing," I admitted.

"All right," he says. "Then your stuff about politics can't be no worse than anything else you do."

"All right," I admitted.

So he says I was to start Monday and stick to the politics till it was all over, meaning the convention here and the banquet in St. Louis.

So I found out by inquirys that the convention didn't start till Wednesday and I would find the news Monday and Tuesday at the Congress hotel, that was named after Congress, but not the Congress that's been down to Washington, D. C., recently because you would not name a hotel after that unless you was pretty sore at the rooms and board.

He Goes a-Scouting.

So I showed up at the Congress yesterday P. M. and the first thing that happened after I got in the lobby was a whole lot of musicians and saxophone players come in ahead of a parade and the parades was all yelling something and I could not make out what it was, but they all had Indiana banners and what they yelled sounded like Wabash, but I didn't believe they would be boasting about a thing like that, so I went up closer and listened and found out it was Fairbanks that they was yelling. They was just boosters for soap or scales one of the two.

But I forgot to say that before I went to the Congress hotel I got a shave and all cleaned up and when I got there and seen the delegates I realized where I had made a mistake and had become a conspicuous figure.

I knocked several delegates down and got across the lobby to the desk and ast them where was the newspaper men located at because I had not seen one soul that acted like he knew me or wanted to.

"Where is the newspaper men " I ast he clerk.

After waiting on everybody else he says:

"Try Room 1606," he says.

Waiting for a Lift.

So I tried four or five times to get in the nearest elevator and was told I was too big and finely one of the elevator men let me get in and we went up near the top and I says:

"Where is 1606?" I ast him.

"Not in this building," he answered. "It's in the other building," he replied.

I went in all the surrounding buildings and when I ast for 1606 I got laughed at, so I came back to the Congress and went in the Pompey room and ast them for a sandwich and while I was masticating it I noticed that they was boarding up the fountain in the middle of the room and I ast them why and they says because some of the delegates might walk into it by mistake and get bathed.

So then I went in the other room and met a man that was cordial and he says:

"Are you for Weeks?" he ast me.

"Yes," I says, "two of them. But it looks like I wouldn't last."

He's for Theodore.

So he didn't laugh enough to suit me and the next guy I run into was Mr. Runkel that's got stock in the Cubs and Sen. Sherman

"What do you think of our chances?" he ast me.

"I mean, what do you think of Sherman's chances?" he ast me.

"What position does he play?" I ast him back.

"He is running for president," he says.

"Oh," says I, "you mean he is running for president of the United States. I am for Roosevelt," I says.

"Why?" he ast me.

"Because I wrote a song about him," I says and give him the name of the song and publisher.

"Why didn't you write about a live one?" he ast me.

Ring—Prize Orator.

And then we got in to a politics argument and I got the best of it. It follows.

"They call this a government by the people," I says. "But fifteen out of every twenty people wants to vote for Roosevelt, but they can't because the delegates probably won't nominate him."

"That's bunk," he says. "The delegates no matter how they're instructed must please the people that elected them delegates. It's the people that decides."

"Yes," I says, "I suppose that's how Mr. Taft got nominated in 1914 or whenever it was."

"This is different," he says, and walked away from me.

But I run into him later on and talked baseball and parted friends.

Then I made it up in my mind that they was no news to be got in the hotel and started out and run in to some of the delegates from Maryland. We got up an informal quartet and sung brown skin where you been.

Letting the Readers In.

But I couldn't come back to the office without no politics and I hunted around till I found out what the convention was about to tell the readers.

You see they're here to nominate a president to succeed Mr. Wilson. It looks now like they would be a hot fight for the nomination, and the man that wins it will run for president. It looks like it's between several people. If I was ast to make a prophecy I would say that Wm. Hale Thompson or Jim Larkin would be nominated on the first ballad. They's been several other names mentioned, including Weeks, that played halfback for Columbia and Root that led the cheers at the football game, and Hughes that used to pitch for Washington and now he's out on the coast somewhere's and Lodge that must be an Elk or a Odd Fellow or something, and Ford and Bryan and Debs, and so on.

So when I got all this information I come back to the loop and run in to Charley White, the boxer, and he ast me would I have dinner with him, and I says when at, and he says right away, because he had to go home soon, and I had to turn it down on account of writing this stuff.

Tomorrow I will know the ropes and the stuff will be better.

Next to Voting for Roosevelt She Would Like to Fight in a Trench.

BY BOB LEE.

By your leave, sir, or not, Miss Mary Garden wishes to vote for Roosevelt and fight in a trench.

Miss Garden dropped in on Chicago yesterday in a somewhat swift fashion, weighing—listen closely, women folks—weighing not an ounce more than 124 pounds—weigh 'em—124 pounds.

Mary as the wielder of a sovereign suffrage.

Mary refusing to weigh more than 124½ pounds.

Miss Garden is leaving tomorrow for New York, whence she sails for France at once. She arrived here uttering applause for Roosevelt in tones that cost many dollars per utter when coined into operatic arias.

Visit to Her "Best Friend."

"I have come to pay a visit to Mrs. W. J. Chalmers, who has been my very best friend," said "Our Mary."

"There is some talk of it," explained the reporter gravely.

"And what do they do?" she inquired briskly. "Do they have speakers from various parts of the country to get up and talk about the candidates?"

"I believe," replied the reporter, "there is a little discussion here and there."

"O, isn't that grand! So democratic, isn't it?"

The reporter admitted that things have been somewhat democratic in the last few years.

The Adorable Colonel.

"I do so want to vote," pursued the diva, "I would like to vote for Mr. Roosevelt.

"I adore him.

"I have adored him for years.

"O, he is the most adorable man—ah!"

"I have only two regrets," pursued the delectable Salome of opera. "I want with all my heart to vote and I am in frenzy because women cannot go to war."

"What particular mode of warfare do you most fancy?" inquired the reporter meekly.

"I would fight in the trenches (heroically)—wouldn't I! Ah! Ah! AH!

Weights and Weighing.

"Miss Garden," quod the reporter, "we next arrive at the most interesting portion of the interview. How did you do it?"

"Well, all right. Write it down:

"Every morning I ride horseback for two hours. I never miss. Make that NEVER MISS in large letters. Thanks. For lunch I take a cup of bouillon. I take a walk in the afternoon. Tenh I eat a hearty dinner."

The reporter, who has shined his shoes with a carpet sweeper for the last preceding four years, craved that Miss Garden set down the items of her dinner menu.

"O," and she threw up her arms in a gesture of dismay. "I eat everything at dinner, but——"

Then she turned and faced the reporter with a gesture of intense earnestness or something and continued:

"But not a drop of anything. Not a drop of anything. Put that in large letters. I do not touch a drop of alcohol. No! No!"

Bondage Gone for Good.

"And now," snarled the reporter, "let us, if you please, get down to facts. What is your weight?"

"Ah! I am slender. I am chic. I am light and tripping on the feet. I have taken it off. I have lost it. It will never return again. Never more will I weigh an ounce more than I do right this moment.

MOOSE DELEGATE

Miss Irene Krone

Miss Irene Krone of Paducah, Ky., first woman ever elected a delegate to a national political convention from the blue grass state, arrived yesterday to cast her ballot for Theodore Roosevelt at the Progressive convention. Miss Krone, who has been actively engaged in the pratice of law for four years as a member of the firm of Browning & Krone, will represent the First congressional district of Kentucky. She has had considerable experience in politics, having served as secretary of the Roosevelt Republican club in 1912, when that organization carried her county convention by over two to one majority.

UNCLE JOE IS WILLING.

His usual cigar tilted at its usual skyward angle, "Uncle Joe" Cannon came into town today, skirmished about for convention tickets for his friends, and then said:

"I don't know who the convention'll nominate, but it could do a blamed sight worse than to pick me."

WOMEN PAST 70 BRING ENERGY TO THE CONVENTION

Mrs. Olive C. Cole, 83 Years Old, Crossed Plains in the Gold Rush of 1849.

BY KATHERINE SYNON.

Preparedness, protection, and the Panama canal are the planks on the platform brought to Chicago by Mrs. Abbie E. Krebs and Mrs. Olive C. Cole, the two women delegates from California to the national Republican convention.

Mrs. Krebs and Mrs. Cole, who came in to the California headquarters at the Congress hotel with 112 representatives of the Golden state, are both remarkable women. To begin with, Mrs. Krebs, who is president of a lumber company as well as a political power in her community, is over 70 years old, and Mrs. Cole, who is a real '49er, is 83 years of age. For all that they are as active as any man in their delegation and plunged into the situation on their arrival with the zest of old campaigners.

For Good Navy.

"We're not as excited over preparedness out on the coast as are the people of the east and of the middle west," said Mrs. Krebs, "because the European war situation has not seemed so close to us as it has to these other sections of the country. But we believe firmly in a reasonable preparedness, especially in a naval preparedness.

"California, of course, wants a real navy, just as California wants a reëstablishment of American shipping. Both of these are going to take time and care, but we believe that this time and care should be used.

"Because we expect the Panama canal to prove a tremendous factor in Pacific trade we naturally want to have it made usable in more ways than one. The greatest advantage to California out of the opening of the canal will be the cheaper shipping rates from San Francisco to New Orleans and New York.

"But in order to make these of lasting advantage California needs protection—protection for its fruits, which have been forced under the present rate to compete with the fruits from Italy and Spain, produced and shipped by cheaper labor; protection for its wool, and protection for its lumber. You see, I'm a lumber dealer, and I'm talking for my trade."

Even More Strenuous.

Mrs. Cole, however, who isn't a lumber dealer, or a fruit dealer, or a wool shipper, talked even more strenuously for protection and preparedness. Mrs. Cole is a real California pioneer, having crossed the plains, and the Rockies, and the Great American desert in a prairie schooner in the year of the great gold rush. Her father had been an abolitionist who had helped in the operation of the underground railway. Her husband, whom she met after she reached the coast, and who is still in Los Angeles, was the first Republican senator from California and the builder of the Republican party in that state.

Mrs. Cole herself was another builder of the party, for she worked with her husband in 1856 in getting out the first Republican newspaper west of the Rockies, a Sacramento weekly that supported Fremont's candidacy. Mrs. Cole, who has eight children, was one of the organizers of the famous Friday club of Los Angeles, and was associated with Mrs. Caroline Severance, who founded the first woman's club in the United States.

"I'm for preparedness first, last, and all the time," she declared vigorously. "Im for the United States having the biggest navy on earth. I'm for American protection for American industries. And I'm for genuine, dyed-in-the-wool American patriotism. We women of California aren't one step behind the men in being ready for any emergency that the country may have to meet."

G.O.P. COMMITTEE TO HEAR WOMEN IN MAIN COLISEUM

Suffrage and Preparedness Arguments Can Be Heard by 11,000 Spectators.

The Coliseum—the main hall of the national convention itself—has been made the forum in which the women will demand a suffrage plank from the Republican committee on resolutions.

The committee on resolutions is to occupy the speaker's rostrum. The women, for and against the proposition, will appear upon the convention stage. Details have not yet been arranged, but it is expected that the seats assigned to delegates and alternates and the 11,000 places for spectators will be available to all those who wish to hear the arguments.

If there is a debate on the issue of preparedness, the speakers, pro and con, will have their chance following the women.

The Republican national committee yesterday took the initiative in the matter, and, by formal resolution, recommended the foregoing procedure to the national convention. The party leaders say there is little question but that the committee's suggestion will have the concurrence of the convention.

Statement by Hilles.

"It is inevitable," Chairman Hilles said, "that the resolutions committee will hear some delegations, particularly those organizations which are urging preparedness and those supporting woman suffrage. And I think that this committee should request the committee on resolutions to give public hearings on these questions two hours after the adjournment of the convention on Wednesday. The proper place for these hearings would be the convention hall, where all the publicity possible can be given. The resolutions committee could occupy the platform seats of the national committee while the subjects are being presented."

Senator Reed Smoot made the motion that embodied the suggestion of Chairman Hilles, and it was carried without a dissenting vote.

Leaders Support Suffrage.

No Republican leader of any prominence has given anything but support to the proposed suffrage plank in the party's platform, according to information given out during the day at the headquarters of the National Woman Suffrage association. The women feel practically certain that the suffrage plank will go into the platform.

Even the Old Guard, it is stated, is ready to indorse suffrage. It balks, according to the rumors, however, at specifying any particular manner by which to give suffrage to women. It will not favor the federal amendment, it is said.

Harmony Plans Foiled.

An effort to get the two factions of suffragists together on the question of the Republican plank was foiled when both sides demanded that all the advances should be made by the other side. Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch of the Congressional union made the first move toward harmony, it is said. She went to the office of Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the national association, and suggested that the two groups coöperate and present only one proposal, instead of two, to the Republicans.

The national association will be satisfied with a plank merely indorsing the principle. The Congressional union will take nothing less than an indorsement of the federal amendment for suffrage.

Mrs. Catt Willing.

"We shall be glad to get together on the question," Mrs. Catt told Mrs. Blatch. "That was our idea from the first that it would be best for us to get together. It is much more logical to present one plank, and we are willing to compromise."

Mrs. Blatch went back to the Congressional union, and told Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the union.

"Fine," replied Miss Paul, in substance. "But let them come over here."

Again the proposal was put to the national board of the other group. They decided that as the proposal originally came from the Congressional union, the union ought to go to the national association. The union refused. A counter offer of a luncheon at the Congress hotel was made, but Mrs. Catt would not agree to that. And harmony left, again, for an indeterminate say.

National Opens Today.

The national association will open its "suffrage assembly" at 10:30 a. m. today at the Princess theater. During the day the resolutions which are to be presented to the Republicans will be adopted, according to the plans. They will ask the Republicans to "live up to the principles of their party" and indorse woman suffrage, and will point out that the women of countries considered less liberal than the United States already have the vote.

The assembly will be opened by Mrs Catt, national president, and the opening session will be called the "political party planks session."

There will be a luncheon at noon at Mandel's, an afternoon session at the Princess theater, and in the evening a dinner for about 150 suffrage leaders at the residence of Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS WANT PLANKS IN THE PLATFORMS

Conventions to Be Urged to Come Out for Civil Service Court and Equitable Retirement Law.

Drafts of planks to be presented to the national conventions seeking to have them declare for favorable legislation for government civil service employés were adopted last night at a meeting of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks and the Civil Service Retirement association, representing 30,000 government employés, in their quarters in the Great Northern hotel.

The resolutions, drawn up by Llewellyn Jordan, in addition to favoring the extension of civil service, seek to have the parties declare in favor of the establishment of a civil service court and the enactment of an equitable retirement law.

"Federal laws governing federal civil service employés are badly in need of revision," said Mr. Jordan. "They do not recognize the constantly increasing cost of living, and toward this end the proposed plank contains a provision seeking the establishment of a proposed minimum wage."

WOMAN'S PARTY, FIRST IN WORLD, BORN IN CHICAGO

"One Flag, No Candidate, One Plank," and That: U. S. Suffrage Amendment.

With the assembling of more than 1,000 women—1,200 to be exact—from all parts of the United States there was born last night at the Blackstone theater the first woman's party in the world.

As Miss Maude Younger of California, the temporary chairman, said in her "keynote" speech, it is a party "with one flag, no candidate, and one plank—the enfranchisement of women by an amendment to the federal constitution."

President Wilson and the Democratic administration leaders in congress were openly unpopular at the convention. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont in her address classed President Wilson as "the leader in the flimsy pretext that the freeing of women is a local and not a national affair."

Hats! Banners! Cheers!

There was plenty of enthusiasm, surely enough to satisfy the most ardent suffragist, and it was not at all backward in manifesting itself. Mrs Belmont's barely veiled irony aimed at the man politicians of the nation brought cheers and much sardonic laughter, and when she urged the "three million women in the United States who have the power to vote" to notify each candidate that he will not get a woman's vote unless he pledges himself "to free all the women of the United States" she almost literally brought down the house.

Cheers for Roosevelt.

When Harriot Stanton Blatch, daughter of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, made her appeal of "the women of the east to the women of the west" and mentioned, somewhat casually, the name of Theodore Roosevelt, there was a wild outburst of cheering that lasted several minutes.

"Whatever we may think as individuals of Mr. Roosevelt——" she began. And the cheering commenced. It was mixed, however, with cries of "We're nonpartisan," "Put 'em out," "Same old thing," which were drowned until the other cheering stopped.

"We all know this," continued Mrs. Blatch, "that he is one of the clearest sighted politicians in America and he has his ear to the ground."

Everything worked out smoothly according to the plans of the leaders, there being but one slight hitch in the proceedings, which was overwhelmingly flattened out by a vote of 207 to 22. The convention was called to order by Mrs. Bertram Sippy after the ten-piece brass band had finished playing "Cheer, Cheer, the Gang's All Here," and "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

Mrs. Sippy called for nominations for the position of temporary chairman. Miss Paul was nominated, and the nomination "was seconded."

"Motion" Is Carried.

"Is Miss Paul here?" Mrs. Sippy asked. There was an embarrassed pause, and then she added laughing, "O, pardon me, I forgot my parliamentary procedure. All in favor of the motion say 'Aye.'"

The "motion" was carried, and Miss Paul took the gavel.

Mrs. Belmont was dressed in a royal blue satin gown, trimmed with spangles and embroidered in silver. Her corsage and sleeves were of blue tulle. She wore a string of diamonds that hung below her waist. She had a necklace of brilliants with an enormous saphire pendant. She had a corsage ornament of three large saphires, surrounded by diamonds.

WOMEN MEET MRS. BELMONT

Some from Rival Suffrage Camp Attend Reception at the Blackstone.

There was a flurry among the suffragists gathered from every corner of the country at the reception in the Blackstone, when Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York stepped into the receiving line and greeted the delegates to the Woman's Party convention.

The black cherries on Mrs. Belmont's hat and even the adornments on her blue gown were of interest to her sisters, who admired her taste in dress quite as much as her suffrage sentiments.

Opposing Leaders Absent.

Many of the leaders in the National American Woman Suffrage association were conspicuous by their absence from the Congressional Union reception.

"There is no inharmony," Mrs. Belmont said. "We are working for the same goal—the Susan B. Anthony amendment, only with different methods—that's all."

Several of the guests could not forget, however, that Mrs. Belmont had not received an invitation to Mrs. Cyrus McCormick's suffrage dinner.

Neither Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the opposing camp, nor Dr. Anna Howard Shaw put in an appearance at the reception. Mrs. Medill McCormick and Mrs. James W. Morrison were also absent.

In Receiving Line.

The flag of truce was borne by Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, former president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association; Mrs. Harriet Taylor Treadwell of the Chicago Political Equality league, and Mrs. William Severin of the state suffrage board, who assisted in the receiving line.

The biggest social affair of the suffragists during convention week will be the garden party and ball tonight at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. McCormick of 1000 Lake Shore drive. Practically all of the political leaders of the Republican and Progressive parties have been invited, and suffragists from all over the country will be present. The garden will be transformed into an East Indian scene. Mrs. John Alden Carpenter has charge of the decorations.

TWO DRY DAYS FOR VISITORS

Advocates of nation-wide prohibition took some satisfaction yesterday in pointing out that it is possible to conduct pre-convention negotiations without the aid of large quantities of liquor. Sunday was a dry day in Chicago and it was followed by another on account of the judicial election. A few of the delegates, however, found wet spots.

KEEPS LABOR PLAN SECRET

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, sent word that he "could not be disturbed" when the following question was presented to him last night:

"Is one of the chief reasons for your being in Chicago at this time to endeavor to get a labor plank in the Republican party platform, and if so, what's the plank?"

Swift & Company's sales of beef in Chicago for the week ending Saturday, June 3, averaged as follows: Domestic beef, 13.12 cents per pound.—Advertisement.

GOSSIP OF POLITICS

Lemuel Ely Quigg, in years gone the playmate politically of Thomas Platt and Chauncey Depew and the older men of the Old Guard of New York, looked around yesterday. He paid his respects to Senator Depew, whereupon a New York man of the later vintage remarked:

"Couldn't keep 'em out. They've been coming to conventions since Josephus Daniels was pilot aboard the Mayflower."

Wine Agents vs. Delegates.

The little lady journalist from the wide outside was having an awful time in the Congress lobby. Her hat was awry and she was trying to get names and information for her paper. She gazed upon the forms of Weeks and Bryan and senators and delegates and what not and never recognized a one. Finally she sighed:

Making Rubbering Easier.

Col. Baird of Texas, tanned by the winds of the sand hills until he resembles fine old fumed oak, surveyed with great satisfaction the removal of the seating accomodations from Peacock alley. The alley now is bare of floor and empty of luxurious settees.

"I approve," commented the colonel. "I have like to bustid my neck no lessen eighty-five times goin' thoo that tunnel. One cain't keep his balance fallin' ovah a settee and obsehvin' of a lady at the same time."

"Uh."

William Jennings Bryan, a newspaper reporter from Lincoln, Neb., dropped in for some items at the Congress. He got the worst of it. The others got more items about him than he did of them. He removed his straw hat, exposing a shrubless sconce, wiped it down, replaced his hat, and strode off to the Blackstone, where the women are conventioning. When interviewed he unbosomed himself as follows:

"Uh."

Mr. O'Leary Balks.

Jack Lyons of New York is spoiling to lay $5,000 against Roosevelt in the Republican convention. A friendly person steered him against the justly celebrated "Jim" O'Leary, but the astute James said he would take the $5,000 at 7 to 10 provided Lyons will pick a winner. Mr. Lyons' $5,000 still is aching for action.

"If some one will give me a Roosevelt banner," chirruped Mary Garden, "I'll walk down the middle of Michigan avenue with it."

Republican Organization Expected to Get Into Line for Nominee Regardless of the Winner.

The national convention of the National League of Republican Clubs, beginning at 10 o'clock this morning in the Florentine room of the Congress hotel, is expected to take action placing it on the firing line for the 1916 campaign, regardless of who may be nominated for president. Eight hundred delegates have secured credentials and the number will reach 1,000, Secretary T. Lincoln Townsend predicted.

Illinois will have a delegation of 168 led by Louis K. Torbet, member of the national executive committee from this state and one of the founders of the league. The convention will be called to order by John Hays Hammond, president of the league. Mayor Thompson will make the address of welcome. President Hammond will deliver the annual address and each state delegation will name its members on the committees on credentials, resolutions and nominations.

At the afternoon session the speakers will be Gov. Frank B. Willis of Ohio and former Gov. Franklin Murphy of New Jersey.

WOMEN EXPECT 30,000 TO MARCH IN VOTE PARADE

Regular Uniforms Garb of Fair Sex Tomorrow from Every State in the Nation.

Thirty thousand women are expected to march for suffrage tomorrow afternoon. Figures from several of the wards reached the parade headquarters in the Tower building yesterday, and several of the wards are sending nearly 3,000 marchers each. The total of the out of town contingent will be approximately 5,000.

There will be women from every state in the union. All the divisions will mobilize in outer Grant park, march across the Van Buren street viaduct, north in Michigan avenue to Randolph street, and then south in Michigan avenue to the Coliseum.

Resolution for G. O. P.

A resolution asking the Republican party to include in its platform a plank for woman suffrage will be carried to the Coliseum on a flag. Four women from the corner states of the union—one from Washington, one from California, one from Florida, and one from Maine—will take the resolution into the Coliseum, where it will be received by Senator William E. Borah, who will argue the case of the women before the resolutions committee.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, grand marshal, will have as her aids: Mrs. H. M. Wilmarth, Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Mrs. Raymond Robins, Miss Mary McDowell, Miss Katherine B. Davis, Mrs. Alice Stone Blackwell, Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCulloch, Mrs. Lambert A. Wile, Dr. Lucy Waite, Miss Jane Addams, Mrs. Ella S. Stwart, Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, Mrs. Medill McCormick, Mrs. Antoinette Funk, and Miss Harriet Vittum.

Women of Kansas to March.

The women of Kansas will march with the Chicago women who were formerly of Kansas. A committee has been appointed of which Mrs. Noble Prentis is chairman to recruit the Chicago women who came from Kansas. Among the members of her committee are Mrs. I. S. Blackwelder, Mrs. L. Brackett Bishop, Mrs. J. C. Kelsey, Mrs. Lawson Gilbert, Mrs. Fred Bentley, Mrs. Charles Fishback, Mrs. Kate Jordan Hewett, Mrs. Lorado Taft, Mrs. Adam Emory Albright, Mrs. Arthur E. White, Mrs. H. J. Smith, Mrs. A. L. Eustice, Miss Kate Adams, Miss Rena Stilwell, and Miss Agnes Lapham.

Militia to Guide Parade.

REGAL
The Most Popular Shoe in the World—Why?

MERE Advertising, however brilliant, could not have made Regal "the most popular shoe in the world." The cause lies deeper—Organization, Standardization, Specialization to produce custom styles at people's prices.

Regal started with one store which has multiplied to a hundred. It has been the way-blazer in shoe values and the crusader in shoe-store service.

TEDDY TELLS WHY HE'S STRONG FOR PREPAREDNESS

When Teddy was 11 years old he was confronted by the profound philosophic question, To lick or be licked? Teddy did his best to make the answer affirmative. Wherefore Teddy came to believe in preparedness.

That was in 1856—why, no, he can't be 71! Yes, sir! Teddy—commonly referred to in the public prints as Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

For the first time in his sixty years of Republicanism Mr. Vail, as a delegate from Vermont, will sit in at the politicians' game, smoking his long, well chosen cigars, and viewing indifferently both game and gamesters.

Not So Exciting Now.

"It all isn't so exciting when you've lived a long life and run into a lot of exciting things," said Mr. Vail. He was seated in the Chicago club, by the side of Bernard E. Sunny, president of the Chicago Telephone company.

"Now, it was exciting, back in 1856, when Gen. John C. Fremont ran for president: the first candidate the Republican party ever had. I lived in Morris county, New Jersey, a strong Democratic territory. All my relatives were Democrats, except only my father.

"There were about forty or fifty of us in school, about half and half as to boys and girls. I was the only Republican in school; all the rest of the boys were Democrats. The girls were Democrats, too. I had to fight all the other boys, and all the girls egged them on.

Cast First Vote in 1866.

"I cast my first vote in 1866. I have always been a Republican, and always have voted for Republican presidential candidates. I was for preparedness long before it was a campaign issue.

"My legal residence is in Lyndon, Vt. The Republicans selected me a delegate to the national convention, without consulting me, and then they wired me the news. The delegation is instructed for Hughes."

"What do you think of President Wilson?"

Runaway Girls Arrested.

LEWIS RECOMMENDS HUNT.

Decatur, Ill., June 5.—Robert I. Hunt of Decatur was today notified from Washington by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis that he had been recommended by Senator Lewis to the position of head of the Chicago subtreasury, to succeed Irving Shuman, resigned. Mr. Shuman has also urged Mr. Hunt's appointment for the place. Hunt long has been prominent in Illinois Democratic circles.

CLEAN VICTORY BY DEMOCRATS IN JUDGE RACE

request of the Dunne leaders, faced the hardest fight of any of the Democrats, and came through a winner.

Utter failure of the Republicans to carry on an organized canvass for the slate that the county committee pieced together is held largely responsible for the trimming that the Republican ticket had. Municipal Judge Hosea Wells was the top Republican, followed by Robert E. Crowe, upon whom the city hall forces attempted to centralize. Judge Robert E. Turney, the only sitting judge who is a Republican, was tenth in the list, following former Judge Dupuy, who had heavy backing of the Lake View Deneen organization.

HENRY UTPATEL ELEVENTH.

Ald. Henry Utpatel was eleventh, and Edward J. Herdlicka, the second of the city hall entries, was twelfth, running 37,457 votes behind Sullivan, the lowest Democrat.

The two independent candidates, John T. Richards and Russell Whitman, running in the Progressive party column, made no showing whatever. Richards received about as many votes as did the average Socialist candidate and Whitman ran behind all of them.

The closest contest of the day was between Joseph B. David, the Sullivan slate candidate, and Andrew J. Redmond of Oak Park for the Freeman vacancy. Redmond was picked generally to win, but the Sullivan leaders put in their hardest work for David and his majority, by the police returns, is 6,057.

TAKE VICTORS TO ST. LOUIS.

With the certainty that the Democrats had swept the boards, Roger C. Sullivan's aids hastily made plans to take the successful candidates to St. Louis next week and present them to the national Democratic convention as the men who carried the second largest city in the United States right under the noses of the Republican chiefs and their national convention.

The vote on the three bond issues—in many precincts dropping to one-half the vote on the judges—was said to be the smallest in a great many years that authorized the city of Chicago to borrow money.

But the result brought pleasure to the Chicago Plan commission, the Association of Commerce, and scores of improvement associations. They were interested chiefly in the $5,100,000 for the bridge construction program and the $3,750,000 for the extension of the street lighting system.

The $3,750,000 for lights will build a generating plant in connection with the city's garbage incinerator and three substations, in addition to the installation of 5,800 arc lamps and 25,400 incandescent lamps of 100 candle power.

The argument said to have killed the jail bonds was the criticism that no definite plans for the new institution had been prepared.

"I am pleased that the two bond issues passed," said Charles H. Wacker, chairman of the plan commission, "but I am disappointed in the size of the vote on the bridge bonds. The necessity of replacing our old bridges and the need for new ones were so obvious I expected an overwhelming majority in favor of those bonds."

CLAIM GERMANS IN THIS COUNTRY WANT ROOSEVELT

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 5.—Col. Roosevelt made public tonight a letter received from F. A. Wurzbach, president of a bank in New York City, in which Mr. Wurzbach expressed the hope that "irrespective of what the G. O. P. does, you must not take a back seat, but permit the people to name you as their standard bearer."

Mr. Wurzbach, who said he was of German descent, asserted that the opponents of Col. Roosevelt of German descent were few in number. Col. Roosevelt replied to Mr. Wurzbach as follows:

"Nothing could please me more than your letter. Americans of German descent are—in an immense majority—straight out Americans who put Stars and Stripes above everything else. I would be absolutely willing to put my appeal for Americanism only to Americans of German descent and abide by their say so."

Praise by Wisconsin Man.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt also made public today a letter he received from W. F. Zierath, counsellor of the State Medical society of Wisconsin, in which the latter, who said he was of German descent and a Democrat, urged the colonel, if not nominated by the Republicans, "to be standard bearer of an independent party—an American party."

Zierath said he had never voted for Col. Roosevelt, but he hoped to have that pleasure, adding: "Your firm stand against the hyphen is not going to lose you votes."

"You will observe my name is German," Zierath's letter said. "I have Teuton blood in my veins and am glad and proud of it. But for all that, I am an American. If you, or any one else, believes that American born Germans of this country, acting through any German-American alliance, are the spokesmen of the Americans of German descent in this country, I want to say that they are sadly misinformed or malicious liars.

"Your firm stand against the hyphen is not going to lose you votes. It is making votes for you daily. American born Germans are going to vote against you, but they are comparatively few and far between. Americans of German descent are going to vote for you, and, take it from me, even they will be surprised at the vote for you in their own communities."

Col. Roosevelt in his reply to Mr. Zierath said:

"I am certain that the great bulk of Americans of German descent feel as you say they feel, and that is as straight out Americans."

Sorry Letter Was Published.

Sheboygan, Wis., June 5.—Dr. W. F. Zierath is a practicing physician here and a member of the state medical society.

"Did Col. Roosevelt give out that letter?" he said. "I am very sorry. I did not want this publicity. I am a simple American citizen, and I wrote to him my personal views."

IT'S THE MAN: NOT THE PLATFORM

STATEMENT BY GEORGE W. PERKINS.

There has been a great deal of talk here today in both camps about platform, what the planks should be, how strong they should be, etc. In my judgment, the platform planks this year are of minor importance.

In approaching the platform question it seems to me all important that both the Republicans and Progressives should keep three things clearly in mind: First, that there is a Democratic congress in session waiting to grab the platform that is written here, whatever it may be, enact it into legislation before they adjourn, and in this way destroy whatever value there might be to platform declarations.

Second, it is a long way to November, and things that might seem vital now might be obsolete by then.

Third, there never has been a time in the history of the United States when it was so utterly impossible for any group of human beings to forecast the future by even a day, to say nothing of four years, as at the present moment.

All we know is that this great European war is going to bring about mighty changes in the social, industrial, and political relations heretofore existing between this country and other nations, but what the nature of these changes is going to be we do not as yet know. These questions are going to be the great and all important questions confronting the next administration.

To attempt to do any more than broadly touch on them will be impossible and fraught with danger. The simple fact of the matter is that the platform in this convention must be the man nominated in the convention. And because it is impossible to forecast the future, this makes it more important than ever before in our history that we select a man of tried ability and unquestioned Americanism—a man who by his record of the past offers the best possible guarantee for his action in the future—a man who has been accustomed to meet unexpected emergencies and handle them in a diplomatic, dignified, and satisfactory manner to the interests of this country.

Some one told me only a short time ago that Lincoln once said that in lieu of a platform a man's past record is the best possible platform. Certainly every thoughtful man will agree with me that you cannot at this time write a platform that will even approximately meet the unforeseen events that we are certain will crowd upon us for solution in the next four years.

Therefore, to my mind, the question of platform planks to be adopted here this week is of far less importance than it ever was before in a national convention. In my judgment, all we can do is to sketch broadly what America must stand for in the next four years, the ideals and purposes, and then pick a man whom we know will work out the details under these broad instructions as they present themselves from hour to hour.

There is another phase of this platform question not to be overlooked, and it is that the country and the voters are sick and tired of broken platform pledges. Mr. Wilson is today about to be renominated by the Democratic party, who, if they tell the truth, must start their platform declarations with a statement that they point with pride to the fact that he has broken every plank in the platform on which he was elected four years ago.

This makes it all the more important that the action of these two conventions here this week, if possible, be carried on with such discretion and wisdom as to result in the selection of a man who in himself will be the embodiment of Americanism as it is to be interpreted in action during the next four years.

THOMPSON TO BE COMMITTEEMAN; WEST ENDS FIGHT

Mayor Said to Have Forced Foe to Take Chairmanship and Be Quiet.

Mayor Thompson will be elected Republican national committeeman tonight when the Illinois delegation holds a caucus, probably by acclamation and without a roll call.

National Committeeman Roy O. West practically gave up the fight last night. Strong pressure was brought to bear upon him to withdraw his name and permit the mayor's election to be made by unanimous vote.

If this happens, as seems quite likely, the feeling among the delegation leaders, said to reflect directly the personal wishes of Senator Sherman, is that Mr. West be made the chairman of the delegation.

Here's Illinois Slate.

On the premise that such an arrangement will be satisfactory all around, the Illinois slate looks about like this:

Rodenberg Cut Out.

Congressman William A. Rodenberg of East St. Louis was slated originally for the chairmanship of the delegation. Opposition arose during the day in some quarters upon the basis that there was too much Old Guard stuff in the makeup of the Illinois assignments.

The name of Edward J. Brundage, head of the Sherman forces in Chicago, was then put forward and practically agreed to, when the talk began of a general harmony pact in which Mr. West would permit the election of Mayor Thompson without a fight.

Mr. Brundage said the proper thing to do under the circumstances would be to elect Mr. West chairman of the delegation without a contest, and that was the general feeling existing at a late hour.

Downstate Revolt Dies.

The threatened revolt on the part of downstate delegates to send the national committeeship downstate and eliminate both the mayor and Mr. West failed to develop sufficient strength to warrant its existence. Mayor Thompson's lieutenants demonstrated that they had nailed down enough delegates to maintain a majority of the fifty-eight delegates, and the revolution died in its infancy. Fred W. Upham, the delegate from the north side district in which Mayor Thompson resides, will place him in nomination tonight. The caucus will be held in the gold room of the Congress.

The downstate Sherman contingent rolled into town, and by nightfall an enthusiastic and active brigade of Sherman men crowded the gold room headquarters.

Statement by Shanahan.

Speaker David E. Shanahan, chairman of the Sherman steering committee, issued this statement at night:

"It looks like Sherman to me. The eastern states are in turmoil, and chaos reigns among the eastern delegates. New York is unable to agree upon one man, and with three candidates from that section the Empire state must be counted out of the fight. Party leaders are realizing that the convention must name a man who will be acceptable to all factions, and to all sections of the nation, and they believe Illinois is the solution of the problem. They cannot fail to recognize in Senator Sherman, a man who has already united the factions of the Republican party in Illinois into one great force fighting for one cause."

Maryland Progressives' Car Will Make Daily Trip To and From Chicago.

Gary, Ind., June 5.—Because of the crowded condition of railway yards in Chicago, the New York Central railroad has parked in Gary the private car of the Maryland delegation to the Progressive convention. The Maryland men will live in the car and make daily trips to and from Chicago, a distance of sixty miles.

SUFFRAGE WINS IN IOWA, CLAIM

HARDING G. O. P. CHOICE

Des Moines, Ia., June 6, 2 a. m.—Iowa women, early this morning, did not know whether they had been granted the right to vote or not. With only 536 precincts officially reported the count stood at 60,232 for and 59,007 against the suffrage amendment with the prospect that belated returns might arrive to upset all "dope" on which the votes for women advocates builded their hopes.

The city of Des Moines cast a majority of 1,000 for suffrage. In the east Iowa river towns suffrage lost.

W. L. Harding, wet candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, has won by a majority of probably 20,000 over Attorney General Cosson, his nearest opponent. State Senator Joseph Allen ran third, Carl Kuehnle fourth.

—Stephen Decatur.

WHAT THE PARADE PROVED.

The Chicago parade of June 3 united nearly all the various peoples of the city in a demonstration of Americanism. Slav and Semite, Magyar and Czech, Germans, Italians, Scandinavians, Poles, etc., marched together for one purpose. A good deal that has been violent in the exhibition of various nationalisms other than American has resulted from the fact that the United States did not seem to need the unqualified support of people who have natural affection for other lands.

We believe the parade proved that as the need is revealed the qualities demanded will not be lacking. It is true that some of the people of German descent indicated a considerable indifference or even hostility to the demonstration. That is not true of all of them, by any means, but there was the feeling and it is explicable.

The Germans here have been made to feel that they were aliens in their own new country. Where pro-ally sentiment has been vigorous it has been vigorously condemnatory of the whole German race. The German suddenly found himself attacked by people with whom he thought he was living in a new nationalism. Under attack German sentiment stiffened, German elements drew together in sympathy, and German defense bristled. A few Germans also became suspicious, viewing genuine pro-American propaganda as some insidious form of pro-British propaganda.

These suspicions were irrational and destructive, but they had an origin which is easily discovered. Pro-ally Americans are entitled to their sentiments and emotions but they must remember that they and their children are not going to live in France and Great Britain with the French and the English but in the United States with the people of German blood.

Germans must remember that they and their children are not going to live in Germany but in the United States with the people who now execrate the methods of the German nation at war.

What happens to Germany, France, and Great Britain will have an important result upon peoples everywhere, but it is not going to have as important a result upon the people of the United States as what happens to the United States itself. That is an apparent fact which will get clearly out of the mists of emotionalism in time, and we believe that the Saturday parade showed that it is pretty well out already.

Sentimentally the parade was encouraging to any American. It indicated a genuine soundness in national fiber, and it discouraged the thought that we were increasing in population but not in nationalism.

It was encouraging also as discovering a real ability in organization. It was a large task to bring together so many thousands of unorganized people and send them in the mechanism of a parade without a hitch. To keep the streets of Chicago full of marchers all day requires a genius for organizing under difficulties, and the leaders responsible for the scheming of the parade are entitled to every bit of self-satisfaction which they may feel.

The parade was encouraging also as indicating a genuine sense of order, based upon good humor and respect for others' rights. The police behaved with admirable sense and courtesy, and the people proved that their instincts are wholly orderly and considerate. There was, moreover, a considerable breaking down of the social timidity which frequently makes an American event a sad thing of forced and mechanical joviality or a dead thing without a flicker of free emotion.

The people were stimulated by emotion and were free to show that they were. To demonstrate patriotic emotion, ability for organization, and instinctive love of order is to demonstrate democracy encouragingly.

The observer also remains impressed by the recollection of the tremendous energy, collective energy, displayed, and it is the natural wish that this, having been displayed, should not be wasted. As we have said, the parade would have been fortunate if it could have curled around the capitol building. Possibly many of the men and women who marched will want to carry their efforts further. If so they can write what they think to their congressmen. That is a way to register on the body which needs influencing.

Congress is susceptible. When it is indifferent to national needs it is because it thinks the constituencies back of congress are indifferent. Each marcher who wore out shoe leather on the street pavements Saturday can use a 2 cent stamp to good advantage if he will tell a congressman why he marched.

FOR AN INHERITANCE TAX.

It is one of the duties of the Republican party to advocate a stringent inheritance tax as a part of its program. If the party regains power it will be its duty to pass such a measure.

There are two reasons why an inheritance tax should be imposed in the United States by the federal government.

It will bring in a certain and not inconsiderable revenue. It will help to eliminate a class of citizens neither useful nor ornamental.

An inheritance tax is the easiest to collect and the hardest to evade. It does not vary with temporary prosperity or with temporary depression of business.

But the greatest virtue of an inheritance tax is that it combines with revenue producing great social good.

America does not mind the presence of millionaires, where millionaires mean also the presence of men of unusual talent and unusual energy. In fact, we want them. A man pays his way with an idea of social value when he becomes a millionaire, and no one minds the compensation. But the public is sick of carrying millionaires' children on its shoulders, and recently that class of generally useless persons has increased ominously. A glance at the society papers proves it.

The aristocracy of other nations has been wealthy, but it has also assumed onerous responsibility, providing effective and self-sacrificing people who consider it a duty to help govern. This sense of responsibility is what the American aristocracy of wealth has not assumed. Individuals like Baron Astor have shown themselves bad Americans but capable of becoming good Englishmen. America does not care anything about making good Englishmen. At least we do not care to pay their tuition.

To many people the Republican party means not only protection but privilege. It has meant the confirmation of these people, useless except as recruits to British aristocracy, in the possessions their parents and grandparents accumulated through service.

By advocating an inheritance tax, sufficiently rigorous to prevent self-perpetuating fortunes, fortunes which require no service from their owners, the Republican party can disprove the charge that it is a party of privilege.

WELCOME TO THE DELEGATES.

Chicago tenders the sincerest of welcomes to gentlemen now gathered for the performance of the highest but one of the functions of democratic citizenship. The delegates to the Republican and Progressive conventions are about to determine what the government of the republic shall be during one of the most critical periods of its history. If they fail to act wisely, that government will be essentially what it has been during the last four years. If they act wisely, it will be materially altered for the better, and it is not too much to say that it may open a new and inspiring epoch in American national life.

It is an inspiring opportunity, and THE TRIBUNE has more confidence in the willingness and the ability of the delegates to meet it patriotically and intelligently than in that of the more conspicuous and expressive gentlemen who are assuming to speak for them or direct their decision. The press agentry of the candidacies is not of the sort to rouse much hope or confidence. It is the men of the convention, the rank and file, good Americans from all parts of the country, on whom the real hope of a reunited party and a reinvigorated nation depends. We believe the overwhelming majority of both conventions sincerely seek the restoration of Republicanism, the choice of the right man and the right program. Selfish manipulation, petty strategies, acrid enmities, and foolish recriminations do not find their source among them and we hope will not enter into their deliberations. What is urgently needed is good will, common sense, and a patriotic devotion to the high purpose to which these conventions are dedicated.

We hope the stay of the delegates will be pleasant and their service be such as their children and their children's children will cherish in honorable memory.

A BIT PREVIOUS.

Japanese soldiers on the march make use of American band music, and their bands are like American bands. Perhaps there is some significance in their clear preference in tunes for "Marching Through Georgia." We only hope that they will not get as far as that.

A WELL DESERVED REBUKE.

President Gompers has done union labor and the community a service in denouncing the inner ring of the Chicago Federation of Labor for its opposition to Saturday's great patriotic demonstration. This self-perpetuating oligarchy has reached a degree of arrogance and of concentrated power not directed in the direction of the public welfare that seriously needed curbing.

Crimes of violence in labor circles are growing in number and in frightfulness. They are directed not only at nonunion men and nonunion employers but are used more and more to control the inside workings of some labor unions. This condition could not continue if it were discountenanced by the supreme dictators in the federation. Opposition to the practices of the inner ring has been handicapped because union members have had occasion to fear disciplinary measures from the inner circle, while criticism from nonunion sources has been parried by the charge that it has been directed not by opposition to evil practices but to union labor as a whole.

President Gompers is about the only person in a position to confront the "inner ring." The issue upon which he stands is one that recommends him as much as it condemns his opponents.

Opposition to the great parade was nothing but opposition to the American nation.

This is a great nation, and it is going to be a greater nation. The trend of the people is for greater harmony, more equitable treatment toward each other, and better feeling toward each other. We will not continue to tolerate those who seek discord for personal advantage.

Every organization, of whatever kind, needs a housecleaning from time to time. It is full time for a housecleaning in the Chicago Federation of Labor.

Editorial of the Day.

WAR AFTER THE WAR.

[From the Minneapolis Journal.]

The German shipping companies have 800,000 tons of new ships in Hamburg harbor, awaiting peace to seize a share of the world's transportation. That item of news indicates the fierce competition of trade that is to follow the war. Meanwhile English ministers are undertaking measures in conjunction with the other allies to control adversely to the central powers whatever trade they can.

Brooks Adams' commercial definition of war is an intensified competition. When war's form of competition ceases, it is to be followed by another form of competition more intense than anything preceding the war. The pruning hook that the world is to take up after it has laid down the sword, is to be as keen as any sword and to cut both ways.

The sentimentalists who were disappointed by the war are destined again to be disappointed by the peace. The lion and the lamb are not then to lie down together. The rivalries which the war typifies are not to be extinguished in a gush of fraternal sentiment. Indeed, unless one or the other of the combatants is overwhelmed before peace comes, the rivalry between them will continue with accentuated bitterness.

If the good offices of the United States can contrive to end the war, well and good. But peace will not mean that pacificism is in the saddle. It will not furnish Mr. Bryan, Mr. Ford, and their ilk opportunity to crowd their doctrines on the world. Instead of our humanitarians then teaching the world what it should do, we shall find our dexterity taxed to meet the competition, to hold our own in the warfare of traffic, restrictions, preferences, combinations.

We shall find, indeed, that not only is military preparedness required, but also industrial preparedness. We shall need a proper tariff and a wise management of business.

OUR sentiments jibe with Old Bill White's. Mr. Hughes must ride on the Roosevelt platform, or we're for a third ticket and the reëlection of Mr. Wilson.

QUICK WATSON! A LABEL!

Sir: The Suffracessional is Wednesday, this is Monday, and I'm rushing it for Tuesday consideration.

How would you classify zobs who forbid their wives to march? The Gentler Voter of our duet has been seeking to round up the women of the Third congressional district: out of seventy-six she asked to register, thirty-one replied, in effect: "My wight won't let me!" Yet, some of these fellows are of a qualified imbecility: that is, all are against Wilson, and most are for Roosevelt. What's your idea of a label? F. D.

WE have never seen a newspaper story about Joe Cannon that did not include mention of the "usual cigar" and the angle at which it was tilted. Have you?

[From the Jackson Patriot.]

Some kind of a nemesis must be on the trail of E. T. Bentz and family. Mr. Bentz is an engineer at Stock's mill and in an accident a day or two ago two of his fingers were crushed. A week ago his wife fell downstairs and suffered a broken leg. Just a week before that lightning struck a tree in front of the house.

"Well, Judge, I guess you did your best,
But I'm not satisfied."

And I am like that convict

It seems to me our statesmen
Could do better if they tried;
At least I know my feelings—
And I'm not satisfied.

Ohio Ueber Alles.

Sir: William Hard in the July Metropolitan says that Prof Julius Goebel, professor of German literature in the University of Illinois, has written a really fine historical inquiry into ancient "Deutschtum" in the U. S., and among other things the book proves that Abraham Lincoln was a German and that his real name was Abraham Linkhorn. "That the trouble was with Lincoln's father, who was a poor illiterate, and let his name get Anglicized on him."

As a member of the Ohio society I wish to call your attention further to the famous "German" presidents that my native state has furnished the union, to wit: Ulysses Schultz Grant, Rudy B. Hayes, James Aug. Garfield, Ben von Harrison, Wilhelm Mack Kinlich, Wilhelm Heinrich Taftz.

OLD SUBSCRIBER.

WARM MILK.

GOOD milk is the best of all foods. To be good, milk must be clean, fresh, and cold. It must be free from all forms of contagion.

The Chicago health department has a monthly bulletin for the people entitled "Clean Living." In the May number Dr. A. J. Stokes of the food bureau, Chicago health department, writing on milk, told of the rapid rate at which bacteria multiplied when milk was warm. Specimens of milk containing 15,000 bacteria were kept at 50 to 56 degrees for five hours. At the end of that time the count was 50,000. At this rate of increase milk kept at this temperature and starting with 15,000 bacteria to the c. c., or 15 drops, would have 2,000,000 to the c. c., or 15 drops, in twenty-five hours. Most of the city milk is twenty-five hours old when it is consumed.

Milk kept at 60 to 61 degrees, starting with 15,000 bacteria to the 15 drops, at the end of five hours contains 100,000. Milk kept at 72 degrees, starting with 15,000 to the 15 drops, at the end of five hours contains 400,000. Were the same rate of multiplication to continue at the end of twenty-five hours this milk would contain billions of bacteria to each 15 drops. The bacterial content of milk kept at 98 degrees increased from 15,000 to 3,000,000 in five hours. Were the multiplication to continue for twenty-five hours at the same rate the resulting number would be unthinkable. There is no probability that milk will be kept at 98 degrees. Perhaps some misguided women try to keep baby's milk for a few hours at this temperature in a thermos bottle or some similar device.

But much of the milk gets to 72 degrees at some time or other—on the country wagon, the railroad platform, on the train, in the dairy, or in the kitchen. Even milk good at the beginning of its journey to the consumer will be bad if held for long at a temperature above 55.

The summer time is right at hand. For the next four months the most important disease will be summer complaint in babies. Thousands of babies will die and many thousands will be ill. Bad milk will be the most important single cause for these conditions. A mother may not be able to control what happens to the milk on the farm or on the railroad, but she can at least control its temperature while it is in her possession. She must not let it go over 55. Fifty is better still, and under 50 is even better.

PYORRHEA.

Pat writes: "I am troubled with sore gums which bleed quite frequently, though teeth seem sound. Can you advise a preventive?"

REPLY.

You have pyorrhea. Have your dentist clean your teeth and treat your gums. Use an ipecac mouth wash at home. Mouth wash: Three drops of fluid extract of ipecac in half a glass of water.

CATARACT OF EYE.

O. S. writes: "Will you please answer the following questions: 1. What are the first symptoms of cataract of the eye? 2. Can anything be done to retard the development? 3. At what stage of development is the best time for operation? 4. What per cent of such operations are successful? 5. To what extent is the sight restored?"

REPLY.

1. Dimness of vision, clouds before the eyes, objects sometimes appear distorted, sometimes they appear double. The patient commonly seeks the ophthalmologist thinking that he needs to have his glasses changed. The ophthalmologist easily recognizes the trouble.
2. All sources of eye strain should be removed. If the glasses do not fit they should be changed. If the eyes are exposed to bright light or to great heat, as in glass blowing, the man should change his job.
3. One group of specialists say wait two or more years for the cataracts to ripen. Another group say operate as soon as the diagnosis can be made.
4. Practically all of them.
5. Good enough for reading, writing, and ordinary vision.

ASTHMA NOT DANGEROUS.

"Thank You" writes: "Please tell me is there any danger living in the same house with a patient who has asthma and bronchial affection and who coughs and expectorates quite a good deal? [2] What is the best disinfectant and how used? [3] To have all drain pipes perfectly sanitary, what preparation is best to use, and how often? [4] Is there any truth in the old belief that one should not have green paper or calcimine on sleeping room walls?"

REPLY.

1. Be certain the diagnosis of asthma and bronchitis is correct. If it is there is no danger.
2. There is no need to use any disinfectant.
3. None. A properly constructed toilet with proper drains will keep in sanitary condition with ordinary household use.
4. No.

ECZEMA ON BABY.

M. S. writes: "My baby has had a form of eczema since 2 weeks old. It was an eruption which crusted his head with a red, pimply rash. Now, at 2½ months, his skin burns at night during hot weather. [1.] Would you use water for bathing? [2.] Is olive oil the best substitute? [3.] Will ointments do any good? [4.] Are seven teaspoonfuls of lime water a day injurious?

REPLY.

1. Use as little as possible.
2. Any fresh unsalted grease will do. Olive oil is all right.
3. Very little.
4. No.

Eczema in a baby is due to errors in diet. Sometimes the fault is with the mother's diet. It is said that if the mother drinks too much tea the baby will develop the condition. Constipation in the mother is another cause. Regulate your diet. Give the baby some orange juice. Let him drink some water before nursing. He will not get over the eczema until you get his diet right. You may have to wean him, but do not do so unless advised by your physician.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1916: By the Brentwood Company.]

SIR SAVILE CROSSLEY, who has just been raised to the house of lords on the occasion of King George's birthday, is no stranger on this side of the Atlantic, where he has extensive interests.

He is the owner of Somerleyton, which, lying between Lowestoft and Yarmouth, comprises within the limits of the estate the little village of Blunderstone, where "David Copperfield" was born, and in the church yard of which, his father and mother were buried. The church is exactly as Charles Dickens describes it. But the "house with the little white gate, and rows of poplars," which was the supposed scene of David Copperfield's early years, has within the last decade or so been somewhat modernized and done up, much to the disgust of Dickens enthusiasts.

Sir Savile is a good looking man of medium height, compact, wiry, dark, sparing of speech and athletic—he was the champion sprinter at Oxford in 1880—served in the South African war, has for several years been a member of the privy council, enjoys the friendship of the present king, stood high in the favor of Edward VII., and owes his very large fortune to the big carpet manufacturing concern of John Crossley & Sons of Halifax, in Yorkshire.

It was founded by his grandfather, Thomas Crossley. When he took up carpet weaving the steam loom had just superseded the hand loom in cloth weaving, but nobody had any idea of applying steam machinery to such heavy work as carpet weaving. Thomas Crossley, an entirely self-made man, devoted himself night and day to the question of how to accomplish it. One day a stranger walked into his office and showed him a steam carpet loom which he had just patented. Thomas Crossley saw that it was a great idea, obtained the patent rights, and in twelve months had trebled his business.

Within twenty years his family were millionaires. His only son, Francis Crossley, was made a baronet, and was Liberal member of parliament for Halifax. He was a pillar of the Methodist church, which his only son and successor, Sir Savile Crossley, hitherto a baronet but now a full fledged peer, has abandoned for the Church of England. Sir Savile went to Eton and to Oxford, and has done a good deal of game shooting in the Rockies. He has been also member of parliament for Suffolk.

Lady Crossley is a tall blonde, who was Miss Phyllis de Bathe, a sister of Sir Hugo de Bathe, and sister-in-law, therefore, of the former Mrs. Langtry. She is one of the many good looking children of that picturesque old soldier the late Gen. Sir Henry de Bathe. Her sisters are Lady Burnham and the widow of Harry MacCalmont.

Another one of the new peers created on the occasion of King George's birthday is Tonman Mosley a younger brother of the late Sir Oswald Mosely and one of the county magnates of Buckingham, being chairman of the county council of the County Association of Territorial Forces and president of the North Staffordshire Railroad company. He has on several occasions fought very costly parliamentary contests on the Conservative ticket without success and has deserved well of the Unionist party. He is married to a younger daughter of the thirteenth Earl of Eglinton and Montgomerie, and is scion of a very ancient family.

The Mosleys are, in fact, descended from Ernald de Mosley, who flourished in Staffordshire as a local magnate in the reign of King John. Sir Nicholas Mosley was lord mayor of London in 1599, and his son played an important rôle on the royalist side under Charles I. They are a family who have always had a tendency to run wild, and some of them have had the most extraordinary ups and downs. Indeed, the marvelous adventures and romances of the Mosleys would fill a volume, and could have furnished themes for many a novelist, notably to Charles Dickens.

Thus, there was one of them, the Rev. Sir John Mosley, who as the result of being crossed in love, developed into an incurable crank, and, like Dickens' "Mr. Mopes" lived entirely in one room of his big house and refused entrance to any other person. The ashes he threw out himself, and his food was passed to him through a grating, so that he should not look upon a woman's face. He hated women with a whole hearted hatred, and in his grounds he had a covered walk built of bricks so that he might take exercise without being seen. He planted a field of pepper and sugar, to typify love, which shows that there was some method in the old baronet's madness.

Sir Robert Bredon, now in his seventieth year, is due within the next fortnight at San Francisco from Peking, and proposes to spend several months in the United States, which is the native land of his wife; for Lady Bredon is an American, being the youngest daughter of Thomas Crane Banks of San Francisco.

It is understood that Sir Robert, who succeeded his brother-in law, the late Sir Robert Hart, as inspector general of customs in China, and who created the present postal system in that country, of which he was the first postmaster general, will not return to the orient, where has has spent no less than forty-three years of his life, and that he has been accorded a handsome pension by the Peking government.

His mother was a Canadian woman and he himself, after graduating at Trinity college, Dublin, started out in life as a military doctor, serving as a surgeon in the Ninety-seventh regiment of infantry of the British army, until he entered the Chinese imperial customs service in 1878, under the orders of his sister's husband, Sir Robert Hart, of whom he quickly became the principal lieutenant.

Bredon possesses much of the essentially Irish tact, diplomacy, and courtesy of Hart in dealing with the Chinese and has enjoyed their respect and their confidence to an altogether remarkable degree. It was largely owing to this, and to his powers of organization that he was intrusted by the Peking government with the creation of the postal service of the empire, and foot and horse carriers now penetrate into the extreme western China, a distance of more than 2,000 miles from Peking, while postoffices and postal lines extend even to the most remote corners of Tibet. The service comprises a money order system which is in force all over the land, a postal package express service in every big city and even a C. O. D. service.

So efficient, indeed, is the postal service brought into existence by Sir Robert Bredon that most of the important foreign powers have negotiated postal conventions with China, thus rendering possible the abolition of the foreign postoffices in China, which have been a source of so much humiliation and damage to the national pride of the Chinese.

EXCESS INTEREST.

Chicago, Ill., May 2.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—Referring to your answer to R. A. W.'s first question in today's TRIBUNE you state as follows: "The cash value you are advised to take is merely the reserve, but you are now getting all the interest that can be earned on investments of equal security. Part of the interest [3 per cent] is added to the reserve itself, and the balance is included in your dividends." If part of the interest [3 per cent] is added to the reserve itself each year and the balance is included in the dividends, what other component parts make up the remainder of the so-called dividends, and from what sources are these "parts" derived with strictly mutual old line 3 per cent reserve companies? G. C. C.

The other parts consist of the savings in mortality and expense. On well selected risks the actual mortality will not run as high as is indicated by the standard mortality tables, and the difference between the actual and the expected mortality is called a saving. Companies, as a rule, do not use all the money provided in the premium for the expense of conducting the business, so that there is a saving on this item also. In calculating the net premiums, interest on the accumulated reserves is taken into account, but because the policies may run far into the future a conservative rate of interest must be assumed; and, as the companies in fact earn the current rate of interest on high grade investments, their earnings are in excess of their reserve requirements. This excess interest and the savings in mortality and expense make up the so-called dividends.

"PHYSICIAN'S DEFENSE."

Chicago, May 15.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—I have heard of insurance to protect doctors against claims from patients. Is there any insurance to protect druggists against claims for mistakes in prescriptions? V. C. R.

Several insurance companies issue "physicians' defense" and "druggists' defense" policies, by which they undertake to defend against all claims for damages for alleged professional errors. Some of the companies, however, agree only to pay the costs of suits, so that if malpractice or error results in a judgment for damages the judgment is not assumed by the insurance company.

A FIRE AND A MORTGAGE.

Chicago, May 12.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—A bought a house from a real estate man, B, for $2,800, at $500 down and $25 a month, including interest. The lot is worth $400. B holds the first mortgage on it for $1,400. The insurance on it is $2,000. The house burned down. B collected the fire insurance and refuses to rebuild the house for A, but is still holding the title and papers on the lot and foundation. Can B be compelled to rebuild the house for A? Or compelled to give A a clear title to the lot and foundation? Or will A lose everything?

I. P. D. F. I. C.
JOHN CSINCSAK, Secretary.

The rights of the parties depend on the way the insurance was made out. Ordinarily the policy would be issued in the name of A, with loss payable to B as his interest might appear. B would then be entitled in case of loss to collect the proceeds of the policy up to the amount of his claim on the property, but anything he collected would be applied to reduce the debt. If the loss paid by the company exceeded B's claim the whole debt would be extinguished and A would be entitled to the rest of the insurance money. That is to say, A would be the insured and B would collect the money to replace the security destroyed by fire. B could not be compelled to rebuild.

If A was not insured under the policy, either by being named as the insured or by some stipulation in the body of the policy, he has no rights. He is simply uninsured and the loss will fall on him unless he had a separate agreement with B in regard to the insurance.

Chicago, May 15.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—The agent who took my application for insurance put me down for a clerk, although I told him I was running a delivery wagon. If you told the agent the truth about your occupation and he set down something else in the application, you are nevertheless entitled to the amount your policy calls for.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

FLOOD CONTROL AND "PORK."

Chicago, June 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Permit me to congratulate you on the stand which you are taking in reference to the bill for flood control. All patriotic citizens will uphold you in your attitude. The present is the greatest opportunity in the history of the United States for the definite settlement of this vexatious subject.

The people are in favor of the federal government taking charge of this matter and settling it satisfactorily for all time. The politicians most interested fail to grasp this great opportunity, but instead introduce a bill known as the Humphreys-Ransdell bill, which will not only not control floods but serve as an entering wedge for further assaults on the federal treasury.

Ever since before the civil war the people of the south have been trying to prevent damaging floods in the Mississippi by the construction of levees, with the result that these dikes have had to be built higher and wider every year, and yet every flood year sees a break somewhere along the line.

The height of flood water has risen from thirty-five feet in 1882 to forty-five feet in 1916 at Memphis, Tenn., and as more swamp land is reclaimed in the north from year to year the height of flood water will continue to increase. An eminent engineer has said that for every acre of reclaimed land in the north an acre of land is flooded in the south. No levee can ever be built that will not give way somewhere along the line, with the enormous pressure of water pushing against it during flood periods. Consequently there is no merit in the Humphreys-Ransdell bill, which is for "levees only."

It is with admiration, therefore, that we witness Representative Madden in his speech in congress rising to heights of statesmanship in opposing the Humphreys-Ransdell bill and advocating the comprehensive flood control measure, which will control and not aggravate the flood question.

On the other hand, it is with shame and humiliation that we see the minority leader of the house, Congressman Mann, not only voting in favor of this vicious measure but also introducing an amendment increasing the pay of the civilian members of the Mississippi river commission from $3,000 to $5,000 per year each.

I trust you will keep up your good work in opposition to the Humphreys-Ransdell bill and force the introduction of a comprehensive measure which will prevent floods in the Mississippi for all time by controlling the flood waters at their source, as well as lessening the height of water by greater outlets and by the construction of spillways and cutoffs, which plan has been pronounced feasible by some of our most eminent engineers.

PREPAREDNESS FATAL TO ANY PARTY.

Chicago, June 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Can it be that the destiny of this nation is to step backward into militarism—and just when that force has finally and utterly failed? For the great fact which rises out of Europe and looms over the world is that the forty year preparation of science and mechanics and invention and industry and frugality and discipline has failed—Paris has not been taken and despoiled, France has not been stripped and robbed, Belgium will be restored—preparedness has lost its colonies, lost its commerce, and the singing army which started out in the fullest confidence of a quick conquest of Europe has long since ceased to sing. And it always will be so, for it is in the justness of nature (if you do not care to call it God) that they who attempt to flourish by the sword shall perish by it.

Should the Republican party debase itself by nominating its wrecker, or should it commit itself to any gigantic scheme of preparedness, it will be beaten. The woods are full of lifelong Republicans like me—men who believe that in international affairs President Wilson expresses the true spirit of this age and that he correctly sees the duty of this republic.

You do not like President Wilson. You have treated the chief officer of this people meanly. You are confident that you are right. But so were those who made life to Washington a burden and those who caled Lincoln a baboon.

The Wilson administration is taking steps toward sufficient preparedness—even more than we had during the Roosevelt administration—and that is all that the sober judgment of this country will stand for. Those to whom this plan is not satisfactory must be taken as in favor of Prussianizing the United States. That cannot be done. The party that undertakes it will be at that moment as good as gone.

STOP WATCHFUL WABBLING.

Chicago, June 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Permit me to commend your editorial in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE under the heading, "National Need; Republican Opportunity." It is sound advice, cogent, prophetic. In the adjoining column, under "Editorial of the Day," appears the "common sense advice" of Abraham Lincoln, which should be printed in bold type at the head of your editorial column, daily, until the adjournment of the Republican convention, where every delegate could read it.

No nomination should be made by stampede, steam roller process, or in partisan passion, but by fair, deliberate consideration. There is good timber in plenty from which to select a candidate upon whom all factions can unite. Place such a man upon a sound Republican platform and he will win.

By such a course we will end this "watchful wabbling," vacillating administration and with it this "pork barrel" congress, which you so justly pronounce "despicable and dangerous."

HARM REFORMERS DO.

Chicago, June 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Permit an old reader of your valued paper to congratulate you on the splendid article under the head of the Investors' Guide entitled "Too Much 'Reform' Hurts Realty."

THE TRIBUNE is the only one of Chicago's papers which has the clearness of vision and the righteous fearlessness to sound an occasional note of protest against the wave of puritanical hypocrisy which is sweeping this country, partly as a reaction against the intolerably vicious conditions of a few years ago. While somewhat less undesirable than the rule of the vice lords, the meddling of professional reformers and other irresponsible persons has become a serious menace to the prosperity and happiness of the people as a whole.

KAISER HONORS CHIEF OF FLEET AND FOLLOWERS

Scheer Promoted to Full Admiral and Others Rewarded for Services.

AMSTERDAM, June 6, 3 a. m.—Emperor William has promoted Vice Admiral Scheer, who commanded the German high seas fleet in the battle in the North sea, to full admiral, according to a dispatch from Berlin.

The emperor, who arrived at Wilhelmshaven yesterday, has personally awarded the Order of Pour le Merite to Vice Admiral Hipper, who was second in command in the battle. War decorations of various kinds have been awarded other officers and men who distinguished themselves by their services in the battle.

The emperor laid wreaths on the graves of a number of dead buried in the garrison cemetery at Wilhelmshaven. The emperor and empress have visited the wounded in the hospitals at Wilhelmshaven.

Sends Messages of Praise

The German emperor has sent congratulatory messages to Grand Admiral von Tirpitz, the former minister of the navy, and Grand Admiral von Koester, the former grand admiral of the German fleet. The message to Admiral von Tirpitz reads:

"After visiting my fleet, which returned victoriously from a heavy battle, I feel I must convey to you my personal thanks, for what you have performed in my service in the technical domain and the domain of organization. Our ships and weapons upheld themselves brilliantly in the battle in the North sea. It is also for you a day of glory."

Message of German Admiral.

That to Admiral von Koester reads:

"From the fleet flagship, which has returned with fresh laurels, I send to you, the old fleet chief, my imperial salutations. You laid the foundation for the careful employment of all weapons and the tactical training of the fleet. Building on your work and cultivating the spirit implanted by you, your successors have further developed the fleet to a living war instrument that stood so brilliantly its trial fire. The consciousness of having sowed such seed much have been a great source of satisfaction to you."

Claim More German Losses.

LONDON, June 5.—Reports brought to London by officers who took part in the battle in the North sea on Wednesday and received from other sources indicate that the German losses in that contest were much greater than even those which were claimed in the British official reports.

Fleet officers arriving here assert that the great new German dreadnaught Hindenburg was destroyed. They also tell of the destruction of the Lutzow, a vessel of 26,000 tons. A dispatch which comes from Copenhagen asserts that the German battleship Seydlitz, 25,000 tons, was seen crippled and pursued by British vessels, and is believed to have been sunk.

Official denial is given of the German claim that the Acasta, a light cruiser, was destroyed as reported by the Germans. It is admitted the vessel was crippled, but it was towed to port by another vessel.

Wide Difference in Claims.

Comparison of the figures which are issued by the British and German admiralties shows the wide difference in the London and Berlin views of the results of the great contest.

The admitted loss of the Germans, measured in tonnage, is only 32,515 tons. The British claim an additional loss to the Germans of 80,920 tons, making a total of 113,435. The British admit that their total loss was 114,100 tons.

The 80,000 which the Germans do not admit is made up, as the British admiralty officials claim, of the battleship Westfalen, the battle cruiser Derfflinger, a light cruiser, three additional destroyers and one submarine, in addition to the vessels named above.

Tells Heavy Life Loss.

A total of 333 officers were killed in the Jutland battle, according to a list issued by the admiralty today. This list shows that practically all the officers of the cruisers Queen Mary, Invincible, Indefatigable, Defense and Black Prince, and from the destroyers Tipperary, Turbulent, Fortune, Ardent, Nomad, Nestor, and Shark perished.

All the officers except one from the cruiser Warrior were saved and all the officers from the destroyer Sparrow Hawk. On the other ships twenty-three officers were killed and twenty-two wounded.

The admiralty this evening made public an additional list of casualties among petty officers and men in the naval battle off Jutland, as reported from ships other than those sunk. The list shows 116 killed and 233 wounded.

British Version of Fight.

The latest reports received by the British admiralty enabled the Associated Press to give the following review of the battle with various incidents and results, as viewed from the British side:

During the night of May 31-June 1 British destroyers made a determined attack on the retreating German battle fleet, which hastened its flight. The British fleet remained in possession of the scene of battle during the morning of June 1 and traversed the field four times, finding no enemy. The commander in chief took his fleet back to its base at his leisure and five hours after its arrival reported the battle fleet ready for action.

As regards the German losses, definite evidence, it is declared, has now been obtained that they were deliberately falsified and that the following were destroyed:

Two battle cruisers; one at least, and probably two battleships; four light cruisers, eight destroyers and one submarine.

The remainder of the German battle cruiser squadron may have reached home ports, but the ships were all severely damaged, as also were ships of the Koenig class which came under the fire of a portion of the British battle fleet.

Claims a Full Victory.

The battle is claimed to have been a complete victory for the British by the naval expert of the Morning Post, who writes in this morning's issue:

"The salient fact is that the German fleet was outfought, lost heavily, and was chased in disorderly retreat into its ports. Admiral Jellicoe brought his forces to bear upon the enemy at a time and place chosen by him.

"The vanguard of the British fleet was composed of the battle cruiser squadron, supported by a squadron of four fast battleships. Behind this vanguard followed the main battle fleet. The German fleet adopted the same formation, and the Germans lost one, if not three, battle cruisers in the first part of the action, which was fought between the two vanguards of the two fleets.

"Admiral Beatty, after engaging the German battle cruisers, must have turned away when the German battle fleet approached in order to allow the British battle fleet, which was also drawing near, to engage. The armored cruisers which were following the battle cruiser squadron should also have turned aside, and if they had done so it is difficult to see how three of them could have been lost.

May Have Gone Too Far.

"It is possible that owing to some confusion, always likely in such circumstances, they went on, whereupon the approaching German battle fleet sent them to the bottom. Their loss is therefore due to an accident.

"We now come to the moment when the two main fleets joined battle. The action was fought in line, according to the accepted theory of tactics. As the two fleets aproached the lines began to overlap. The first ships of each line probably concentrated their fire on the leading ship of the other.

One, and perhaps two, German battleships were sunk, but no British, and therefore British gunnery was evidently superior. The loss of one, and perhaps two, battleships determined the Germans to retreat. They turned about and steamed pellmell into the haze, heading for their harbors, and pursued by the British fleet."

OFFICER PICTURES FIGHT.

EDINBURGH, June 5.—Survivors arriving here from British destroyers which made a massed attack on a German battleship in the Jutland battle are convinced that they sent to the bottom the deadnaught Hindenburg, the pride of the Germany navy. An officer from one of the destroyers gave the following graphic account of the battle:

"The ships of the grand fleet went into action as if they were going into maneuvers. From every yard arm the white ensign flew, the flag which is to the sailor as the tattered colors were in days of old to a hard pressed regiment. That it went hard with the battle cruisers is apparent, but one ship cannot fight a dozen. They had fought a great fight, a fight to be proud of, a fight which will live longer than many a victory.

"We fought close in to the foe and if anything is certain in the uncertainties of naval battles, it is that we gave at least as good as we got. We passed along the line of German ships some miles away and let off broadside after broadside. The air was heavy with masses of smoke, black, yellow, green, and every other color, which drifted slowly between the opposing lines hiding sometimes friend and sometimes foe.

Iron Duke Hammers Enemy.

"I watched the Iron Duke swinging through the seas, letting off broadside after broadside, wicked togues of flames leaping through clouds of smoke. The din of battle was stunning, stupendous, deafening, as hundreds of the heaviest guns in the world roared out at once. Great masses of water rose in the air like waterspouts, reaching as high as the masts, as the salvoes of German shells fell short or went over their target.

"With the dusk came the great opportunity of the mosquito craft and both sides made use of it to the full. It was in this way that one of the saddest of many sad incidents occurred. A destroyer, true to its name, dashed for the big enemy ship. It soon got into effective range and loosed its torpedo and with deadly effect on a German battleship. The ship went down and the destroyer raced for safety, the commander and officer standing on the bridge, indulging in mutual congratulations at their success. At that moment a shell hit the bridge and wiped out the entire group."

German Story of Fight.

BERLIN, June 5.—[By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.]—An authoritative account of the North sea battle which was issued here today gives the first detailed picture of the progress of the great engagement between the German high sea fleet and that of the British. Many details of the engagement are suppressed for strategic reasons, leaving unsatisfied for the present the German public's thirst for interesting touches in regard to the individual achievements of the German warships and the manner in which the mighty British vessels were sent to the bottom.

The recital, however, meets clearly what is characterized as the British attempt to explain defeat by the statement that the German sea forces in the action were much larger than those which the British were able to bring into play.

This account declares explicitly that twenty-six of Admiral Jellicoe's most powerful battleships, including six of the most modern Queen Elizabeth class, and the entire British flying wing, composed of battle cruisers equal in every respect except armor protection to dreadnoughts, were engaged in all except the early stages of the day battle. The fleet thus assembled surpassed in tonnage and weight of broadsides the German force engaged, was at least equally modern and was far speedier than the squadron of German pre-dreadnoughts which, lumbering along at eighteen or nineteen knots, were soon left far to the rear by their swifter consorts, out of the main action.

Does Not Tell Losses.

For obvious reasons the recital leaves untold the tale of damages sustained by German units and the losses in personnel. It says nothing of the brilliancy in battle tactics displayed by Admirals Scheer and Hipper, the smoothness and precision with which the German ships maneuvered and the deadly sureness of the German marksmanship, although it is an open secret that these three factors were largely responsible for the achievements of the Germans.

It is shown that the Germans on this occasion, unlike the Doggerbank engagement of cruiser squadrons, were able to choose their distance and fight considerable portions of the battle at ranges of about eight miles—now ranked as a moderate distance—at which the German eleven and twelve inch guns were virtually as effective in penetrating power as the big mouthed thirteens, fourteens and fifteens with which the modern British liants are armed.

They laughed and applauded over the novel stunts." Mildred Joclyn in Saturday's Post said: "Some story. Some picture!"

GERMAN CHARGES AGAINST VERDUN ARE BEATEN OFF

PARIS, June 5.—The German armies battling for Verdun continued violent assaults in the region of Dead Man's hill, Hill 304, Fort Douaumont, and Fort Vaux all Sunday, and were repulsed, official reports to the French war office say. Bad weather today put a stop to the operations.

Despite the recent German successes around Verdun, the French officers in command remain confident the city will not be taken.

In their repeated attacks on Fort Vaux the Germans are hurling forward their infantry in masses so compact that the first ranks are obliged to advance to certain death. In several cases the front ranks, pushed on by those behind, fell as fast as they reached the dead line, swept by the French quick firers. As they toppled over others came on to take their places, and fall in turn, until the bodies lay in piles on the blood soaked ground.

French Official Reports.

On the left bank of the river Meuse there has been an intermittent bombarding. East of the river the artillery fighting has continued with extreme violence in the region of Thiaumont and Douaumont. The Germans continued yesterday evening and last night their attacks upon our positions at Vaux and Damloup. To the northwest of Fort Vaux on the slopes of the Fumin wood, repeated German advances were checked by our fire. All the assaults between the fort and the village of Damloup also were broken.

There was ferocious fighting between the garrison of Vaux fort and the detachment of the enemy who were attempting to penetrate this position. In spite of the fact the enemy made great use of flaming liquids, our troops prevented their adversaries from making any progress.

In the Vosges an attack by the enemy at a point west of Carspach resulted in their becoming possessed of three trenches. Shortly after we delivered a counter attack and drove the Germans from all the positions they occupied.

German Official Report.

The British yesterday evening attacked the positions captured by us southeast of Ypres. The attack broke down.

A feeble attack which was undertaken by the French, after gas preparation, near Prunag, in the Champagne, resulted in failure.

West of the Meuse our artillery fired on the enemy's batteries and trenches with good success. French infantry attempted an advance on our trenches west of the Haucourt-Esnes road and was repulsed.

East of the river fighting continued with undiminished violence between Caillette wood and Damloup. The enemy's infantry in mass formation attempted to regain positions captured by us during the last few days. All attacks were without success and were repulsed with the heaviest losses.

Many Canadians Lost.

Ottawa, Ont., June 5.—Although the militia department had not received details today regarding the defense by the Canadians in the latest battle at Ypres, a list of officers' casualties indicates that the engagement was one of the biggest in which the soldiers from the Dominion have played a part. The casualties include two generals, four colonels, eight majors, twenty-one captains, and sixty-six lieutenants. Three battalion commanders are dead and one is missing.

CAUCASUS RUSS DRIVEN BACK TWENTY-FIVE MILES.

All Attempts to Recover Lost Ground Prove Failures, Constantinople Reports.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 5.—The reinforced Turkish army in the Caucasus, which late last month began an offensive campaign, has driven the Russians farther back, the war office announced today. The statement follows:

All attempts of the enemy to cover his retreat or to regain his positions collapsed with heavy losses under our bayonet attacks. We captured fifty soldiers, two machine guns, and other arms and engineering material.

Russ Claim Success.

PETROGRAD, June 5.—The war office tonight gave out the following report on operations in the Caucasus:

In the direction of Erzingan the Turks repeatedly attacked with strong forces, but without success. An engagement in Barnakaband road continues. Near Rivandouza the fighting also continues. Our troops have inflicted heavy casualties on the Kurds. One of our columns found two mountain guns buried.

BERLIN [via wireless to Sayville, L. I.], June 5.—The allies lost forty-seven aeroplanes during May, as against sixteen for the Germans, according to the semi-official news agency today.

SANTO DOMINGO REVOLT CAUSES SERIOUS CRISIS.

Navy Department Admits That Capt. Hirshinger Was Killed in Landing American Marines.

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—With the navy department admitting the death of Capt. Herbert L. Hirshinger of the marine corps, killed in landing his men to suppress the Santo Domingo rebellion it became known today that conditions have reached a serious stage in the black republic. When the forces that are now on their way reach Puerta Plata Rear Admiral Capterton will have more than 3,000 marines at his command.

"I believe this force will be sufficient to maintain order both in Haiti and Santo Domingo," said the secretary of the navy this afternoon.

Mr. Daniels declared he did not know how many natives had been killed in the engagement which cost the life of Capt. Hirshinger. Others in his office asserted no details of the fight had been received, although it took place five days ago.

PROPORTIONS OF U. S. FLAGS STANDARDIZED BY WILSON.

Executive Order from White House Decides on Size of the National Banner.

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—The proportions of the American flag are standardized by an executive order issued today from the White House, occasioned by the previous existence of many different sizes of the banner. The approved proportions for the flag now are: Hoist [width] of flag, 1; fly [length] of flag 1.9; hoist of union, 7-13; fly of union, .76, width of each stripe, 1-13.

The position and size of the stars are to be according to the plan, to be provided by the navy and war departments.

RUSSIANS STORM AUSTRIAN LINES; CAPTURE 13,000

Slavs Win Victory in Attacks from Pripet Marshes to the Roumanian Border;

PETROGRAD, June 5.—Russian forces have won considerable successes along the front from Pripet marshes to the Roumanian frontier, according to an official announcement issued here today. It is stated that the Russians took 13,000 prisoners. The announcement says:

The German artillery has bombarded the Ikskull bridgehead. In the Dvinsk region north of the Poniewesch railway the enemy, following gusts of fire, attempted an offensive, but was repulsed.

Sunday morning an engagement began on the front from the Pripet to the Roumanian frontier, supported by artillery. Our troops obtained successes on many important sectors and took 13,000 prisoners and a number of guns and machine guns.

In the development of the engagement our artillery destroyed successive enemy shelter works, enabling our infantry to capture enemy positions. In the course of the fighting, Col. Lourie was killed and Col. von Talgie was seriously wounded.

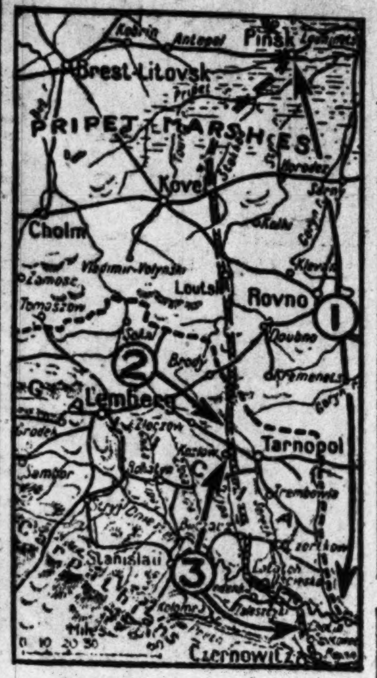
Austrian Official Report.

VIENNA, June 5.—Russian troops on the Pruth-Kolki front, northwest of Tarnopol, penetrated the Austrian trenches, but were driven out in a bloody counter attack, according to the official statement today. The report indicates that the Russians are continuing with vigor the general attack started June 3, probably in an effort to relieve the Italians of the pressure of the attacking Austrians. An official announcement issued yesterday follows:

The enemy's artillery this morning entered into action on the whole Bessarabian and northeastern front. The artillery fire was especially violent on the Dniester and lower Stripa, northwest of Tarnopol, and in Volhynia. A sector twenty-five kilometers long near Olyka held by the army of Col. Gen. Archduke Joseph Ferdinand was under the Russian gunfire.

The Russians made an attack with gas on the Dniester, but did no damage to the Austro-Hungarian forces. Everywhere there are signs of impending infantry attacks.

Scene of New Russian Offensive.



1—Petrograd reports Russian forces have won successes along front from Pripet marshes to below Czernowitz, in which 13,000 prisoners were taken.

2—Vienna reports the Russians penetrated Austro-Hungarian lines northwest of Tarnopol, but were driven out in a bloody counter attack. Believe new offensive is for purpose of relieving pressure on Italian front.

House Passes Bill Limiting Passenger Capacity and Calling for Permit for Each Special Trip

Washington, D. C., June 5.—A bill to further safeguard life on excursion steamers drawn by Chairman Alexander of the house merchant marine committee after results of the government investigation of the Eastland disaster were disclosed was passed today by the house. It limits the passenger carrying capacity of such vessels, requires that separate permits be obtained from steamboat inspectors for each special excursion trip, and permits appeals from the rulings of local inspectors. It has not yet passed the senate.

AUSTRIANS TAKE 5,600 ITALIANS IN TYROL DRIVE

VIENNA, June 5.—Notwithstanding stanch resistance by the Italians, the Austro-Hungarian troops have made further gains in their offensive, the war office announced today, and yesterday took 5,600 prisoners. The announcement follows:

The Italians are offering stubborn resistance with strong forces along the main ridges south of the Posina valley and before the Austro-Hungarian front between Monte Cengio and Asiago.

Accordingly, violent engagements were begun in this district. The Austro-Hungarians drew nearer the Bostelide positions and gained considerable territory in east Monte Cengio. The town of Celsana already is within the Austro-Hungarian lines. The enemy was repulsed wherever he made counter attacks.

Yesterday 5,600 Italians were made prisoner. Among them are seventy-eight officers. We also captured three cannon, eleven machine guns, and 126 mine throwers.

On the lower Voyusa [in Albania, north of Avlona] Italian detachments were dispersed by our artillery fire.

Italian War Report.

ROME, June 5.—Austrian attacks in the Lagarina valley, where a vigorous attempt was made to carry the important Italian position at Coni Zugna were repulsed with heavy losses, the war office announced tonight. The Austrians were also driven back while endeavoring to advance in the Posina sector, the report states.

An Italian retirement under an attack by superior forces in the Cengio zone is admitted. The text of the statement follows:

In the Dalgone valley, on June 3, enemy detachments attacked by surprise our advanced post in the neighborhood of Malga Staboletto, but on the arrival of reinforcements we counter attacked and put the enemy to flight.

In the Ledro valley there was intense but ineffective artillery activity by the enemy.

In the Lagarina valley, after the customary bombardment with the heaviest of projectiles, the enemy yesterday attempted a diversion against the section of the front between Monte Giovo and Tierno, while making a real attack upon our Coni Zugna position, but was repulsed with heavy losses.

Decimate Austrian Force.

In the Pasubio sector there has been an artillery duel and skirmishes between small detachments. Along the front between Posina and the Astico the enemy, after vigorous artillery preparation, repeated his violent efforts in the direction of Monte Alba and Col Posina. A desperate struggle ensued and the enemy infantry, decimated by our fire, fell back in disorder.

In the Cengio zone on Saturday night the enemy, attacking with decidedly superior forces, compelled our troops to evacuate their positions and retire on the line of the Canaglia valley, where they have been reinforced. We retain possession of the western slope of Monte Cengio as far as Schiri. Two violent enemy attacks on the same night against these positions broke down.

On the remainder of the front, as far as the Brenta, there has been an artillery action.

PAINTS COLONEL AS BUILDER OF AMERICAN NAVY

The following article is contributed by Henry Reuterdahl, the best known American writer on naval subjects. It embodies his views on Col. Roosevelt with respect to the American navy.

BY HENRY REUTERDAHL.

When you see a superdreadnaught steam up the harbor with its guns mounted high, with armor way above the water, remember T. R. Had it not been for Roosevelt, the present American type of superdreadnaught might never have existed. He not only made the ship possible, but because of him the American navy has learned how to shoot.

Only those in the navy know and appreciate what Theodore Roosevelt has done. He has never said much himself and the full story of how he stood by the younger men fighting to make a better navy has never all been told.

Roosevelt's interest in the navy is of long standing. Many years ago he wrote his history of the war of 1812. The lessons it taught as to the value of preparedness were not taken seriously. Our ships were then few and none of them efficient.

Colonel a Naval Student.

There are not many people who know the extent of his knowledge of naval and military matters. He has not only grasped the underlying principles, but he has found time to keep himself informed on many of the details and there are naval officers who do not understand the principles of naval gunnery as well as he does.

While president, he freely consulted officers of all grades so as to get at the general sentiment of the service. He found men who could serve him and if one failed he simply found another; he felt that we could not afford to let the whole works go because one man fell down. He felt that several of his advisers may have made mistakes, but he attempted to take the best of their advice and leave the bad.

Shakes Off Red Tape.

As far back as 1897, when Theodore Roosevelt was only an assistant secretary of navy, he began to rip things up in the navy department. He came to his desk like a whirlwind; he was there to work and not to play the politician.

The cumbersome machinery of the navy department was clogged with red tape and the secretary was John D. Long, president of the Massachusetts Peace society.

Mr. Roosevelt's dynamic energy opened up the labyrinths of red tape and he shook off the lethargy of tradition and routine. He said: "I am trying to devise a system by which, if a captain of a ship which was tied to a navy yard dock saw a coil of rope on the dock and wanted it, he could get that coil of rope without going through an endless mass of red tape."

And right today he is bending his energies to fight the pork barrel appendix in the reëstablishment of an engineer corps formed of civilians. This will reopen all the bickering and lobbying of the days of the old engineer corps which he helped to abolish seventeen years ago.

Urges Better Gunnery.

"The shots that hit are the shots that count," has always been Roosevelt's motto. His attention as assistant secretary of navy was then attracted by the press accounts of the records made in foreign navies.

He was, of course, assured by the bureau of the navy department that we could shoot as well if not better than any other navy. He was not satisfied. With characteristic thoroughness he directed that all possible information be obtained as to foreign records and the methods by which the gunnery personnel was trained.

This information showed to his satisfaction that there were, at least, grave doubts as to our efficiency.

He at once had a board of officers appointed to make a report covering the entire subject, but before this board could finish its report its work was interrupted by the beginning of the Spanish war.

Asks Target Practice Money.

As assistant secretary, Mr. Roosevelt was without final authority, but his chance to act came. Secretary Long absented himself on a brief trip and made him acting secretary.

Before Mr. Long had actually left Washington, Mr. Roosevelt had written to Mr. Hale and Mr. Boutell, chairmen of the naval committees, and urgently requested $500,000 for target practice and an increase of 1,500 men.

Mr. Long's private secretary telegraphed his chief the awful news of this breach of etiquette before he had even reached Baltimore. The secretary of navy returned posthaste and stayed in Washington to keep his weather eye on his bellicose assistant.

First Preparedness Apostle.

As assistant secretary of navy, Mr. Roosevelt's splendid intelligence and brilliant aggressiveness penetrated every department of the naval service. In fact, he was the navy department. He was in office only about a year, but he did more for the permanent improvement of the service in that short time than any other secretary save Whitney or Meyer. Roosevelt, the civilian, was our first real apostle of preparedness—then as well as today.

Our successful defeat of the poor Spaniard was followed by the stagnation which has always been the result of a victorious war.

The progress in gunnery in other navies was overlooked. Our own miserable shooting at Santiago of 123 hits and over 9,000 misses stood as a crushing indictment of our continued unpreparedness.

In 1900 a well informed officer said: "The navy has never been in a relatively more inefficient condition." Such was the state of affairs when Mr. Roosevelt, this time as the president and commander in chief of the navy, again took up the fight for preparedness and straight shooting.

These conditions could not continue. The navy would not manage its own affairs. Sims as a last resort appealed directly to Roosevelt as president. The colonel ordered Lieut. Sims' reports to be printed and distributed to all the ships in service.

Poor Battleship Gunnery.

An official test was made and five battleships of the north Atlantic fleet sent to sea for target practice. Shooting at a condemned lightship with the fleet firing all their broadsides resulted in three hits. These three hits represented the fighting efficiency of five of our battleships which had cost the country $30,000,000.

One of the "battleships" steamed alongside the lightship, blew it full of holes and sent it to the bottom in order that the navy department should escape public criticism for this remarkable fiasco as the material evidence of our inferiority. In 1901, one year previous, the British cruiser Terrible had all alone hit the target 114 times. Further comment became unnecessary.

As president of the United States Roosevelt recognized at once from this demonstration that the navy possessed no real fighting power, and that its condition invited disaster and humiliation.

Fleet Becomes Gun Crazy.

The "Big Stick" overcame continuous resistance to criticism by the bureaus. The modern system was inaugurated on a basis which fixed personal responsibility. The backbone of the method was a real target, a small rectangular piece of canvas, and nothing counted except the holes. The president established the prizes and the gun pointers received extra pay upon qualifying as expert. Money was given to the crews of the best guns and target practice was transformed into a sport and a gun crew into a football team.

The effect was instantaneous, the officers and the men tackled the new system with vim and enthusiasm.

Roosevelt's success while president in making the navy efficient is unique. From the first he grasped the essential fact that rapid hitting spells victory and missing shots defeat.

There is no other case in all military history where reform of similar importance has been accomplished with such thoroughness and speed in time of peace. Such reforms are almost always the result of indignant public opinion aroused by national disaster, or by inefficiency revealed by actual war.

By overcoming the inertia and resistance of the bureau system President Roosevelt increased our naval preparedness and established a new era.

Navy's Efficiency Lowered.

Every officer of the navy knows that this era has not been maintained. That the efficiency of the navy has become lowered is only natural. The high standard set by Roosevelt was not followed. The spirit of the navy flickered away. When Roosevelt was first president our navy stood second; today it is a lagging fourth.

"Perdicaris alive or Raussouli dead," was Theodore Roosevelt's slogan in foreign affairs. An American abroad was always safe and "pussyfooting" was an unknown word.

Under him the American fleet became an instrument for peace, and its chief function was to maintain the honor of the American nation. When a certain European power threatened the Monroe doctrine, no "notes" came from the White House.

European Power Backs Down.

The ambassador of this power was quietly but tersely told by Roosevelt that with a superior American fleet in the West Indies, no foreign naval force could strategically or tactically exist. It could not maintain communications or guard its flank in case of war. The ambassador of this foreign power knew that our fleet was second in the world. His sovereign was allowed to back down with grace

When Japan questioned our school laws in California, Roosevelt ordered the fleet "from one coast to another." With the fleet of sixteen battleships once in the Pacific, Japan promised to be good, and peacefully the American fleet accomplished its mission to prevent war.

Incidentally, by reason of this cruise the navy reached a pinnacle of efficiency never since attained. On railroad time, to the minute, the fleet swung into the Golden Gate, having accomplished its object to maintain American prestige abroad.

Bravo, Detroit!

"When our train arrived at Detroit a reception committee, headed by Messrs. Henry B. Joy and Hugh Chalmers, was on hand. Also on hand was one of the best-natured and most compact mobs I ever lost a suit case in. But before I tell about my suit case I must tell about the reception committee. It was such a committee as few American cities could assemble, for the reason that few American cities possess such a group of able, open-minded, public-spirited young business men as may be found in Detroit. Had we a country full of Detroits the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt on the Republican ticket would, as I write, be a certainty instead of a mere likelihood."

The committee which invited Roosevelt to Detroit was composed of the city's leading men: Gentiles, Jews, Protestants, Roman Catholics; Democrats, Progressives, Republicans. As the Detroit "Free Press" declared editorially:

"It is an unusual happening when men of every variety of political belief unite in asking a public man to come to them and address them on public issues. It is perhaps a unique happening when they unite for such a purpose at the beginning of a campaign. Yet that is what has taken place in relation to Mr. Roosevelt's visit. . . . The desire to hear him and to do him honor rises above partisanship and reaches the lofty plane of pure patriotism. It is Theodore Roosevelt, the American citizen, not Theodore Roosevelt, Progressive or Republican or presidential candidate, whom American citizens will cheer today."

"Lower Gas Bills"—No. 14

The Gas Company's Offer

Give us permission, the company says to the city council, to make and sell "heat unit" gas instead of obsolete and expensive "candle power" gas.

We, in turn, will put into effect immediately a schedule of rates materially lower than present rates.

This lower rate schedule will be subject to further revision when our property is valued, and can always be revised at any time by the properly constituted authorities.

Present gas rates must be increased unless we are permitted to make and sell "heat unit" gas. The facts in support of this are clear and conclusive, and easily understood.

Why This Offer Is Fair

The company's proposal is plain, open and above board. It is definite. There are no strings to it.

The company is not "driving a bargain." It does not even seek to bind the city to the new rates for a fixed period. It offers immediately lower rates and leaves the door wide open for further rate revision at any time.

The "heat unit" gas would do all the work of "candle power" gas at less cost. Is that a good reason for shutting it out?

Acceptance of the company's proposal would help everybody that uses gas and hurt nobody but the Oil Monopoly. Why, then, should action be delayed.

Proposed Gas Rates Offer Big Savings!

YOU BUSINESS MEN—thousands of you—now using gas for fuel, would have your monthly bills immediately cut 20 to 40 per cent by the gas rates offered in our proposal to the city council

YOUR business is TAXED that much—from 20 to 40 per cent of your fuel bills—without the SLIGHTEST benefit to anybody else—except the Oil Monopoly. The reason? Its as simple as A B C.

With gas largely used for fuel, and with mantles universally used for gas lighting, Chicago's "candle power" requirement is useless—obsolete. But while it is retained gas cannot be sold below 80 cents. The high—and permanently high—price of the oil required in making "candle power" gas, forbids a reduction. The price must soon be raised, in fact—perhaps as much as 15 cents a thousand—if "heat unit" gas is not authorized.

THIS INDEFENSIBLE SITUATION results: You business men are needlessly penalized to the extent of 20 to 40 per cent of your monthly fuel bills.

ALL CONSUMERS are denied immediately lower rates and further reductions, to come from increased industrial use of gas, are delayed. That is the net result of clinging to obsolete "candle power" gas.

Examples of Proposed Rate Savings

Manufacturing plants, shops, factories, hotels, restaurants, stores—businesses of all kinds—all over Chicago would profit by these lower rates offered by the Gas Company. You have seen some typical cases figured out in these advertisements. Here are two more specific illustrations brought out by the questions of interested customers:

Question. By The Greenduck Company, manufacturers of metal novelties, Van Buren Street and Hoyne Ave.: Would you kindly indicate just how the proposed rates would affect us?	Question. By Boynton & Company, moulding manufacturers, 1725-39 Dickson Street: We would like to know what difference it would make in our gas bill if we went to this other basis?
Answer. On the basis of your bills paid for the first four months of 1916, the proposed new rates would have saved you 24.4 per cent.	Answer. On the basis of your bills paid for the first four months of 1916, the proposed new rates would have saved you 35 per cent.

YOUR Comments and Queries on Gas Are INVITED

If the above is not perfectly clear to you, ask us the question that puzzles you. The answer will be in one of these advertisements which appear every Tuesday and Thursday in this paper.

Address Department B, Peoples Gas Light & Coke Company, and watch for the answer. If you have missed any of these advertisements—this is No. 14 of the series—they will be sent on request.

LINEMEN AGREE TO END STRIKE; MEN GET RAISES

Two Hundred Commonwealth Edison Employes Return to Work Today.

Two hundred striking linemen will go back to work for the Commonwealth Edison company this morning, the strike, which began three weeks ago, having been settled by the granting of pay increases averaging between 40 and 50 cents a day. According to officials of the company, the 100 other members of the striking union, local No. 9, accepted their raises and returned to work last week.

Members of the union declared last night that the "wrecking crew" arrested Saturday night had not been operating under the union's auspices, and that their identification as members of No. 9 was a mistake. The police deny this. They say they have admissions that eight strikers arrested were among those who blew up property of the Commonwealth Edison company with dynamite stolen from the Ætna Explosives company's plant at Willow Springs.

After announcing the confessions, Acting Chief of Detectives Mooney predicted five more arrests and left the bureau with eight of his men. Chief Mooney said he would confer with State's Attorney Hoyne and prepare to take the case to the grand jury at once.

Evidence Called Complete.

Most of the eight men now held have made admissions of guilt, although the evidence against them was already complete, he said.

Lieutenant Mooney says that he has evidence that the subject of dynamiting the company's property was brought up at a meeting of strikers at 740 West Madison street. A committee of twelve was selected to use the explosives, he added.

One hundred pounds of dynamite, 1,116 feet of fuse, and 2,000 caps were stolen from the explosives company's plant on the nights of May 27 and 28.

Some of Dynamite Found.

HELEN KELLER SENSES "NEW DAY FOR WOMEN."

"Tonight Marks Birth of a New Fellowship," She Says at Woman's Convention.

No one sensed the thrill of enthusiasm and the meaning of the woman's convention last night more fully that did Helen Keller who halted her lecture tour in order to be present at what she characterized as "a new day for women."

Mrs. J. A. Macy of Boston, her teacher and companion, sat beside her and held her hand and through a system of finger telegraphy conveyed to her the scenes she could not see, and the words she could not hear. Miss Keller wore the suffrage streamers of white and gold pinned to her dress.

"Tonight marks the birth of a new fellowship, the launching of a tremendous principle," she said in deep tones. "It is a day of new opportunity and new power for women—the day in which we abandon the age long fetters and reach out for the larger chance and a new life, shoulder to shoulder with man."

Miss Keller said Roosevelt is "the most to be feared man in the United States today."

WOMAN LURES G. O. P. MAN TO $500 HOLDUP SPOT?

Visitor Goes to Keep a Date and Is Held Up as He Steps Out of Taxicab.

Bert Schumacher of Grand Rapids, Mich., arrived two days ago for the G. O. P. convention. He made a "date" with a young woman. He called her on the telephone yesterday, but, she said, he could not call because her brother was home, but to come in the evening.

Last night he took a taxicab and rode to 104 West Oak street. As he dismissed the cab driver two men approached him and said they were policemen. They threatened him with arrest, saying they knew all about his intended meeting with the young woman. The "policemen" searched him and took $500, he says.

Then they led him to a patrol box "to call the wagon." They told him to wait. He waited and when they did not return he went to the Chicago avenue station and reported his experience.

SKIDDING AUTO HURTS TWO.

Doren Beggs, aged 9, and her 7 year old brother, Jack, were slightly injured Sunday afternoon when they were struck by an automobile which skidded off the Sixty-fifth drive on to the parking in Jackson park. The machine which skidded had been disabled and was being towed by another auto driven by J. B. Bergougnoux of 5922 Racine avenue. The children received several cuts and bruises and were taken to the Illinois Central hospital for treatment. They were later taken to their home at 6052 Kenwood avenue by their parents.

U. S. GRAND JURY SWORN.

First Work of June Body Is Sifting Charges of Concealing Bankruptcy Assets.

Judge George A. Carpenter swore in the June federal grand jury yesterday. The judge instructed the jurors to finish the cases before them within the month. The first case to be considered was that of Mandel Block, Barnet Rosen, and George Block, accused of concealing assets in a bankruptcy suit. The men conducted the business of the National Romper company and several months ago went into bankruptcy. It is charged in the indictment returned that $40,000 worth of assets were concealed.

WARNS WORLD U. S. WILL STAY IN ARMAMENT RACE

Noted Economist at Chicago University Says Nation Will Follow Any Pace.

"We should make it clear to all nations that as long as they engage in their mad race in naval and military power the United States also will compete. We can stand such competition better than other nations, because we are without the fearful handicaps which the war has brought to them."

This was the preparedness plea of Irving Fisher, noted economist and professor of political economy at Yale university, at the departmental conference of the social science group held in Harper assembly room at the Chicago university yesterday.

Will Keep Armament Pace.

"We have it in our power to bring home to the rest of the world," Prof. Fisher said, "the supreme folly from the standpoint of world economy of armament racing. Certainly our counsels will be more attentively listened to if other nations realize that a failure to listen to them will mean for them a more costly and more hopeless military competition than ever before.

"Can we afford to keep out of the competition in armament? To me the answer seems as plain as the multiplication table. So long as other nations compete in armameents the United States must do so. The advice of the extreme pacifists represents simply the survival of ideas of national defense entirely proper before we were near Europe, but out of date today.

"International racing in armaments is quite analagous to the 'cut throat' competition with which the economists are familiar in the business world. We must either compete with the rest or combine with the rest. There is no middle course."

Urges Legal Changes.

Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard law school, who is considered the leading juristic scholar in the country, urged a program of legal organization and preparedness.

"In few places," he said, "are the evidences of our lack of organization more striking than in the law. A branch of law is attacked by many workers from divergent viewpoints. The criminologist, the sociologist, the police officer, the economist the medical man—all look on the legal and statutory necessities in a different light.

"We need some legal organization—some scheme of juristic preparedness—whereby the differing opinions and needs will be correlated and legislatures made to follow a definite, scientifically efficient plan of action.

"I would suggest a ministry of justice to act as special advisers to legislative bodies and organize and prepare them for the work for which they are now so poorly fitted."

Teamster Takes Poison.

William Laub of 651 Milwaukee avenue, a teamster, while despondent, took poison yesterday. It is thought he will recover.

To Republican Citizens

On June 2 the Roosevelt Republican League of Michigan published an open communication to the citizens of Michigan, in which the following statements were made:

> "The two great issues before the country are single-minded Americanism and an intelligently planned and adequate preparedness.
> "Of all our public men, we believe Theodore Roosevelt stands most definitely for these principles; that he is best known to all people; that he is best equipped to succeed at the polls."

Proof of the truth of one of these statements is found in the result of a straw ballot just completed by the Detroit News—a paper which cannot justly be termed pro-Roosevelt in its sympathies.

The final result of this ballot as printed in the News of June 2 was as follows:

HOW THE VOTES STAND

	Roosevelt	Hughes	Wilson
Total vote tabulated to date	7,912	2,029	7,647
Roosevelt's lead over Wilson, 265
Vote tabulated today	196	24	73
Roosevelt's gain over Wilson today, 123

CLASSIFICATION OF TOTAL VOTE

Factories	2,390	534	2,754
Retail stores	2,275	526	2,362
Professional men	753	269	776
Business offices	678	101	405
Mail	702	75	252

These are the principal classifications embracing more than two-thirds of the total vote taken.

What does this indicate to you?

To us it confirms our conviction of the truth of the statement that Roosevelt is the best equipped man to carry the Republican party to victory next November and to meet the tremendous responsibilities with which the country is confronted.

It further indicates that the strongest man available is absolutely necessary to make Republican victory possible.

From $11 to $19 More Per Set
(according to the binding)

Encyclopaedia Britannica

After eleven days—eleven working days—this great opportunity will be closed.

You know how other prices are rising—that many forms of steel have doubled and quadrupled—that copper has doubled, lead has tripled in price, that many chemicals, dyes and fertilizers are almost unobtainable.

All these things have equally affected the cost of making books. We made an enormous contract with the publishers of the Encyclopaedia Britannica when we arranged with them for a new and cheaper issue of their new Eleventh Edition. We cannot renew this contract.

After June 17th, for whatever new supplies we can obtain, we shall have to increase the price from $11 to $19 per set, according to the style of binding.

The stock we have on hand is going rapidly and on June 17th our sale must close.

Orders posted anywhere in the United States before 7.33, the hour of sunset in Chicago on that date, will be filled if possible. But some of the bindings are so near to exhaustion that if you wish to make absolutely sure, it will be much better to send your order today.

The Encyclopaedia Britannica is a work you need in your home. Your children need it. There is no other like it in the world. No other ever cost as much. No other is at once so useful and of such high authority. You will be proud of it when you have it, and marvel that you could have gotten along without it.

And you can have it now, at an astonishingly low price and for a first payment of a single dollar.

Remember that on the remarkable offer we make you take no risk. We take it all. We guarantee your absolute satisfaction. (See below.)

The stock we have on hand is going rapidly and on June 17th our sale must close.

Remember that on the remarkable offer we make you take no risk. We take it all. We guarantee your absolute satisfaction. (See below.)

At ⅓ the Cost

The new Eleventh Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica is now published in two forms: the larger size, called the Cambridge University issue, and a smaller size, called the "Handy Volume" Issue. Every page, every line, every word, in the two issues is the same—every illustration, every drawing, every map. The only difference is the size of the page and the type.

The Cambridge University issue sells at $166 to $250 per set. We offer you now the same work in a smaller form, as handsomely bound and printed, at one-third these prices and on easy monthly payments if you desire. That is, simply by setting aside a little more than ten cents a day you can soon be owner of this splendid new edition of the Britannica, and you will pay for it only one-third as much as 75,000 other people have already paid, $14,000,000, for the larger-sized issue.

Our Absolute Guarantee

We Guarantee that the "Handy Volume" Issue is authorized by the publishers of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica; that its contents are identical, page for page (including every map and illustration), with the Cambridge University issue now selling at three times the price; that it is manufactured by the same printers and binders as the more expensive book; that it is printed on the same quality of India paper, from newly made plates; and that, because it is smaller, it is easier to handle than the Cambridge issue.

We Guarantee complete and entire satisfaction with the contents of the Encyclopaedia Britannica and with the form of our "Handy Volume" Issue. To anyone, who for any reason is not satisfied and returns the set within three weeks, we guarantee to return all he has paid (including shipping charges.)

COURT MARTIAL OF GUARDSMEN TO BEGIN TODAY

BY FLOYD P. GIBBONS.

San Antonio, Tex., June 5.—[Special.]—Fourteen men from the regular and civilian military forces of the United States assemble here tomorrow to make an exemplary demonstration of the truism that national guard organizations of the various states constitute a dangerous environment for the "boy who was not raised to be a soldier."

The fourteen men are members of the court martial which has been ordered by President Wilson to place on trial the Texas national guardsmen who refused to muster into the regular army service when the president on May 9 officially called upon the militia of three states to respond for duty on the Mexican border.

The cases promise to be of great interest to the thousands of national guardsmen in every state, particularly if there are any among them who enlisted for the reason they looked well in uniform or received a ten days' vacation on pay every year at the expense of the government.

Not an Ordinary Offense.

It is to be no court martial such as is held for failure to salute the officer who might work in the office with you when not in uniform, or for the lack of luster on a pair of regulation boots. It is to be a proceeding of such seriousness that long penal sentences, and even worse, are not only within the immediate range of possibilities but are real probabilities.

The government order directing the court martial was issued at Washington on May 26 under section 7 of the act of Jan. 21, 1903, entitled 'An Act to Promote the Efficiency of the Militia and for Other Purposes,' and summons to trial "those members of the organized militia of the state of Texas who, having been called forth to present themselves for muster into the service of the United States to defend the Unied States from further aggressions from Mexico under a call of the president, refused to present themselves for such muster."

Even Death Possible.

The legislative authority of the act under which the court martial has been called places no limitations on the punishment.

The act and the court martial and the offense have analogies in the military records that should prove a real source of worry. In 1863 there was the "draft act," and for evading it there was only one penalty—death. Regular army officers are of the belief that the act under which the present court martial has been called and the national conditions existing at the time of the president's call to muster place as much power in the hands of the court martial here.

As one military observer facetiously puts it, it is just possible that one of the things that will be decided by the court martial will be whether the United States is at war now or at peace.

"If the court martial decides to shoot the guardsmen who refused to muster then the United States is at war with Mexico," he said; "if it only decides to give them life in a federal prison then we are at peace."

See Need of Precedent.

Military disciplinarians of both the regular and militia arms of the service, believe that strict measures will not only elevate the morale of the militia but will be the means of producing a greater and more general respect for the citizen soldiery.

Major Blanton Winship, judge advocate of the United States army, who has been designated to prosecute the cases, is believed to have come with an expression of attitude from the administration which will permit the court martial to proceed unhampered by local political influences.

Many of the guardsmen who at first refused to sign the regular muster have returned to San Antonio with changed minds after the chilly receptions they received when they went back to their home towns. They have all been accepted for muster and are now on duty at various points along the border. But the tardy correction of the original blunder does not make them immune from trial for the first refusal to respond to the president's call.

Mania for Obtaining Railroad Passes Leads to Arrest of Curator.

HE DIDN'T USE THEM.

A mania for collecting railroad passes got F. C. Ketter of Columbus, O., in a great deal of trouble with the federal government yesterday. He was arrested in the lobby of the Auditorium hotel on Saturday by Hinton G. Clabaugh of the department of justice as a suspicious character, following a telegram from E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fé railroad.

According to Mr. Clabaugh, Ketter sent a wire to Mr. Ripley and used the name of P. E. Carr, president of the Coahuila and Zacatecas railroad of Mexico, requesting a pass from Chicago to El Paso, Tex. Mr. Ripley, believing the wire had been sent by President Carr, ordered the pass issued, but soon after discovered that the name had been forged.

He notified Mr. Clabaugh, who went to the Auditorium and posed as a messenger. Ketter was "paged" and when he responded Mr. Clabaugh placed him under arrest. In Ketter's baggage Mr. Clabaugh found fifty railroad passes and fifty-seven bank books.

NEW RULE MAY BRING OUSTING OF TEACHERS

Many Face Dismissal If School Board Adopts Committee's Recommendation.

The tenure of office of teachers in the public schools will be one year hereafter, if the full board accepts the recommendation of its rules committee. Yesterday the committee adopted a rule by a vote of four to one which will permit the board to drop as many teachers every June as it sees fit.

Following is the vote on the new rule:

FOR.

Mrs. C. O. Sethness,
Ernest J. Kruetgen,
Jacob M. Loeb,
Mrs. F. E. Thornton.

AGAINST.

Mrs. William Gallagher.

Mrs. Gallagher asked that action on the new rule be delayed until she knew better its meaning. Mr. Loeb, president of the board and sponsor for the rule, demanded a vote at once. He asked Mr. Kruetgen, chairman of the committee, to give up the chair and he took the gavel himself.

Hangs On Till Death.

"There are 7,800 teachers in the system," said Mr. Loeb, "and there is never a dismissal. No matter how inefficient a teacher may be, she hangs on to her job until she dies of old age.

"If any business firm treated its employés as the board of education does it would go bankrupt. There are scores of teachers in the system, men and women, who are not fit to teach, and if we ever get an efficient system we have got to get rid of the poor teachers."

"I can see no reason why they should not keep their positions so long as their marks are efficient," said Mrs. Gallagher.

Marks No Indication.

"The marks are no indication of what their work is," replied Mr. Loeb. "The persons who give those marks ought to be marked—principals and district superintendents as well as teachers."

The real opposition to the rule probably will come up at the meeting of the board tomorrow, when the rules committee's action will be taken up. It is said that a number of teachers are slated to lose their jobs in June if the rule passes. There has always been an annual election of teachers, but it has been considered only a formality.

There is nothing better than Welch's Lemonade as an evening treat for the whole family. Here's a recipe:

Add one cup of Welch's to one quart of rather sweet lemonade, or, for larger affairs, add one quart of Welch's to four quarts of lemonade.

You want Welch's because it is made from selected grapes for which a bonus is paid. Its purity and wholesomeness are unquestioned.

Twelfth Man Rejected by the State, Fearing Undue Sympathy for the Boy.

If Thomas S. McKinney, a hardware merchant of North Chicago, had two sons or no sons at all the jury box probably would be filled and the hearing of evidence in the Will Orpet murder trial in Waukegan might begin today.

But Mr. McKinney, who was examined for jury service yesterday, has only one son. This lad, who is about Orpet's age, is away from home and probably never heard of the youth on trial or of Marion Lambert, whom he is charged with having killed. Yet he prevented the swearing in of twelve men to try the case.

Four Men Examined.

Ralph Potter, of Orpet's counsel, after hours spent in examining veniremen, found four to his liking and tendered them to the prosecution. Mr. McKinney was one of the panel that would have completed the jury. State's Attorney Dady asked all the stock questions that have proved stumbling blocks to exactly 1,136 veniremen so far, and the four men answered them apparently to his satisfaction.

Then State's Attorney Dady and his associates put their heads together and buzzed for a minute and a half. Mr. Dady said something out loud. Judge Donnelly though he said, "We accept the panel."

"Gentlemen, be sworn," said the judge. The crowd that packed the room held its breath.

"I said, your honor," corrected Mr. Dady, "that we would excuse McKinney peremptorily."

Monotonous Grind Goes On.

"O, I misunderstood you," gasped Judge Donnelly and collapsed back in his chair to watch the long, monotonous grind of questioning begin all over again, again.

And after it was all over the reason the state exhausted one of its last four precious peremptory challenges on Mr. McKinney came out. It was because the venireman has one son about Orpet's age. The state's lawyers feared his sympathy for the boy on trial might influence him to a lenient verdict.

HARVESTER COMPANY SENDS FIFTY TO TRAINING CAMP.

Fifty new recruits were assured for the Fort Benjamin Harrison training camp opening July 5 at Indianapolis, Ind., yesterday, when the International Harvester company announced that fifty of its employes would be sent to the training camp. Notice of the decision was received at headquarters of the Military Training Camps Association at the Federal building. Other corporations and big business concerns are expected to take similar action as a result of the "preparedness" demonstration.

Theodore Roosevelt Jr., son of the former president, will tell the benefits of training camps as he saw them at Plattsburg last year at a 50 cent "booster" luncheon at noon today at the Morrison hotel. Former Assistant Secretary of War Henry S. Breckenridge, who resigned with his chief, Lindley M. Garrison, from president Wilson's cabinet, and Col. Robert M. Thompson, Washington, D. C., president of the Navy league, will be the other speakers.

Admiral Richard Wainwright, U. S. N., hero of Santiago, and Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, U. S. N., chief of naval operations under President Roosevelt, will be principal guests.

BRANDEIS TAKES HIS SEAT.

Washington, D. C., June 5.—Louis D. Brandeis of Boston today took his seat as an associate justice of the Supreme court, the sixty-second citizen to rise to that high distinction.

The ceremonies lifting the new justice from among the rank of attorneys to a seat on the first court of the nation were precisely those by which his predecessors of the last generation were likewise elevated.

Chief Justice White privately administered the oath of allegiance to country, and later when Mr. Brandeis' commission had been read the clerk administered the judicial oath, taken by judges to do equal justice to rich and poor. Then he was escorted to his seat on the extreme left of the bench, where he received the congratulations of the colleague nearest him, Justice Pitney.

"Calendar Girl" Divorcee Married at Crown Point to Clothier.

Mrs. Daniel Schuman.

Lillian Lyman Kantoos, the "calendar girl," is going to forget all about Richard Kantoos, the lace dealer whom she married after a four days' courtship and had arrested two years later for abandonment.

To help the forgetting process she went to Crown Point Saturday night and was married to Daniel Schuman, a clothier. To the marriage license clerk she announced that she "was divorced March 6, 1916." Kantoos was arrested on March 6 and filed a divorce suit against his wife the next day, but, of course, the pretty photographer's model may have been mixed on her dates. Anyway, she's Lillian Lyman Kantoos Schuman now.

It was just a day or two after she came from Shreveport, La., in 1913, to pose for calendars that Miss Lyman met Kantoos in State street, was entertained at a chop suey restaurant, and, before she knew it, was married. All the clothes Kantoos ever gave her, she said, were a string of pearls, a dress "for which she was afterwards sued, a 49 cent kimono, and a pair of gloves.

HOOSIER LEADER BECOMES "FATHER FOR A MINUTE."

Mr. Kealing was telling the story in the lobby.

"I moved into my new room," he said, "and was sitting on the bed getting some papers out of my brief case. Something tickled my skin. I scratched. There was a giggle under the bed and I looked.

"'Come out from there, sir!' I said. The merry smile died and my tormentor crawled out. It wasn't a 'sir' at all but a little girl, who proceeded to weep.

"'I thought you was my farver,' she howled. In a minute there was a knock on the door, and a white, frightened nurse girl came in to claim my uninvited guest."

TORNADOES HIT ARKANSAS; 59 REPORTED DEAD

Little Rock, Ark., June 5.—Fifty-nine persons have been reported dead and more than a hundred injured in a series of tornadoes that swept Arkansas this afternoon. All means of communication are crippled and it is feared the list of dead and injured will be greatly increased by later reports.

The dead thus far reported are as follows:

	Dead.	Injured.
Heber Springs	18	..
De Lark, Dallas county	4	..
Cabot, White county	5	..
Hot Springs	4	..
Morrillton	1	..
Greenland, Washington county	2	..

North Arkansas appears to have suffered most severely, although the storm was general throughout the state.

At Judsonia, one-third of the town was said to have been swept away. The tornado swept clean an area four blocks wide and twelve blocks long. Twenty-five bodies and fifty injured already had been taken from the ruins at 10 o'clock, reports said.

Eugene Cox Jr. Goes to Crown Point, Ind., to Start Second Matrimonial Voyage.

Eugene Cox Jr., a scenic artist, of 404 South Ashland boulevard, who was divorced less than a month ago from his wife, who declared cards and dancing were her "middle name," and refused to lead the life of a stay-at-home, has again embarked upon the matrimonial sea in quest of happiness harbor. He married Myrtle Fietsch, 17 years old, at Crown Point, Ind., yesterday.

Cox had been separated from his first wife for two years. She was but 16 years old at the time of their marriage in 1909.

Her taste for the "gay life," which she admitted in a letter to her husband after she had left him and returned to the home of her mother in Pontiac, Mich., was made the basis for the divorce which was granted by Judge Marcus Kavanagh.

BY CAPT. HENRY J. REILLY.

The vote on military training has been closed, with the results showing in the foregoing table:

The most noticeable thing about the vote has been that the number of ballots received each day has been about the same. In other words, there seemed to be no diminution in the interest shown.

Probably a third of the ballots had written on them expressions of approval of the campaign for universal military training. Probably a fifth of the ballots were accompanied by letters expressing great interest in the subject and bringing out the many points in its favor.

Civil War Veterans Vote "Yes."

The number of letters from veterans of the civil war was particularly noticeable. Every one of them expressed the strongest approval and stated that their belief in such training was primarily founded on the recollections of the waste of life and the unnecessary hardships of the civil war due to the lack of training and lack of discipline among the men who made up the armies.

Many of these veterans, and also many who served during the Spanish-American war and Philippine insurrection, stated that they had sons they wanted to fight for their country in time of trouble but strongly objected to have them go unless they went properly prepared.

Women as Nurses.

The number of letters from women not only expressing approval but demanding that women be trained as nurses as well was large. Many in advocating training for nurses also included universal training in the art of domestic science for girls.

The number of men and women who wrote that they were opposed to war in every way and everything tending to encourage war but most heartily believed in universal military training as the best cure for the many domestic and civic evils flourishing ni this country, was also large. Quote a number sent in from ten to fifty ballots and said that they had met with no one opposed to the idea. Many seemed impressed with the view that the great majority of the people are much in favor of such training.

From Teachers of Children.

Another noticeable point was the considerable number of teachers and of ministers of the gospel, in other words, people who have a great deal to do with the education of the young, who most cordially indorsed the need for such training. The names and letter heads showed the supporters of this training to be from every class of society and to have the blood of every European race.

The few votes against it were primarily based on the danger of militarism, or else on the plea that the day for universal brotherly love had arrived.

Quite a number of requests were received as to how the campaign for this training can be continued by the individual interested.

Write Your Congressman.

The best way is to write to congressmen and get as many friends as possible to do the same. THE TRIBUNE will furnish the names of the congressmen from the different districts at any time applied for. Senator Chamberlain of Oregon already has introduced a bill calling for universal military training in accordance with a plan based on a combination of the Swiss and Australian military systems.

Storm and adventure, heat and cold,
Schooners, islands, and maroons,
And buccaneers and buried gold,

you will be reasonably happy over the footlighting of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island," which takes place at the Colonial.

An audacious enterprise, this endeavor to put into the theater so sacred a bit of the twilight borderland, but, though somewhat incoherent at times, it tells the naive story and conserves the savory essence of that misty romance of the mystic seas picturesquely and with reverence.

Having been more or less baffled last evening by the play's habit of leaping from episode to episode, and ignoring the incidental abyss which dissevered them, I figured that most of the indubitable charm of the undertaking was due to the presence of a Mrs. Hopkins who played the rôle of little Jim Hawkins. You children of yesterday will recall, perhaps, that Jim, like Robinson Crusoe, Walter Gay in "Dombey and Son," and Sindbad the Sailor was ever dreaming of the sea, its heroisms, its crimes, and its argosies. If I may digress for a moment I should like to utter a protest against the villainous tinpanner who composed that blasphemous anthem about the destination of Robinson Crusoe when he went out with Friday on Saturday night. As Mr. Fred Stone might say, regarding this scoundrel, with contempt, "And they shot Abraham Lincoln!"

Well, Mrs. Hopkins impersonated this lad and his visions with all the feminine manliness of your favorite story-book boy. He was slim and eager, in Mrs. Hopkins' picture of him; the youthful swagger of his walk was full of earnestness and imagination and Stevenson and Barrie and David, and Paul Jones and the Black Prince and the Maid of Orleans. I would, no doubt, dilute this encomium if leisure were compatible with journalism at convention time. But I insist that this Mrs. Hopkins in "Treasure Island" is inspired and a poet. As anti-climax it must be said that her real name is Violet Vivian and that she once played with Ben Greet.

I liked Mrs. Hopkins from the instant that she entered the Ben Bow Inn and gave old Bill Bones the glass of grog that killed him. For, though I admired the manner in which Mr. Tim Murphy enriched old Bill, with every detail acted to its ultimate gasp, bellow and curse, I panted for the exposure of his safety deposit box. Therein, as you know, was contained the chart, marked with certain cryptic crosses, which would lead adventurers to the distant and hazardous treasure trove left by Captain Flint, the master of the long, low, rakish craft, whose murderous crew was despoiled of its earnings. The play was a bit late in starting, but when it got under way nothing, not even reason, stopped it.

Mrs. Hopkins flitted through it as trigly and rythmically and as poetically as any Peter Pan. She shot and she was shot at. She climbed certain perilous maritime riggings, slitting picturesque rascals during her ascent. Her courage was thunderous, though soprano, and she wellnigh out-Stevensoned Stevenson.

Mr. Cooper-Cliffe was quiet and impressive as the saturnine and one-legged Silver, and Mr. W. J. Ferguson penetrated his hint of a rôle by taking many obvious chances. All of them were pretty good, except the aspirant who played the blind and dramatic Pew. He was not the chill, sinister object that I believe he should have been. The scenery did the best it could, which was not very much, in contrast with what we get in the moving pictures.

During and between the acts of "Treasure Island" a series of abnormal noises issued from the orchestra pit and interfered with the otherwise gladness of the event. These dissonances were not so unpleasant as those common to other Chicago theaters, but they were enough to distract and discomfort the unfortunate auditors. It was explained that the disturbances were caused by members of the Musicians' union. As a member of a union and as a believer in unionism I suggest to the Chicago theater managers generally that they pay these union musicians for not playing, instead of for playing.

FIND 'FINE YOUNG EMPLOYE' MISSING FOR THREE WEEKS.

Most of Money Which Disappeared at Same Time Youth Left Not Accounted For.

William O. Gooding, the "fine young employé" for whom Theodore Sheldon, manager of Gordon Strong & Co., asked the police to search three weeks ago, has been found. The police of Buffalo, N. Y., arrested him there yesterday.

Gooding, when he left the real estate firm's offices on May 6, had negotiable checks for $1,031, and $570 which he had obtained by cashing a firm check. He told the police he had been touring the country, part of the time with hoboes. He reached Buffalo ten days ago, stopped at a first class hotel until he grew tired of it, and then went to the lodging house where the detectives finally caught up with him.

He had $100 in a Buffalo savings bank and said he had lent another hundred to a friend. He was unable to account for the rest.

BOY ON WAY TO MEXICO.

He Borrowed Horse, Buggy, and $150 and and Set Out for the Border.

Anton Fritz, 1907 Sheffield avenue, relieved his father of the worry entailed by a horse and buggy and $150 and started for the Mexican border yesterday morning while his parents were sleeping. At Maywood he abandoned the buggy in front of 1015 South Second avenue, and purchased a saddle, then resumed the journey toward the southwest to fight Mexicans. Messages were telephoned ahead in the hope that the rough rider will be caught and given the spanking which awaits him at home.

WAITERS AND HOTEL EMPLOYES NOT TO STRIKE.

"Wouldn't Be in Line with Chicago's Hospitality to Convention Visitors," Says Official

There will be no strike of waiters and other hotel and restaurant employés either during the convention or for a considerable time in the future, contrary to reports prevalent in labor circles yesterday.

Two meetings, one of members of the waiters' union and the other of the cooks' union, were held during the day at the Chicago Waiters' association, 115 West Madison street, but no strike vote was taken and it was announced at their conclusion that the gatherings had been held chiefly for purposes of organization.

"No strike is contemplated," said E. W. Parlee. "Such action would not be taken especially at this time, as it would not be in line with the hospitality Chicago is showing its visitors during the Republican convention."

GIRL'S $20 DOLL AND CART TRAP HER AS SCHOOL THIEF.

Twelve year old Hannah Sullivan of 439 West Twenty-fourth place caused a lot of envious excitement among her fellow pupils at the Hancock school a week ago when she announced that she had just paid $20 for a big doll and gocart.

Saturday there was a further item of gossip when Miss Nora E. Comerford, one of the teachers, sent word to the board of education that her purse, containing $40 and a railroad ticket, had been taken from her desk.

James Watson, special agent for the board, put 2 and 2 together, and now Hannah is facing a trial in the Juvenile court. Her mother, Mrs. James Sullivan, was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property, but she returned the $40 with the aid of relatives and the prosecution will be dropped.

Glenn W. Burroughs of University of Chicago Must Leave School Teacher Alone.

Perrigo, 6230 Ingleside avenue.

HEALEY OUSTS MORALS SQUAD; LID COMES OFF?

Chief Denies Dismissal of All Save One Inspector Has Convention Bearing.

WILL APPOINT NEW MEN.

Chief of Police Healey yesterday summarily discharged seven deputy inspectors of moral conditions. Some of them have been on Maj. Funkhouser's staff ever since he became second deputy superintendent.

With one exception the entire force was dismissed. The remaining one is George Christy, a Greek, who is said to have been appointed at the instance of City Controller Pike in return for his organization of a Greek William Hale Thompson club. The others were selected by Maj. Funkhouser personally. Some of them were investigators for former Mayor Harrison's civil service commission as far back as 1912.

Denies Lid Is to Come Off.

Chief Healey denied there was any significance to the discharge of all the veteran investigators on the eve of the national conventions. He said that his action did not in any way confirm rumors that the lid was to be thrown into Lake Michigan during the convention week. He said he would appoint new men to the vacancies, but it is expected they will not be named for a week or more.

Chief Healey said he would select the new investigators.

"I shall select men who are not so well known as those seven," he said, "and they will be men that I know personally so that I'll have confidence in their reports."

"Is there any reason for their dismissal exactly at this time?"

"No, I have had it under consideration for some time. The first order dismissing some of them has been in the office for over a week and has been delayed."

Up to the Captains.

"Does the fact that there will be no morals inspectors at work mean that the lid will be off during convention week?"

"No. The inspectors have nothing to do with the enforcement of the law. That is up to the captains and it will be enforced whether we have morals inspectors or not."

Maj. Funkhouser refused to discuss the subject in any way. He referred all questions to his superior.

That volunteer investigators may be at work was indicated by a letter to Mayor Thompson from Mrs. G. M. Mathes, president of the Woman's Church Federation. It notified him that groups of Bible class men were aiding the organization in obtaining evidence against violators of the Sunday closing law. It charged that the mayor "could and did enforce the law for a time," and that "there has been a serious increase in the laxity of that enforcement since that time."

COME TO SEE CONVENTION; POLICE TAKE DE KALB GIRLS

"Romance of Dining Room" Spoiled When Detectives Break Up Party Planned.

"If a dining room girl don't know a gentleman when she sees one, they ain't nobody can."

Miss May McCann, 16, belle of the waitresses at the Glidden house in De Kalb, Ill., snapped her eyes as she sat in the woman's annex at the South Clark street station. Hulda Sahlstein, also a waitress at the Glidden and one year her senior, nodded in approval.

"And," continued May, "I knew Mr. Henry Cameron was a gentleman by the way he give his order. So when Mr. Cameron invited me and Hulda to come to Chicago to see the convention, we just packed our grips and caught the first train. It was lovely of him and just see what has happened.

"He and Jack Estell were at the depot to meet us—Jack used to be porter at the Glidden—and just as we were shakin' hands up stepped these two police officers and brought us here. I don't care what happens, I ain't goin' back to De Kalb. The Glidden will never see me again."

The De Kalb police wired Acting Chief of Detectives Mooney to be on the lookout for the girls and they were taken into custody as soon as they reached town.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 5.—A thunderstorm this afternoon interrupted the Vassar college class day exercises in the open air theater and drenched many of the alumnæ and guests. Later the sun shone and the exercises were continued.

The program this year was in the form of a pageant representing the four years of college life. The daisy chain one-fifth of a mile long, was carried by 272 girls, the entire sophomore class, instead of the selection of twenty-four of the most beautiful girls, as has been the custom.

It is announced today that $718,000 of the million dollars endowment fund for the college already has been raised.

BALL IS UNDOING OF BOY BURGLAR

"Muggsy" Wojcik, slender, pug nosed, and just 13, may be the youngest cracksman in the annals of the Chicago police department. A battered safe, a red and white striped baseball, and a pair of perfectly useless noseglasses, grouped into an accusing chain of evidence, landed him behind the bars at the West Chicago avenue station yesterday.

B. J. Hanrickson, owner of the Crescent Saw and Knife works, found the open safe in the morning when he went to his offices at 666 West Austin avenue. The burglar, whoever he was, had made away with loot consisting of a Masonic emblem worth $100, the pince-nez aforesaid, and $4.45.

Footprints His Undoing.

A squad of sleuths from the detective bureau was put on the case. They found that two heavy hammers taken from the factory section had been used to smash the combination and pound the door open.

"Experts did that," said the sleuths—all but two.

"Experts your grandmother," said Detective Touhy. "Look!"

He exhibited the baseball, which he had picked up from under the safe.

"Experts me eye," said Detective Gilso.

He took the man hunters to the basement and showed them footprints on the sawdust covered floor—lots of footprints, all little ones.

Aha! Caught with the Goods.

Some small boys said the ball was "Muggsy" Wojcik's. "Muggsy" was not at his home at 912 Larrabee street, but they found him later cruising around on a peddler's wagon. He had the eyeglasses, the Masonic emblem, and $1.

"Gosh," he said, "I jes' found th' coin, an' a guy gimme th' other stuff! Dunno who it was. Jes' a guy."

He stuck to the story, but they locked him up anyway. The footprints fit "Muggsy's" shoes, say the police, and moreover he has been in trouble before.

GIRL WRITER FOR I. W. W. ARRESTED AS SHOPLIFTER.

Detectives Sent to Her Rooms Arrest Speaker for Industrial Workers of the World.

Miss Valma Lisko, 1514 West Monroe street, was arrested by Detective Sergts. Smith and Walsh of the detective bureau yesterday as she was leaving Mandel Brothers' store wtih merchandise valued at $48 which she is said to have stolen. Merchandise valued at $23, said to have been stolen from Marshall Field & Co., also was found in her possession.

The woman, who is said to be a writer for an Industrial Workers of the World publication, was taken to the South Clark street annex. Detectives when they learned her address went to the rooming house and arrested Wayne Walden, 26 years old, a speaker for the I. W. W. When her effects were searched at the annex a pamphlet denouncing the recent preparedness parade was found.

DOUSES BLAZE; HELD FIREBUG

Aged Man Seized Pail When Trapped, Says Deputy State Marshal.

A wizened little man of some 70 years was industriously engaged in throwing one last bucket of water over what had been a fire in the basement of a building at 2922 Calumet avenue yesterday, when George E. O'Donnell, deputy state fire marshal stepped in with a couple of policemen and arrested him.

"I guess we've got the goods this time," said O'Donnell.

The old man, protesting volubly, was taken to the nearest police station, where he said he was E. J. Emmick of 1838 Indiana avenue. Later Harry Overton, a painter living at 2420 Cottage Grove avenue, also was arrested. Both were booked on charges of arson and released on bonds.

Calls Overton the Dupe.

"Overton is a dupe in this case, I think," said O'Donnell, "but this Emmick's a slicker. There was a fire in the building Friday night and I went around there to investigate yesterday. I couldn't get in at the front, so I went around to the back and saw a flash of flame in the basement. This Emmick was leaning over the fire, but when I got to the door he grabbed a bucket and began throwing water.

"Emmick was in there about three hours this afternoon. He's been moving furniture in and he told Overton there were goods worth $800. Five hundred dollars' worth, he told him, was mostly destroyed in the fire Friday night.

Insurance Policy of $1,000.

"As a matter of fact there is about $175 or $200 worth of furniture at the most but there is a $1,000 insurance policy taken out May 27 in Overton's name. The two were to divide whatever profits there might be either in running the place as a rooming house or selling it."

O'Donnell said he found the fire had been started in a pile of excelsior and papers under an old couch, that holes had been cut through the floors of the second and third stories to create a draft, and all the doors and windows were tightly closed. He declared he detected a strong smell of kerosene.

According to Mr. O'Donnell, Emmick is the father-in-law of William J. Sutherland, vice president and general manager of the Mooney and Boland Detective agency.

GIRL SCORNED; TRIES TO DIE

Unrequited love caused Silvia Balik, a 16 year old seamstress employed by the Systematic Tailoring company, 12 North Market street, to try to end her life by swallowing iodine in a washroom of the concern yesterday. She was taken to the county hospital. A. Hirsch, the manager, said she told him that she had become infatuated with a man employé of the tailoring company and that she did not want to live because he refused to accept her affection. She lives at 2618 South Fifty-eighth avenue, Cicero.

HON. VANDERLIP GOES WITH SHOE

Miss Lane, Who Lost Slipper on Account of Man in Parade, Smiles.

BY SATO.

[Our Japanese Reporter.]

Miss Olive Lane, who was in calamitous fix by departure of slipper while stepping marchly in prepared parade, is again of smiling countenance. Her shoe was brought homeward yest. by Hon L. C. Vanderlip, who sleep soundly at 713 South Oak Park avenue, in Oak Park suburb, and draw wage as clerk for Crane Co. at 836 Michigan blvd. Like Cinderella tale Hon. Miss Lane say sweetly:

"Thank you gladly. I lose slipper on acct. man who walk on back of heel at Mich. ave. and Van Buren street. Crowd push and parade march and it is terrible hardship with lonely shoe."

Hon. Vanderlip Deposes.

Hon. Vanderlip depose thusly:

"Welcome to you. While spectating marchers I see dainty shoe about 30 feet from corner. I look longly, but see no foot to go in it. So I say I am lucky feller. When my Bro., who is by name, H. P. Vanderlip, see girl's picture in TRIBUNE and produce to me I cry one time again: 'I am still more lucky. I make delivery to Miss Lane myself.' So here is shoe."

So Ends Hon. Story.

So comes to end hon. story for time present. But Miss Lane, who is of 18 age, is unmarried daughter of retired R. R. man and Hon. Vanderlip is lucky bachelor who have seen 25 summers. He moreover is relative farly of Hon. Frank A. Vanderlip, pres. of Natl. City Bank of N. Y. and maybe fall heirly to wealth. And June is lucky month for romance.

Miss Sneed said her father had been despondent since the death of his wife several years ago.

ROCKEFELLER JR. SHUNS POLITICS; COLLEGE GUEST

TALKS OF INDUSTRIAL PLAN.

There is one man in Chicago who is supremely indifferent to politics. He hasn't asked for a ticket to the convention and wouldn't use one if it were offered him.

The man is John D. Rockefeller Jr. He arrived yesterday to attend the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of the University of Chicago, of which his father is the official founder, and when he has made a little speech this afternoon he is going home. No convention crowds for him.

But Mr. Rockefeller expressed regret that he did not see that other Chicago crowd that marched in the cause of preparedness last Saturday.

"I am sorry that I could not witness our preparedness parade," he said. "I think it was a magnificent demonstration of democracy. In no other way that I know of are men thrown together—shoulder to shoulder—with such absolute neglect of social barriers or economic dividing lines. It is wonderful—the idea of thousands of men and women marching together for a common cause, feeling themselves one in a definite world purpose."

Talks of Industrial Reform.

The one topic on which he would consent really to talk was the coöperative plan which he worked out at the time of his recent visit to the Rockefeller coal mining properties in Colorado. Over this he was enthusiastic.

"It is too early yet to predict positively how this idea of labor representation is going to succeed," he said, "but thus far it has been working exactly as I expected. Already it has been copied by the iron and steel mines. I see no reason why others should copy my plan unless they thought it a good one.

"Thus far there has been no trouble of any description among the men. Of course it will take a year or so to work out the plan, but I believe we've found something worth while."

Urges 'Support the President.'

Mr. Rockefeller said he "had no personal opinion" on politics and wasn't in touch with the situation. His political creed he summed up thus:

"The man to support is the president, when he is in office—no matter who he is."

The Rockefellers—Mrs. Rockefeller is here, too—are the guests of Harry Pratt Judson, president of the university. They were guests at luncheon of Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson, wife of the president of the board of trustees, and in the afternoon and evening they attended various exercises on the campus. These culminated in a masque, entitled "The Gift," and the dedication of Ida Noyes hall, the new woman's gymnasium, where the convocation reception was held.

Today Mr. Rockefeller will speak for his father at the ninety-ninth convocation exercises, which will close the quarter centennial.

Dr. Finley Urges Preparedness.

"Mobilization for peace" and national defense against "the new competition of nations" were urged yesterday by John H. Finley, president of the University of the State of New York, in the Phi Beta Kappa address at the convocation exercises.

"All those who have watched with seeing eyes the sublime if terrible drama enacted in Europe," he said, "have reported not that nations are being destroyed but that new and greater nations are being born. The spiritual as well as the material life of the nations at war is being changed into something different and better.

"And I incline to the belief that America is anxiously taking thought of its condition—its inefficiencies of government, its wastes, its crass materialism, its brag and bluster, its bad manners, its bad habits, and its inveterate provincialism—and is searching for the way of salvation.

Must Build a New America.

"The way of salvation here, as in Europe, is mobilization—the building of a new America. England will never revert into that state of mind and heart that was England in 1913. France will never again be described as decadent. And we of the United States have reason to dread the new competition of nations that will follow the war unless the depth and breadth of our spiritual mobilization measures up to that of the nations at war.

"I am wishing that everybody might be conscripted to give some service to the state, under a plan of constructive preparedness—every selfish luxury and waste and indulgence commandeered, every useful skill and science and art and industry called to the colors periodically.

"I would make 'conscript' a noble word by making it synonymous with 'citizen' in a republic with a mission and an ideal worth fighting for."

Forger at Joliet Penitentiary Crawls Under Cluster of High Powered Lines.

Harry Thompson of Rockford, Ill., who was serving a term for forgery, was electrocuted in the presence of 200 of his fellow prisoners at the quarries of the Joliet penitentiary yesterday.

As the men started back to the cell houses at 5:30 Thompson, for some reason, crawled under a cluster of high powered electric wires about which the convicts had been warned, though they were supposed to be insulated. He died soon afterward in the prison hospital.

Thompson's parents, who are said to be wealthy, had visited him the day before.

BUSINESS MEN BACK BETLESS RACES HERE

Hawthorne Revival Will See Sport Restored on Clean Basis.

BEIFELD BOOSTS GAME.

BY HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

Betless horse racing, with stakes and purses guaranteed by representative business men of Chicago, is the latest development in the effort of the Illinois Jockey club to revive the sport in this city for a thirteen day meeting, July 15 to 29, at the Hawthorne track.

Convinced that betting, even restricted, was impossible without danger of raids and detriment to the chances of a racing bill at the next session of the legislature, and also convinced that racing without betting was at best a doubtful financial experiment, the backers of the new club enlarged their scope and enlisted many more members who think a limited race meeting would add to the prestige of Chicago's attraction as a summer resort.

Big Business Men Back Sport.

"Betless racing" and "representative business men" are favorite phrases to conjure with whenever a race meeting is discussed. From a source which has proved unfailing in the past the writer is informed these words mean just what they say.

The business men are not mere dummies, but real, red blooded Chicagoans of State street stores, leaders in the hotel world, and in other branches so convincing that the publication of their names will satisfy even the most skeptical. Announcement of the names of subscribers to the racing fund, according to the writer's informant, will be surprising because of their prominence. Eugene Beifeld as the new secretary-treasurer is the only accession to the ranks now announced.

A Real Betless Track.

It is because of this quasi-civic backing that betting will not be tolerated. Pinkertons will be employed by the management to assist state and county officers in preventing evasions of the law. That nomadic wagers possibly cannot be entirely prevented is admitted, but the promise is made that any one detected will be seized for the hoosegow. The nature of the plans and information still unpublished make the promise ring true.

No claim is made that the meeting will be a financial success. The money necessary for expenses will be pledged in advance, in the same way that a fund was provided for the revival of racing in New York state. If any balance remains at the end of the meeting, well and good. If not, the sponsors are able and willing to stand the loss.

Nathanson O. K.'s Meet.

To those familiar with racing in the old days the strongest argument for the whole plan is the acceptance by Martin Nathanson of the position of racing secretary. Nathanson is an official of the highest caliber with a national reputation among horsemen. He hesitated about accepting until he was assured the new venture had the right kind of backing. He could not afford to allow his name to be connected with anything of a fly-by-night order. Nathanson himself issues a formal statement that betting will not be tolerated. It reads in part as follows:

"The utter exclusion of the gambling element from this project was the first condition laid down by those high grade Chicago business men who have since given their hearty support to the race meet. They, like many thousands of others, want racing in Chicago and are willing to bring it back in its fully glory at considerable expense to themselves. They are supporting the Hawthorne meet because it will restore clean, high class racing on a strictly law abiding basis."

Nathanson After Canuck Entries.

The first step toward securing the best available horses will be taken today when Nathanson will leave for Montreal and other Canadian cities. In the northern dominion he will secure stake nominations. Later officials of the Illinois Jockey club will visit Latonia on a similar mission.

The Hawthorne meeting is happily timed in an interval between the close of the Kentucky racing season, July 11, and the opening of Saratoga on July 31. Thus there will be no friction or division of interest among horsemen, for they can give each meet in its turn their undivided interest and attention.

$10,000 Derby on July 15.

The American Derby, once the nation's foremost 3 year old classic, last run at the Washington park track in 1904, will be revived on the opening day, July 15. The race will be run for $10,000, already posted, and will be open for 3 year olds over a mile and a quarter route.

Another attractive event will be the Chicago Merchants' handicap on July 22. For this there is $1,200 added. The race will be for 3 year olds and upwards over a course of six furlongs.

On the closing day, July 29, will be staged the Illinois Jockey club's Gold Cup handicap. For this event there is $2,000 added. Three year olds and upward will run one mile and one-sixteenth and the winner will be presented with a gold cup by the club, in addition to the stake.

No Purse Under $500.

It is announced that there will be no purse posted with less than $500 added, and that $600 or more will be added in events throughout the meet. There will be added purses subscribed by Chicago merchants for various feature events. A complete staff of officials and clerical aids are now installed in the Illinois Jockey club headquarters at the Hotel Sherman.

Capt. Thomas H. Clay of Lexington, Ky., will be presiding judge and James F. Milton is starter.

Ralph De Palma and Resta Qualify for Motor Derby

BY J. C. BURTON.

Ralph de Palma and Dario Resta, the two Italians who are expected to participate in a Wop wrangle extraordinary in Saturday's 300 mile race, both qualified their cars yesterday for the annual auto derby at the Chicago speedway, which, though swept by a chilling wind, was one of the few oases in the election day desert.

In the eliminations De Palma's Mercedes, which is of German descent, showed more speed than Resta's Peugeot, which hails from France. Consequently, this illuminating article might be headed "Another Victorious Teuton Drive."

After shivering for two hours in his immaculate garage, De Palma finally summoned sufficient courage to face the biting blast and, making a few preliminary circuits of the course to melt the icicles off the motor of his car, covered the two miles in 1:07, an average of 107.4 miles per hour.

Resta Averages 105 Miles.

Resta qualified his Peugeot earlier in the frigid afternoon, the clockers catching him in 1:08.6, a speed of 105 miles per hour. He then sought the warm seclusion of his garage and tore down his engine preparatory to giving it a final overhauling this morning.

There was only one other car on the track during the afternoon. Wilbur D'Alene, who finished second to Resta at Indianapolis, worked out a new Duesenberg, which was built originally for Eddie O'Donnell's use. Although the motor is stiff, the Californian turned several laps at an average of ninety-seven miles per hour.

The Duesenberg which D'Alene drove at Indianapolis has been purchased by George Buzane, a Chicago driver, whose campaign is being financed by Tom Chamales, the local restaurateur.

Aitken and Merz Arrive.

Johnny Aitken and Charley Merz, who are in charge of the two Peugeots owned by the Indianapolis speedway, arrived late in the afternoon with their cars and will be out for practice today. The two Premiers also reached Chicago, and when their drivers, Gil Anderson and Howdy Wilcox, get here this morning the green cars will be unloaded and driven to the speedway.

Twenty-one of the forty cars entered in Saturday's race are now either at the speedway or in local railroad yards, as follows: D'Alene's Duesenberg, Oldfield's Delage, De Resta's Peugeot, Dave Lewis' Crawford, George Buzane's Duesenberg, Art Johnson's Crawford, Billy Chandler's Crawford, Jack Gable's Burman Special, Ralph De Palma's Mercedes, Eddie O'Donnell's Duesenberg, Ira Vail's Hudson, Ralph Mulford's Peugeot, Johnny Aitken's Peugeot, Charley Merz's Peugeot, Pete Henderson's Maxwell, Eddie Rickenbacher's Maxwell, Howdy Wilcox's Premier, Gil Anderson's Premier, Fred McCarthy's Hudson, Josef Christiaens' Sunbeam, and Ed Rawlings' Duluth Special.

The only notable absentees are the three Frontenacs. Several of the eastern entries have been delayed in shipment by the express strike.

Klein Specials Here Today.

Art Klein wired from Youngstown, O., yesterday that the Klein Specials had been shipped and would arrive today. Tom Orr, a member of the Maxwell team, already is here in hopes of getting a job as Klein's teammate. The second Sunbeam is now en route from New York, having been taken out of customs Saturday, and will be on the track tomorrow at the latest.

Starter Wagner hopes to qualify at least twelve cars today before Ralph De Palma is given a clear course for his attempt to break the American one hour record with his Mercedes.

Razor blade magnified 430 diameters. This blade was sharpened perfectly and used carefully for 3 shaves, washed, dried and put away in box for 24 hrs. after each shave. Moisture in the air has rusted edge so that blade "pulls."

Magnified section of ordinary razor edge. Jagged because rusted by air moisture.

Do You Draw Jagged Steel Across Your Face Every Time You Shave?

EDG-ER-EEN TRADE MARK

Eliminates the cause of both these troubles.

Edg-er-een does away with "pull" by preventing the formation of rust. Moisture in the air and in your shaving soap forms rust on the tiny teeth of the new or freshly sharpened blade, causing them to break off and form a jagged edge. Edg-er-een keeps all moisture from the steel, keeping the tiny teeth intact.

Edg-er-een will double the number of perfect shaves from your blade—whether regular or safety, with no stropping necessary.

Baseball to Be Raised to Pedagogic Importance at Contest at Columbus.

The baseball diamond will be raised to a position of pedagogic importance this afternoon when six University of Chicago seniors receive their graduation diplomas on Ohio State field at Columbus, where the Maroons end their conference schedule.

The Chicago-Ohio game was originally scheduled for Wednesday. As the Midway commencement was advanced a week to be included in the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration, the game if played after the graduation of the players would violate a conference rule.

Halt Game to Give Sheepskins.

So this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when the names of Capt. Shull, McConnell brothers, George, Cavin, and Cole are being read on the list of graduates at Chicago, the game at Columbus will be halted and the six seniors will step to the plate to receive their sheepskins.

Coach Pat Page will deliver the baccalaureate address and says that it will be nothing compared to the address that he will make after the game if his men play the kind of ball they did at Lafayette last week, when the Maroons fell before Purdue, 20 to 3.

Many Maroons Graduate.

Graduation will cut a wide swath in the ranks of Maroon athletes. Of the baseball players who are completing their work at the Midway Shull is most versatile. He is captain of the nine and all conference football tackle. He played basketball in his sophomore year and is winner of seven "C"s. George won five letters in basketball and baseball. Bill McConnell got his "C" in football this year.

Other athletes who graduate this afternoon are Russell, football captain; Whiting, football and track man; Wagner, track athlete; Pavlicek, Shirley, and Redmon of the championship swimming team; Sparks, football guard; Capt. Stout of the track squad, and Cornwell, quarter miler. Scanlon and Flood of the football team graduated in March.

Meredith Cannot Race Dismond.

The special quarter mile race between Binga Dismond of the University of Chicago and Ted Meredith, University of Pennsylvania star, has been called off. Meredith wired yesterday that he would be unable to change the dates of his final exams at Penn or cancel a race for Monday against several eastern stars. Stagg wanted the race as an attraction for the scholastic meet Saturday.

Dismond and Meredith won the western and eastern collegiate 440 yard races respectively in the world's record time of :47 2-5. The race was to be an added attraction to the University of Chicago interscholastic.

Monmouth Nine Picks Landgraf.

Monmouth, Ill., June 5.—[Special.]—Theodore Landgraf of Marissa, Ill., was today elected captain of the Monmouth college baseball team for 1917. Landgraf is a junior and plays shortstop.

Thomas, who won the class B event, lost only two games of the fifteen played in this event and the combined tournament between the three top men in classes A and B.

Borroff [26] defeated Pope [22], 26 to [illegible] in the three cushion tournament at Foley's. Cooper [35] will play Harrison [22] tonight.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Because they weren't wide awake and alert at the start of yesterday's contest the White Sox suffered another defeat at the hands of the New York Yankees. The final score was 3 to 2, and the New Yorkers made all three of their runs in the first inning while the Sox were in their comatose condition. After that the south siders put up a game and desperate fight, both in defense and offense, but they had lost while they slept.

According to the records, Pitcher Joe Benz was knocked off the slab in the first round, when two singles, a sacrifice, a base on balls, and two more singles were registered by the enemy for their total of three runs while only one man was out. One would judge from that report that Benz didn't have a thing and that the Yankees were enjoying a regular batting festival.

Scratch Hits Rout Benz.

But as a matter of fact Benz had plenty of stuff, perhaps as much as ever, and if he himself and his mates had just had their heads a bit higher it is 10 to 1 the Yankees would have been set down at the start in one, two, three order, and no one can tell what would have happened after that. Not one of the four base hits marked up against Benz was of the brand to make a batter proud.

The whole trouble began because Benz himself shied at a ball hit back at him. Gilhooley, the first batter, hit the ball and it took a nice bounce right past Joe's ears. He could have reached it easily, but seemed a bit dazed or surprised. At least he started to stab the ball, then yanked his hand away as if afraid of being burned. Zeb Terry was playing well to the right of shortstop and couldn't get over in time to head off the ball, so it went for a base hit.

Hit and Run Play Works.

That little bit of backwardness made an entirely different situation of the game. With Magee at bat the hit and run play was tried. Terry ran to cover second because Magee was hitting left handed and naturally was more likely to hit the ball toward right field. But Lee slapped a weak little grounder toward left field and it went right through the place vacated by Terry and turned out to be a single, Gilhooley stopping at second.

Gedeon sacrificed, then Baker was purposely passed because of his batting reputation. Pipp followed with a smacking grounder which hit Umpire O'Loughlin on the foot and caromed off to left field. There is a possibility that Eddie Collins would have fielded the ball if it hadn't hit the ump, though it looked more like a regular base hit. That let in one run, only because the bases were filled at the time and necessitated the other runners advancing to make room for the batter. Peck followed this catastrophe with a loppy single to right center, sending Magee and Baker home, and then Benz was yanked.

Sox Southpaws Stop Yanks.

Dave Danforth went to the slab and stopped further fussing. A few rounds later he gave way to a pinch hitter, after which Reb Russell took the hurling job. The Yanks were absolutely helpless before both the Sox southpaws, only two hits being made, both bunts which were beaten out.

But the damage had been done and, strive as best they could, the Sox couldn't get those three runs back. Nick Cullop, Federal league star of last year, was on the slab shooting a fine assortment of left handed slanters at the south siders. Rowland's men tapped him rather severely in their half of the first, but wouldn't have scored if an error hadn't helped them.

Fumble Gives Hose Run.

J. Collins started with a single and Weaver sacrificed. Then E. Collins singled, but J. Collins stopped at third. Ness walked, filling the sacks, and in this crisis Joe Jackson was called out on strikes, taking three of them without swinging. Felsch next bounced to Baker, who fumbled and permitted J. Collins to score.

Cullop was splendid all the rest of the afternoon, but the Sox were handed another run in the sixth. With one out Jackson singled. He was forced by Felsch, and Schalk followed with a single to right which sent Felsch to third. Gilhooley pegged to third, but his shot got away from Baker and let Felsch go on home.

DELAY DECISION ON SISLER.

Cincinnati, O., June 5.—Chairman Herrmann of the national commission said today the commission's decision in the case of George Sisler, playing with the St. Louis Americans and claimed by the Pittsburgh Nationals, will not be made known until late in the week. Herrmann says he has obtained further evidence in the case which must be incorporated in the decision.

Notes

Jim Scott is likely to appear on the slab for the opener against the new Macks. Eddie Cicotte would be a handy person to be around now, but Eddie still is on the ailing list.

The Sox haven't climbed any in the first series against the easterners. They dropped two of the three games played against the Yanks. They have four against Philadelphia, five against Washington, and four against Boston before leaving home.

The Sox began the fourth inning as if they would come from behind and demolish the Yanks, but the attack petered out miserably. Jackson opened with a single and Felsch beat out a bunt. With everybody cheering, Cullop fanned Schalk, Terry, and Lynn in a row.

Among the spectators yesterday was a delegation from St. Louis, led by Otto Stifel, part owner of the Browns and former Federal league magnate. Otto is one of the delegates to the national convention, and had thirty of the convention men with him at the game.

Lynn was sent in as pinch hitter for Danforth in the fourth after two strikes had been called on the latter. The reason for the change at that moment was that Jackson and Felsch had just turned a double steal of third and second respectively. The count was two and two, and Lynn took the next one for a third ball and the following one for a third strike. Danforth could easily have done that much.

Notes

The Cubs won two out of the three here and left tonight for Philadelphia feeling better, thank you.

Packard fielded his position as well as he pitched it, making eight assists, besides securing a putout at the plate which averted a tie score.

Zimmerman made two of Chicago's five hits. He was after a third one in the ninth, but Hughes struck him out with three pitched balls.

The shooting occurred in the first base pavilion, where the two-bit gamblers congregate thickest. Efforts were made by leading bettors and officials of the club to have it appear that Mack shot himself accidentally with his own gun.

Refuses to Name Assailant.

From the doctor and police who assisted Mack to the ambulance it was learned that Mack declared he was shot and knew who did the shooting. When asked his assailant's name he asked the doctor if he was likely to die. When informed the wound was slight and not dangerous Mack said: “Never mind who did it. I'll attend to that when I get out.”

No gun was found on Mack, and he denied shooting himself. No arrests were made.

Red Sox Owners Solve Problem.

For a score of years gamblers have infested the National league parks here in spite of alleged efforts to break up their game. Today's affair will compel the club owners to take more drastic action. There were four policemen on hand to cover a park which will seat over 42,000 persons.

A few “coppers,” stationed where the gamblers usually congregated, were all the American league found necessary to reduce the gambling at Fenway park to a minimum and to keep the bettors changing places so often that their business practically was broken up.

Packard Shuts Out Braves and Heine's Run Gives Game to Tinkers.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Boston, Mass., June 5.—[Special.]—Because Gene Packard had proved himself such a bully finisher, Manager Tinker gave him a chance to start a ball game today, and Gene qualified as a boss starter. With the aid of Heine Zim, who stole home, Packard emerged from the battle victor over the Braves by the margin of 1 to 0.

Only four hits were made off Packard, and one of those was a scratch. No two of the safe raps came together, and Gene did not help the Braves at all. Not a man walked off his hurling all day, and only one man reached third base.

Only Five Hits Off Nehf.

Stallings sent Artie Nehf, also south handed, against the Cubs for their final game here, and they could rap him for only five safeties. These would not have scored a run but for the daring of the Great Zim, who perpetrated a clean steal of the plate in the fourth inning, and thereby stole a ball game.

Play started in a drizzle, which grew so copious in the third inning that Ump Rigler suspended play for eight minutes. The rain held off after that, but the clouds remained and made it a day designed for pitchers, as it was too dark to see the ball plainly.

Nothing of note occurred on the arena prior to the intermission, but a shooting scrape in the pavilion where the bettors hang out added considerable excitement for a few minutes. It did not prove serious, and after Eddie Mack, the victim, had been sent to a hospital the game progressed.

Zim Steals Home and Game.

Zim annexed the game in the fourth, almost unassisted. He led off with a double to right. Saier whaled a fly into right so far that Zim trotted to third on it without opposition. Archer bumped to the pitcher and was out, without giving Heine a chance to register, so he stole a long lead on one of Nehf's windups and made a dash for the pan. Nehf pitched the ball on the wrong side, just wide enough to let Heine escape the tag. Mulligan then struck out.

Six Braves all told reached first, two of them on errors and the others on swats. Four of them lived to see second and one passed third. That was Sherwood Magee, who soaked a drive past Williams with two out in the sixth, and tried to make a home run on it. Flack, McCarthy, and Archer relayed the ball to Packard, who had oceans of time to tag Magee out.

TONEY AND REDLEGS BEAT GIANTS, 3 TO 2, IN TEN ROUND GAME

New York, June 5.—New York lost a ten inning game to Cincinnati, 3 to 2. The visitors won the series, two games out of three. Pitcher Toney won his own game when he opened the tenth with a three base hit and scored on Chase's single. Chase also drove home a run in the first inning. It was the sixth extra inning game lost by the Giants on their home grounds this season. Score:

COVELESKIE DEFEATS WALTER JOHNSON, 3-2, IN A HURLING BATTLE

Detroit, Mich., June 5.—Detroit won its third straight victory over Washington, Harry Coveleskie defeating Walter Johnson in a pitchers' duel, 3 to 2. Breaks in the game counted against Johnson in the two innings he was scored on. Coveleskie held the visitors to one hit during the first six innings. Manager Griffith today filed a protest with President Johnson on Sunday's game with Detroit, claiming the umpire erred in a decision on a ground rule. Score:

LA GRANGE NINE WINS AND TIES EVANSTON IN SERIES FOR TITLE

La Grange made it one all in the fight for the suburban high school baseball title by defeating Evanston High at Northwestern field, 6 to 2. Dull held Evanston to three bingles. La Grange won in the second, when a succession of hits, errors, and passes brought in five runs, the side batting around.

John Bryan, catcher for La Grange, and Third Baseman Casper collided when chasing a foul fly in the fourth. Casper, the heavier player, was not hurt, but Bryan was knocked unconscious and the game was stopped. He insisted on playing, and later finished the contest. White Organdies.

BY ELIZABETH LORD.

IT is a pleasure to look at the pretty, dainty midsummer frocks with which Paris shops are filled, showing charming, picturesque designs in a flowerlike array of delicate colors and sheer tissues. The extreme modes of crinolines and flounces when made in wools or the heavier silks have frequently resulted in a certain unwieldly bulkiness, unless cleverly managed, but fashioned from the exquisite transparencies of summer, they are invariably beautiful. Indeed the modes of ample puffs, multitudinous folds and frills, give to old, familiar, sheer fabrics so added a charm that we might mistake them for new materials altogether.

Colored as well as white organdies—old blue, rose, and orchid—are exceedingly popular, while sheer lawns, striped and flowered batistes, washable voiles, oddly striped in chinille or embroidered with small flowers, are all popular.

Doubtless the flowerlike sheerness of white organdy inspired the designer to evolve an attractive frock recently made. Without employing color or trimming, other than the material, he has made the bodice full, and it is shirred bishop fashion into a round neck with a deep cape yoke effected by a gathered tuck in the organdie.

Another little dress has a front and a back pannier cut apron fashion, puffed at the sides into frills of lace that outline the panniers. At the sides below the lace folds, the organdie is closely plaited. Over this frock is worn what appears to be a little wrap of green faille, but more closely inspected one finds it to be a fifteen inch green ribbon tied about the shoulders like a fichu with a knot in front and the crossing ends tied at the back below the hips in a big bustlelike bow.

The dress in the illustration is intended for a young girl and is simple and attractive because of its material. Made wholly from white organdie its skirt tucks edged with dainty folds of the material, the veiled rose ribbon occasionally appearing at the surface are all interestingly combined to give various degrees of transparency in the fine organdie. The bodice is like a short, little jacket, fastening at the back, and the rose ribbons squarely trimming it, tie at the back in long, trim streamers. The skirt ribbons are shadowed by the organdie above the deep tucks in the skirt, but tie in modest sized bows through slits at the sides.

The simple turnover collar has row after row of the daintiest lace procurable. The short sleeves allow a repetition of the skirt mode in the arrangement of tucks and ribbons.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING·HAND

by MARION HARLAND

Gasoline for Moths.

"DURING the last months I have noticed moths flying around my parlor and have caught some of them. I do not mean to say there are many, but now I am beginning to find small white worms in a large tapestry chair. Please tell me what I can use to get rid of these destroying pests. They have made a small hole in the tapestry, and no doubt will do more harm. MRS. F. W. M."

Is there any more effectual way of disposing of the pests—winged and larvæ—than by soaking the chair with clear gasoline and pouring the same into the floor cracks and corners all through the room? Sweep and dust well before using the gasoline, and when you have done it, shut the room up closely for twenty-four hours. No insect life can endure through the process. Have no artificial light near while the gasoline is in hand, and open the room in broad daylight, letting the air sweep freely through it for hours to dispel the odor.

To Clean Kitchen Walls.

"Kindly advise me through the Corner what I may clean my kitchen walls with, as they are painted and have become spotted with water and grease. "A. L. R."

Scrub with warm soapsuds and a large sponge. If this does not do the work satisfactorily, add kerosene to warm water and sponge again. Dry quickly with soft cloths. Baking soda will take off spots from painted walls, applied with a damp cloth dipped into a saucer of the powder.

Using Crepe Paper Dye.

"Will you please tell me the meaning of 'co-ed'? Not long ago I saw that one of your readers told how to dye crêpe de chine with crêpe paper. I find that by boiling the crêpe paper with a handful of salt in the water you get a dye that will not wash out. When I have an old waist that has turned yellow from repeated washings I boil it in the dye for about five minutes. I use a whole roll of paper; then use it as I would bluing. A cheap whipped cream, that you cannot tell from genuine, is made by taking any good brand of unsweetened evaporated milk, chill thoroughly, and whip; add sugar and flavor just as you would the real article. E. M. M."

"Co-ed" is an abbreviation of "co-educational." It is commonly applied to institutions in which pupils of both sexes are educated. The number of these is increasing rapidly in the United States, and, with characteristic economy of time and breath, we cut the long compound word short. The hint anent coloring white waists is timely. They were never more fashionable than now, and they soil so soon that any expedient for prolonging their period of usefulness is welcome. We thank you for the clever idea of a substitute for fresh cream.

Wants Copy of Poem.

"While attending a vaudeville at one of our playhouses here I heard a young man recite a poem called 'The Gate at the End of Things.' It was so true to life and nature that I have always wanted to get a copy of it. Not knowing the author, I don't quite know where or how to get it. So I come to your Corner! "BLANCHE B."

And the Corner, being altogether ignorant with regard to the desired rhymes, comes to constituents for aid and comfort. Who wrote the poem and who will send in a copy for Blanche B., who depends upon us to find what she can secure nowhere else?

Origin of "John Bull."

"Your correspondents have been so ready to tell how the nickname 'Uncle Sam' was first applied to the United States, perhaps they may be able to inform us why Great Britain (or was it only England?) got the name of 'John Bull.' Will you oblige me by putting the question? I. C. S."

With all my heart! The Corner seconds the inquiry.

George Beban

BY KITTY KELLY.

CURIOUS how it is that producers all think we must have wild melodrama, eloping affinities, murdering enemies, malicious kidnapings domestic disasters, when it is the child's laughter, the horse's nuzzling, the dog's tail wagging that sends a sympathetic stir through the audience.

For instace, here in "Pasquale," a gem of a photo tale, by the way, though a lady elopes and an automobile turns turtle and burns up with a great deal of mechanical thrill, the house sits enduringly silent But when Beban, interpreter of the kindly, simple, loving Italian talks to Colombo, the horse, and Colombo responds in such way as he may, a blur of sympathy and amusement sweeps over the observers.

There were many spots of delicate playing that got the audience a deal more than the high emotional stuff. Beban is a master of the human quality, and as the little Italian storekeeper who loved his horse and his orphan he does some rare good work. He can turn the slightest situation to characterful significance that strikes the chord of understanding in the observer.

Miss Helen Eddy, the ingénue person who has stepped into leading rôles from her unlabeled appearance as the hotel maid in "The Gentleman from Indiana," gives an excellent picture of a young Italian girl.

In the story there is romance and real life and sacrifice and pathos and humor, and final happiness. It is a good sort to see. In addition it is very well photographed and attractively set. Sometimes one must wonder at the highlights in the rainstorms, but there are other things that forgive the failure to veil the sunshine while turning on the hose.

"Pasquale" really ranks high as one of the year's superior films, not in pretentiousness or drama but in simplicity and characterization. It is the kind of picture that the neighborhood theater should rejoice in.

Dr. Royce rescues her again, but the villain still seems to have the inside track in her affections.

I was trying to get my little girl started home, but she was still viewing her day old nephew. When I said: "Now, come on if you want to be my little girl," she said, "Well, I don't. I've been your little girl a long time and I've just been his aunt a little while." R. W. B.

My little cousin went into the basement early one morning, where his grandfather was busy sawing wood, and asked, "Are you not going to work today, grandpa?"

Grandpa said, "Well, don't you think I'm working hard now?"

Carl's reply was, "I mean really work—what brings the money in." J. C.

Our little daughter had a pair of "ox blood" shoes, of which she was proud. One day she was standing at the window and saw a man on the street who wore "ox blood" shoes, and, looking at him, she remarked, "And he has ox blood hair, too." M. F. S.

Frances was visiting her grandparents. One day when she was out walking a friend of the family overtook her and asked her if she wanted to ride home. Of course, the child said "yes." The friend stopped at her aunt's house next door.

Frances climbed out and turning, politely said: "Thank you for this much."

The friend said: "Why, don't you live here?"

"No," said Frances, "I live at grandpa's."

Beauty Hints

by Antoinette Donnelly

If you missed the Antoinette Donnelly series telling how she reduced Mrs. Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks send her stamped, addressed envelope and she will mail you complete exercise and diet instructions. Any other questions on obesity will be gladly answered by Miss Donnelly.

ELSIE: DISEASES OF THE NERVOUS system are as a rule accompanied by troublesome perspiration. Excitement and weakness will cause excessive sweating. The first remedy, of course, is to overcome the rundown condition and a good tonic is helpful. For profuse sweating in the axilla of the feet or hands take salicylic acid, fifteen grains; starch, one-half dram, and talcum powder, one ounce. Mix well and dust over the parts night and morning. Mild cases of perspiration may be benefited by bathing the affected parts in a solution of hot water, to which common baking soda has been added. Another good wash is one or two drams of salicylic acid dissolved in a pint of alcohol.

CAROLINE: FACIAL ERUPTIONS often come from indigestion or eating rich, spicy food. It is a good plan during the warm weather to confine your diet chiefly to vegetables and fruits and foods that are cooling to the blood. Eliminate the things that cause you distress and discomfort. Get lots of exercise in the open air and guard against constipation. I shall be glad to send you my treatment for pimples if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

PEARL: THE BEST TIME FOR taking a cold bath is before breakfast. A warm bath before retiring is soothing and restful to a tired body. You will have to take the bath that makes you feel strongest and that takes the least vitality from you. I cannot tell whether you have a good figure or not, as you did not describe your appearance to me in any way. To be well built, a girl 20 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall, should weigh 138 pounds. The best exercise for building up the system is walking. Walk at least three miles a day. Be in the air as much as possible.

SUSAN: I AM SORRY NOT TO BE able to help you plan your party. My department is confined only to the realms of beauty. You can get good books on entertainment at the public library. There are also many excellent ideas given in the woman's magazines.

BELLE: EXERCISE THE MUSCLES of your neck to preserve the contour of your profile. Stand erect and twist the head first to one side, then to the other, stretching in each direction just as far as possible. Then drop the chin slowly on the collar bone. This brings all the muscles into play. Repeat ten times night and morning, gradually increasing to fifty times. Do not tire the muscles too much at first.

HELMA: GO TO A GOOD HAIRdresser to have your hair thinned out. The weight of such a heavy head of hair is probably what causes your headaches. Wearing a short vamp shoe will give the foot a short appearance. The long vamps always make the foot look longer. I don't blame you for being "awfully" proud of your pretty little foot. There is nothing I can suggest to make it more attractive except to be sure that your shoes are never run down at the heels and that there are no buttons missing.

Madame Grouitch to Revisit Chicago

BY CINDERELLA.

MME. SLAVKO GROUITCH has delayed her arrival in Chicago from London so long that the Serbian relief has had a chance to disband. Mme. Grouitch comes this week to make an appeal for a Serbian hospital, but one fancies it will not be so easy to gather an audience together.

The war shop people met yesterday in extra session, looking ahead as to ways and means for the summer, and, by the way, one of the most fascinating of fêtes was given last week at Roslyn, L. I., for the New York branch of the war-clearing house of Paris.

Admiral Aaron Ward opened to the public his famous rose gardens at Roslyn which were at the height of their perfection, and the smart Long Islanders flocked to see the famous Aaron Ward roses and take tea in delightful little pavilions and kiosks.

Then there was a man, a Harvard professor—can't think of his name—just home from a year in China, studying Chinese flowers and gardens, and he talked well on that subject to the assembled multitude, many being of the young married New Yorkers.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, Mrs. Belmont Tiffany, Mrs. August Belmont, and Miss Claire Bird were among the many fashionable women who got up the fête and poured tea.

The admission was only $1, and the idea seems attractive enough for some of the north shore women or men to open their gardens for a similar fête this spring.

Five hundred out of town guests have been asked to the suffrage ball tonight. The streets are full of interesting strangers, smart looking women in pretty clothes, good looking men.

Among the most attractive of the eastern visitors are Mr. and Mrs. George Whelan of New York, who have the George Henry High house, 1262 Lake Shore drive, for a fortnight.

Mr. Whelan has brought out a small fleet of automobiles of superlative up to dateness, and Mrs. Whelan wears the most fascinating habiliments yet seen.

Mrs. George High has betaken herself to York Harbor, where she has a place for the summer, and Miss Gladys High is staying for the moment with her grandmother, Mrs. Farlin, whose house is a twin of the Highs' on the drive.

Mrs. George Meeker is another resident who has rented her house, 1431 Astor street, and avoided the convention crush by moving to Winnetka.

The interesting event of Sunday was Mr. and Mrs. James Waller's luncheon for Gov. and Mrs. Charles Whitman of New York and several other high lights of the Republican party. Among these was that interesting but sphinxlike bachelor, former Postmaster General Charles Hitchcock.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

by JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

In spite of all the food manipulations that go on in the way of cooking few people know, or unfortunately care, what happened mechanically to what they are eating, much less what chemical changes took place.

Facing the Milk Problem.

THERE is more than one way to face the milk problem of summer. The woman who triumphantly wrote a few years ago that she would cheat her husband into believing that he had cream in his coffee, when what he had was boiled down milk, had solved one phase of the problem, though boiled milk has a problem of its own as some people boil it.

Boiled down, or home condensed milk, in coffee, especially a drip coffee of medium strength, is much more palatable, to my mind, than cream. In fact, there is no comparison between the two, the milk is so much more palatable. It is the truest kind of café au lait, excellent hot or iced. Less sugar can be used than with cream since the milk sugar is present in rather a large proportion—a much more wholesome sugar than that made by machinery.

Cream is a hearty food for summer, and what with our using it with fruit and in mousses, ice creams, and coffee, it is easily possible to get too much of this pure fuel for a hot summer's day.

Boiling down skimmed milk a half is simply taking out a half of its 90 per cent of water, without removing its 3.3 per cent of protein (albumen) or without hardening it if carefully reduced, or without injuring the 4.8 per cent of sugar (whole milk has a higher per cent of sugar than cream), or destroying its high per cent of mineral matter.

It cannot be boiled down with steam, as in a double boiler, to any advantage. It must not be boiled so that it crusts over or catches on. These two things harden the albumen and make it indigestible. There is a lot more to this, but other points can be reasoned out easily.

Use thick bottomed utensil directly over a tiny bit of fire. Stir occasionally with fork or whisk, if a skin forms, for with small enough fire this will not be the slightest tough. This can be strained when reduced a half. Of course, it will keep far longer than raw milk. Use same amount as of cream per cup of coffee.

Miss Marguerite Haller

MR. AND MRS. G. HALLER of Fort Wayne, Ind., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marguerite, to Robert N. Chatain, son of Prof. and Mrs. A. Chatain of 629 Woodland park. The wedding will take place the last of this month.

Mrs. Armour Hurries Home.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., June 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, who has been spending a couple of weeks here, cut short her intended protracted visit in Colorado upon the receipt of a telegram Saturday night from Chicago which informed her that Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. would be her guests during the convention in Chicago.

Within an hour after the telegram arrived Mrs. Ogden Armour had chartered a special car, and inside another half hour was on her way to Chicago. She expects to reach her home this evening.

With Mrs. Armour were Mrs. Josephine Chapin of Milwaukee and Miss Anderson of Chicago.

Members of the alumni of St. Rita's college will hold their annual banquet this evening in the Stock Yards inn. The Rev. James F. Green, president of the college, will address the members on "Catholic Education."

Among the other speakers will be Charles A. Comiskey, president of the White Sox; Charles Rowland, manager of the White Sox, and Ed Walsh, formerly the star pitcher.

Bishop Lays Garrett Corner Stone

Bishop Thomas Nicholson, assisted by Bishop W. F. McDowell, yesterday laid the corner stone of the first building in a new theological group of the Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston. The building will be a dormitory for the residence students and will take the place of Heck hall, which was burned. The dormitory is of Bedford stone and all other buildings in the group will be constructed of the same material. The cost of the building will be $150,000.

Bishop Nicholson was also one of the speakers at the alumni luncheon in the First Methodist Episcopal church. He advocated a joint campaign for funds for the Garrett Biblical institute and Northwestern university.

Other speakers at the luncheon were Bishop J. W. Robinson of India, Bishop E. S. Johnson of Africa and Dr. Abram W. Harris. The Rev. E. D. Kohlstedt of Milwaukee presided and the Rev. W. F. Hovis of Milwaukee delivered the alumni oration.

The Rev. W. E. Shaw of Peoria was elected president and the Rev. A. S. Haskins of Irving Park church, Chicago, was elected vice president of the Alumni association. The other officers were reelected. The commencement exercises will be held tomorrow morning. The address will be given by Bishop Nicholson.

"Lincoln and Grant."

Former Gov. Augustus B. Willson of Kentucky will deliver an address on "Lincoln and Grant" at a meeting of the Columbia post No. 706 of the Grand Army of the Republic in Memorial hall, North Michigan boulevard and East Randolph street, this evening.

Many delegates to the national Republican convention are expected to be present. Through courtesy of Post Commander Leonard W. Campbell all factions have consented to draw the curtain on politics. Their subjects will be mainly along patriotic lines.

Edward P. Morrow of Kentucky, late candidate for governor of that state, is also expected to be present. He will address the meeting on "Preparedness and Patriotism."

Music will be furnished by the Columbia post quartet.

If Only It Doesn't Pour Down Tonight!

WITH roses everywhere in the house, and gay tents, flower and fruit bedecked trees and flaming torchlike lights around the garden, the Harold F. McCormick house and lawn is all ready for the big convention ball and garden party tonight

There are awninged passageways from every place to every place else so that if it should rain, which calamity will be prayerfully averted if possible, the guests will not have to go out into the weather.

There are rest rooms upstairs for those who prefer a snooze to the rhythm of the dance. One huge tent, with a floor for dancing, another orange one with the green grass for its carpet, two little Chinese tents from Mrs. Arthur Ryerson's Cooperstown gardens and light and flowers everywhere will make it as gay a thing as Chicago has seen for many a night.

The committee has decided that anyone who wishes to attend the ball may make application for tickets to Mrs. Arthur Ryerson. It started out to be a frightfully exclusive affair and this move is decidedly radical, but it bespeaks the hospitality which Chicago has been famed for having.

Hugh Garden, chairman of the committee on decorations for the Lake Forest Country fair to be held Friday and Saturday, July 14 and 15, will be assisted by Mrs. A. Watson Armour, Mrs. W. O. Lindley, Mrs. Francis J. Johnson, Mrs. George A. McKinlock, Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, Mrs. James Ward Thorne and Mrs. Laurence Armour.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham is chairman of the woman's hospitality committee that will have charge of the summer festivities at Glen View club.

Mrs. Potter Palmer of 1350 Lake Shore drive will have as her guests during convention week her sister, Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. John D Rockefeller Jr. are the guests for the week of President Harry Pratt Judson and Mrs. Judson at their home 1148 East Fifty-ninth street, who gave a dinner for them last night. Today Mrs. Judson will entertain at her home at luncheon for Mrs. Rockefeller, and Martin A. Ryerson will give a luncheon for Mr. Rockefeller at the Chicago club.

Miss Ruth Richardson gave a luncheon yesterday for Miss Gladys Gansbergen, who will marry Bruce B. Paddock on Saturday. Miss Adelaide Scott entertains for her today and Mrs. William Boyd tomorrow.

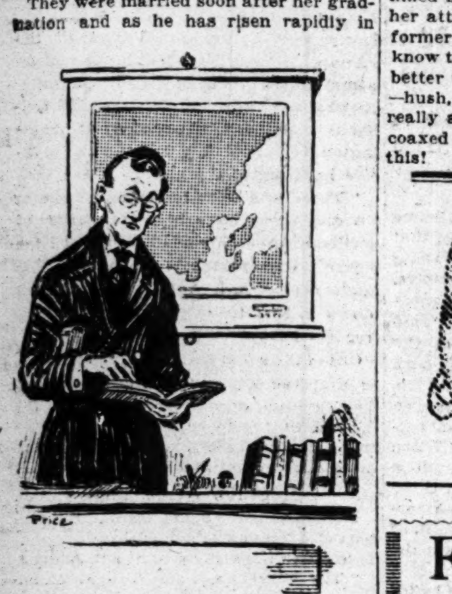
Real Love Stories

Beaming on Belshazzar.

WHILE a junior in college one of the professors looked upon me and apparently found me good in his sight, for he shortly proposed and was refused. To me he seemed a staid, elderly gentleman, although I judge he was not then over 35. He rejoiced in the christian name of Belshazzar, which alone would have frightened all thoughts of matrimony from me. Not so from my roommate, however. Desiring a home and that quickly the professor turned approving eyes upon her. She was then a senior.



They were married soon after her graduation and as he has risen rapidly in his profession she is at present mistress of a beautiful home in the east, while I, who married a classmate, live in a four room flat in Chicago and contend with the high cost of living.

Would I exchange with her now after ten years? Not I! Rather would I struggle with the wolf at the door than with the name Belshazzar at the breakfast table. L. A. C.

Snob's Reputation.

"Dear Miss Blake: We are two girls of 14 and 15 and our fathers being wealthy we somehow seem to have gotten the reputation of being snobbish. There are a couple of nice boys who go to high school with us, who detest snobbishness and us also on account of our reputation. We are by no means slighted by the boys, but we much prefer this democratic pair. Should we act indifferent or try to prove we aren't snobbish and if so, how? If a boy picks up his best girl friend and her chum in his car should they both sit in the back seat? M. and J."

I'm afraid that you have given the "bunch" some grounds for accusing you of snobbishness, and if you aren't proud of this accusation (which I hope is the case) then the thing for you to do is to try to live down the reputation. Be equally nice to every one in school, regardless of wealth, and invite the crowd to your houses from time to time, and I prophesy that it won't be any time before you will be regarded as democratic as your heroes could wish. Indifference in your case won't do; on the other hand, you need to shun this trait if you would be popular. In the latter instance about which you ask you can sit with your girl friend or with the boy, whichever you prefer; personally, I would sit with him if he were my very best.

> "An egotist is a person who says the things about himself that you think about yourself."

Here's a Secret.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going with a girl regularly for over a year and a half. I wrote to her all of last summer and we continued to correspond, although we were in the same town.

"My last letter I signed 'With love.' The next day I met her and she would not speak to me. She has not spoken or written to me since.

"We have exchanged gifts. It is evident that she is angry because I signed my name 'With Love.' How do you think I can make up with her? B. J."

I am of the opinion that the "with love" is all she has against you, and that she will have recovered from her "peeve" e'er this. Just maintain a dignified silence for a while, and then see if her attitude hasn't changed back to her former state of friendliness. I think I know the feminine half of this world a bit better than you, and I'll tell you a secret—hush, don't tell, but I don't believe she is really angry at all! She just wants to be coaxed back, and don't you start doing this!

The Amateur Gardener

by Eben E. Rexford

Ornamental Asparagus.

WE have two plants belonging to the asparagus family which are popular at present. One is A. Sprengeeri, the other A. Plumosus nanus.

A. Sprengeeri is adapted to culture in hanging baskets, vases and window boxes where something is wanted that is of drooping habit. It sends out long, slender branches from a fleshy, almost tuberous root. These branches often reach a length of six feet. Their leafflets—which are thickly set all along the main branch and its offshoots—are much coarser than those of most varieties of the family, and are of such a firm, leathery nature that they are capable of standing rough usage.

The tuberous roots of the plant increase rapidly in size, and often fill a pot before one suspects that a larger pot is needed, and the consequence is that they exert such a pressure that the old pot is broken.

A. plumosus nanus is a much daintier variety. So delicate is its foliage that it has been given the common name of asparagus fern, but it is not even the remotest relative of the fern family. Its branches are frond-like in form, and flat, thus giving them the appearance of having been pressed in such a manner as to prevent them from taking on the irregular shape common to most plants whose side branches are sent out in all directions.

This variety is not of large growth, and it does not droop, but forms compact little plants of upright habit. As a plant will often have a dozen branches starting from its base, it will be seen that even small specimens are ornamental because of their large amount of beautiful, lace-like foliage.

Plants of this variety make excellent table decorations, and every woman who likes to make her table attractive ought to grow several of them. They are as beautiful as the finest adiantum fern, and if a few bright flowers, like carnations or roses, are thrust down among their greenery, you have something far more ornamental as a table decoration than the designs furnished by the professional florist, because of its simplicity.

By making use of growing plants in decorating the family table, the housewife is to a great extent independent of the florist, and it is in the interest of economy that a supply of this asparagus should be added to the window garden, for use in winter, when flowers are so costly that few families can afford them except on "special occasions."

MAY'S PERMITS SHOW ENORMOUS BUILDING VOLUME

Total for Month Exceeds That of Any Similar Period in City's History.

The huge volume of present building operations is shown by the report of the city building department for May, which shows an increase of 73.45 per cent over the same month a year ago. The figures are 1,207 number of permits issued, with an estimated cost of $13,707,100, as compared with 786 in number and $7,902,900 in cost for May, 1915. It is the largest May total in the history of the city.

For the five months of the year there has been an increase of 67 per cent, a surprising showing in view of the fact that the totals for 1915 were, with one exception, the largest in the history of the city.

Big Building of 1911 Recalled.

That was in 1911, when over $23,000,000 of permits for office buildings alone were taken out in the downtown district to take advantage of the old building ordinance which permitted a building height of 260 feet. The total for that year was a little in excess of $105,000,000, but this will be greatly exceeded by the operations of the present year if the volume of building for the remainder of the year is maintained at the present rate.

The interesting as well as disturbing feature of the present year's operations is the fact that the bulk of the permits taken out is for apartment buildings, and it furnishes the most conclusive evidence of the overbuilding which is being done in this field.

Some Low Loan Rates.

Some 4½ and 4¾ per cent loans were about the most noteworthy feature in yesterday's real estate market developments. One of the 4½ per cent loans, which is for $100,000, runs 5 years. Edward S. Hunter gave a trust deed to W. H. Henkle of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank securing the same, the loan being on the property at the southeast corner of Madison and Market streets, 65½x100 feet, with brick business improvements.

Edgar M. Snow & Co. also made a loan of $35,000, 5 years, at 4½ per cent, secured by the property at the northwest corner of Federal and Polk streets, 100x100 feet, improved with old frame and brick buildings.

The same brokers also made a loan of $20,000, 5 years, at 4¾ per cent on the property at 162-66 North Clinton street, lot 72 2-3x150 feet, between Randolph and Lake streets, with 4 story brick improvements.

They also made a loan of $13,000, 5 years, at 4¾ per cent, on the property at 919-21 South State street, lot 20x138 feet, west front, with three story brick improvements.

McNair Conveys Recent Purchase.

Robert M. McNair, who last week took title from Louis Frank to the property on the west side of Halsted street, 136 feet north of Washington street, lot 99x117 feet, with one and three story business buildings, for an indicated consideration of $100,000, has conveyed the property to Jay G. Briley, consideration nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $50,000.

S. W. Straus & Co. have made a bond issue loan of $70,000, seven years, at 5½ per cent, to Carl Edwards on the Carlton Court apartments at 6236-6242 South Park avenue, lot 100x160 feet, east front.

Record was made of the conveyance by Milton S. Plotke to Charles S. Gloeckler of the property at the northwest corner of Newport and Seminary avenues, lot 100x125 feet, with apartment improvements, for an indicated consideration of $62,500, subject to an incumbrance of $37,500.

Lincoln Street Corner Sold.

The property at the northeast corner of Patterson avenue and Lincoln street, lot 50x124 feet, south front, with flat improvements, has been sold by Alfred Nelson to Anna Daleke for an indicated consideration of $33,000.

The apartment house property at the southeast corner of Evans avenue and Forty-sixth street, lot 127½x121 feet, has been conveyed by Harry Homewood to Samuel M. W. Dakin for an indicated consideration of $51,000, subject to an incumbrance of $32,000.

The twelve apartment building at the northwest corner of North Paulina street and Waveland avenue has been sold by Robert W. T. Christiansen to Peter H. and Fritz Schnoor for a reported consideration of $30,000, subject to an incumbrance of $15,000. The purchaser conveyed in part payment the sixty feet of vacant at the northeast corner of Rockwell street and Wilson avenue. George W. Bennin of R. G. Ludwig & Co. was the broker.

Business Property Sold.

CAUGHT BY LOOP CROWD.

Excitement was caused in South State street yesterday when John Boyle fled through the street followed by Milton E. Dammarell, manager of the Eureka hotel, 733 South State street, and a number of citizens. He boarded a north bound car, but the crowd overtook him at Adams street, where he was arrested. Doyle, ejected from the hotel, is alleged to have shattered a large window with a board. Then pursuit ensued.

NEW DANCES SPELL GOOD-BY TO 'SWAN WABBLE' AND KIN.

Innovations Held Secret by International Association of Masters in Convention in New York.

New York, June 5.—[Special.]—Old Man Terpsichore will get a few hard jolts this week when he is put up against some of the new steps secretly prepared by members of the International Association of Masters of Dancing, now in session at the Hotel Martinique.

Just what the innovations are is still a mystery. Prof. James J. Kilgallen, Schenectady's most graceful dancing instructor, and a dozen others who hail from points as far west as San Diego, refused to reveal details, but it is believed the new dips and glides will spell the death of the "swan wabble" and the "rinky dink."

U. S. SPECIAL TRAIN IN CITY.

The ten car "government special" arrived in Chicago over the Baltimore and Ohio and will be open for visitors in the Grand Central station Friday and Saturday. On board the special are exhibits and officials of the army and navy, departments of agriculture, interior, commerce, labor, coast defense, weather bureau, bureau of mines, interstate commerce commission, American Red Cross, and medical and engineering staffs. The train is being taken all over the country under the direction of Secretary Lane of the interior to bring the public into closer touch with what Uncle Sam is doing for his people.

OLD 'JOHN DOE' BRINGS WOE TO ALABAMA WITNESS.

William A. Cobb Uses Name to Mean Every One, but Has to Explain It to Judge Carpenter.

William A. Cobb, who owns a general merchandise store in Center, Ala., nearly got himself into trouble with Judge George A. Carpenter yesterday while testifying.

Cobb was called as a witness for the Chattanooga Medicine company in its libel suit against the American Medical association. He testified the reputation of Dr. H. L. Appleton, a witness for the association, for truthfulness was bad.

"From whom did you learn of Dr. Appleton's reputation; who did you ever hear talk about him?" asked Attorney T. J. Scofield on the cross examination.

Cobb then said there was no such person as "John Doe." When the attorneys for the Chattanooga Medicine company asked him to explain what he meant by giving such an answer Attorney Scofield objected. Judge Carpenter overruled the objection and and ordered Cobb to explain if he were to keep out of trouble for making such answers in court. The witness said he meant that so many people talked against Dr. Appleton that you could inquire of any one and learn his reputation.

Coroner's Jury Clears Man.

Heart disease caused the death, according to a coroner's jury yesterday, of John Hoppe, 1411 Wicker Park place, a bartender. Hoppe fell after a fight with W. Paloczynski, 1801 West Chicago avenue, at the rear of Schoenhofen's dance hall, 1209 Milwaukee avenue, and died almost instantly.

HEALEY AND POLICE FORCE PRAISED FOR PARADE WORK.

Letters and Telegrams Shower Commendation on Management of Saturday's Demonstration.

Hundreds of telegrams have been received by Chief of Police Healey commending him and the police department on the efficient handling of the preparedness parade on Saturday.

"I was in New York City on the Saturday of that great parade," wrote Senator James Hamilton Lewis. "I saw the management by the police force there, and without casting reflection upon the management of New York's parade, I must say that by comparison the management of the police of Chicago far exceeds for perfection of system and order that of our rival city."

"Hundreds of compliments are being constantly received by me," wrote Mayor Thompson, "commenting on the splendid work of your department. It was a big task perfectly accomplished."

"I want to congratulate you on the wonderfully perfect arrangement for handling the crowds on Saturday."

FILM MEN TO GRAND JURY.

J. K. Moore and C. B. Wyson of Vitascope Charged with Operating Confidence Game.

J. K. Moore and C. B. Wysin, executive officers of the Vitascope Film coporation, with offices in the Marquette building, were held to the grand jury under $1,500 bonds each yesterday by Judge Caverly in the South Clark street court on charges of operating a confidence game.

Bruno Jasinski of 4807 Throop street testified that he answered an advertisement of the concern in which they agreed to make a movie actor of him, and that they required him to put up $100 for stock in addition to paying $50 for a course of instruction.

Jasinski said that after he paid his money Moore and Ryson failed to give him the course of lessons, and that the men changed their offices from place to place and he was unable to get back the money he paid in for stock.

FIREMAN AND SPECTATOR HURT IN OLD BUILDING.

Four men were injured by falling walls or collapsing floors yesterday in a fire which partly destroyed a rickety, unoccupied five-story brick building at South Water street and Michigan avenue. They were:

PIPEMAN THOMAS BURNS of engine company No. 4; badly injured in a fall through the same hole.

The fire is believed to have been started by tramps who had been sleeping in the building. Fire Marshal O'Connor probably will investigate the unsafe condition of the structure, which has not been used since an earlier fire swept it several months ago.

DRIVE FROM TOWN PASTOR WHO DERIDED WAR VETERAN

The Rev. Stanley Johnson of Loraine, Ill., Forced to Resign Pulpit—Hooted as He Steps on Train

Quincy, Ill., June 5.—[Special.]—The Rev. Stanley Johnson, pastor of the First Christain church at Loraine, near here, today was forced to resign after he had denounced the veterans of the civil war and the observance of Memorial day.

In a recent address Johnson declared it was a disgrace that the graves of civil war veterans be strewn with flowers for all were murderers and participated in the civil war merely to become butchers and for the sake of plunder. He also said that the United States soldiers in Mexico were barbarians and murderers.

Residents of Loraine were in favor of running him from town and force was necessary to keep some of the old soldiers from attacking the minister. He was hooted today as he stepped on the train with his bride.

LOPEZ GRINS; FIRING SQUAD ENDS LIFE OF VILLA'S AID.

Chihuahua City, June 5.—Pablo Lopez Villa's chief lieutenant in the raid upon Columbus, N. M., today paid the penalty for his crime, facing a firing squad of constitutionalist soldiers at Santa Rosa, Chihuahua's place of execution.

Lopez, who at the orders of Villa, massacred eighteen American mining men at Santa Ysabel, Chihuahua, in January and who is said to have directed the movements of the Mexicans at Columbus, expressed no regret.

The big clock in the Cuartel was booming 11 as he faced the firing squad. The officer in command gave the order to present arms. Lopez raised his head, smiled until his teeth showed, and looking directly at the soldiers, said:

"In the breast, brothers; in the breast."

All of the shots fired struck in or near the heart of the bandit, killing him instantly.

I. C. TO GUARD SCHOOL PUPILS

Decides on $30,000 Crossing System at Utilities Conference.

REQUEST BY PARENTS.

About $30,000 will be expended by the Illinois Central railroad within the next six months for safety devices along its South Chicago branch.

This was decided upon yesterday at a hearing of the public utilities commission. The request for protection of grade crossings along the branch was brought by the South Shore Safety league. Daniel E. Mulvey, Richard Colby, the Rev. Wm. J. Kinsella, Charles Vallee, and Edward A. Kelly acted as a committee for the league.

Protect Twelve Crossings.

Twelve crossings will be protected with gates and a watchman will be stationed at each. At all other crossings the wigwag system of moving bell and light will be installed. Temporary protection for all crossings will be installed at once, and made permanent before Oct. 1.

Safety for Pupils.

The South Shore Safety league was formed in January. Many business men are on its roster. Fear for the safety of the children attending schools, and who are obliged to cross the tracks, was one of the primary reasons of the league's formation.

JOHN BARRETT LAYS WOES OF MEXICO TO AGITATORS

"If peace were restored in Mexico without violating the sovereignty of that country the Mexicans would be parading in their capital city lauding the Yankees, instead of holding anti-American demonstrations, as they have been doing," said John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American union at Washington, D. C.

"There is no trouble in Latin America except in the mind of the professional agitator," Mr. Barrett continued. "When we apply the same feeling toward nations that we have for the family then there will be little cause for war. Pan-Americanism, which means the coöperation of all American countries, emphasizes the efficacy of the Monroe doctrine."

Mr. Barrett urged the immediate building of a merchant marine, the installation of a system of banks through Latin America, and the investment of American capital in the enterprises of the Latin American governments.

Father and Son Fined.

James Cochrane and his son, George Cochrane, of 2414 Wallace street, were each fined $100 yesterday by Judge Caverly, the former for assaulting his wife, Mrs. Mary Cochrane. Sh said her husband and son haven't worked for months and are drunk most of the time.

Flirting Youth Fined $25.

A young man who gave his name as M. J. Malloy when arrested on Saturday during the preparedness parade for attempting to flirt with Miss Helen Mosher of 5404 Maryland avenue, an employé of the Hotel Sherman, was fined $25 yesterday by Judge Caverly.

BORDER TRUTH UNTOLD, TOURIST SAYS ON RETURN

Hubert F. Miller, business manager of the Association of Commerce, returned to Chicago yesterday from the Mexican border with bad news for the people who think the border stories has been the work of professional agitators. Mr. Miller has just completed a six weeks' trip through Texas and the remainder of the southwest.

"Contrary to the notion that the correspondents have been writing the news up, the truth is that the facts have been written down," he said.

Situation More Acute.

"The situation is far more acute than the news would indicate. The stories that do come out seem to be censored, but even the local papers are not printing stories of raids and outrages that are fairly well authenticated and of the rumors that are persistent in the various communities. Some of the stories, nevertheless, are known to be true. The feeling is that the administration at Washington is responsible for the conservative handling of the news.

"There is a lot of bushwhacking going on and there have been hundreds of civilians on both sides killed that have never been reported in the papers. The secret service men have been kept at work down in that trritory, but none of their reports have ever been made public.

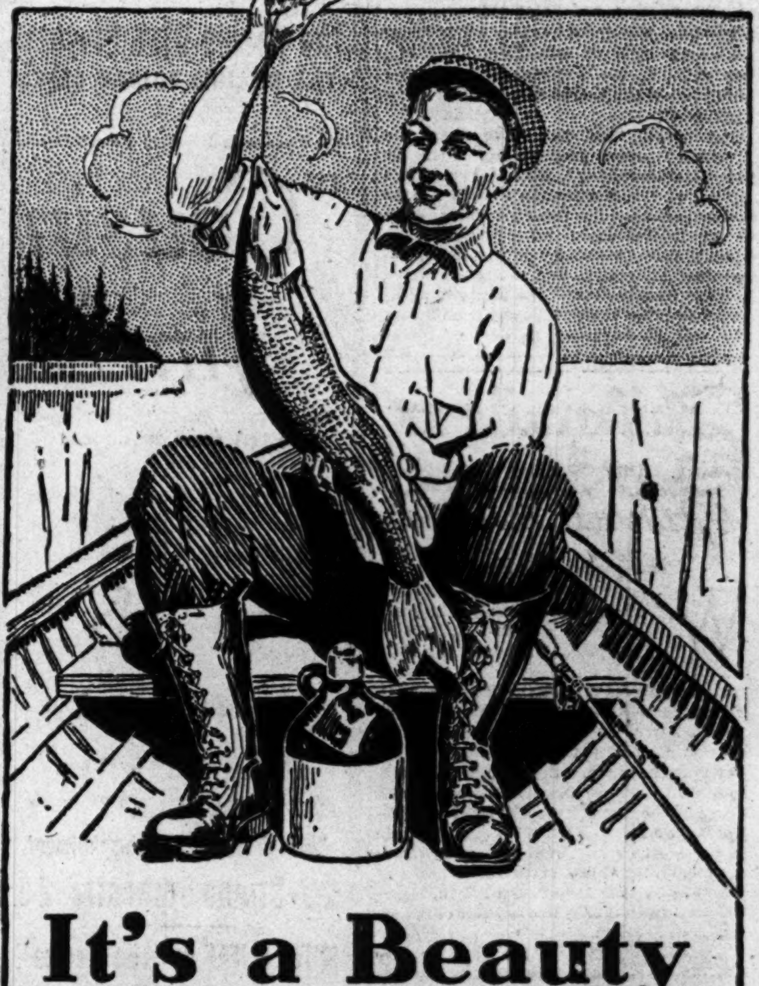
One of the worst features of the situation is that the Mexican revolutionists have been coming across the border into the United States to hatch their plots. As many as three plots were in the making on American soil at one time."

Improve Army Post.

Mr. Miller made a plea for national support of a bill now pending before congress to improve the army post at San Antonio.

"The government has bought an immense aviation field, but there are no machines to use it. The post represents an expenditure of $5,000,000 and the government has no rail connections with it as yet. The bill in congress carries an appropriation to complete the work that has been started. It should be passed, because San Antonio is one of the four points in the country designated by our war department as of the greatest strategic value."

Mr. Miller will make his formal report to the trade extension committee today. He will tell of the general prosperity of the southwest as a result of good crops and of the wide market for Chicago goods. Business in Texas is from 50 to 100 per cent better than normal, he will say.



It's a Beauty

A Northern Wisconsin Product

There is some joy in feeling one of these beauties on the end of your line—to let out your line to his tug—to play him carefully and finally land him.

The waters of this Izaak Walton paradise teem with gamy fish—bass, pike, trout, salmon, muskellunge, etc.—they await a line from you. Then there is health besides—sunburned, "brown as a berry" health that makes you young again and fills you with energy for work when you return home.

POLITICAL FEARS BRING REDUCTION IN COMMITMENTS

Possibility of Three Candidates for President Limits the Stock Dealings.

Some note was taken in the market of political prospects to be developed by the Republican convention. Fear that there might be three candidates for president led to reduction of commitments in the market. The possibilities of the convention will be a factor in prices until results are known.

The automobile shares were strong features. General Motors advanced from 549¾ to 560. Willys-Overland advanced from 319 to 325, but closed at 305. The Maxwell shares were strong in sympathy at the opening, but worked lower at the close.

Such attention as was given the war situation embraced the belief that the conflict would be lengthened by the North sea naval battle.

London reported spot copper up £2 and futures up £2. Spot lead was off 10s, while futures were up 12½s. Spelter was up £3. These quotations had a tendency to help the position of the war stocks.

Freight Rate Hearing Ended.

The long drawn out 5 per cent freight case before the public utilities commission, in which the railroads of the state are trying to raise the intrastate freight rates and so bring about an adjustment of interstate and state rates similar to the schedule that was in effect before the interstate commerce commission granted the 5 per cent increase on the interstate tariffs, has been closed. It has been pending for a year and a half. Final arguments have been heard and local shippers are expecting a decision before the last of September, at which time the extensions that have been granted expire.

The argument of the railroads was that since the interstate rates had been raised 5 per cent by the interstate commerce commission the state rates should also be raised by the same amount by the state commission. The shippers, headed by Henry C. Barlow of the association of commerce, took the stand that the state rates were already on an average of 15 per cent higher than the interstate rates, including the recent boost given by the federal commission, and that for the state commission to raise the rates another 5 per cent would be to increase the discrimination.

Similar Case Up to Commission.

The same case, in effect, is now before the interstate commerce commission, the St. Louis business men being behind that particular complaint. As pointed out by shippers' representatives yesterday, the decision might take a peculiar turn if the commission follows what would appear to be the logical outcome of similar cases. In the Memphis-Arkansas case, for instance, the commission was called on to remove a discrimination between state and interstate rates and found in effect that since the interstate rate was not unreasonable the lower state rates should be raised to the level of the interstate tariffs.

In the Illinois case the commission will be called on to say whether the lower interstate rate shall be considered the reasonable rate or the higher state rate. In case of a finding that the state rate is reasonable it might be within the power of the commission to order the interstate rates up, and the St. Louis delegation would find themselves paying higher rates to send their goods into Chicago instead of forcing Illinois rates up alone.

United Motors Products.

The companies in the United Motors Products corporation are the Rands Manufacturing company of Detroit, the Diamond Manufacturing company of Detroit and Walkersville, the Superior Manufacturing company of Ann Arbor the Vanguard Manufacturing company, and the Universal Metal company of Detroit.

Southern Counties Gas.

The Southern Counties Gas company has sold to E. H. Rollins & Sons $2,500,000 first mortgage 5½ per cent twenty year gold bonds, which are being offered at par. The bonds are callable at 102½ on any interest day. The issue is to retire all outstanding bonds and to reimburse the company for expenditures in acquiring new properties.

The Southern Counties Gas company recently purchased a number of gas properties from the Southern California Edison company, and now owns and operates without competition gas manufacturing and distributing systems in and between thirty-six cities and towns in Los Angeles, Orange, and San Bernardino counties, California.

New Motor Capitalization.

Capitalization of the new motor combination which will take over the Willys-Overland, Chalmers, Hudson, and Auto Light companies probably will consist of $70,000,000 of preferred stock and $2,000,000 of no par value common stock.

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD

It is said John Willys owns about $16,000,000 of the $21,000,000 of the Willys-Overland common stock in addition to substantial holdings of the preferred. It is gossiped that Mr. Willys received $500 a share for his common. Meanwhile L. G. Kaufman, who is at the head of the underwriting for the new automobile combination, said there was no truth in the rumors that there would be additions to the consolidation. He said only the Willys-Overland, the Hudson, and the Chalmers companies would be included.

E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. have disposed of $11,770,840 Anglo-French bonds in the form of a dividend to stockholders of the company. This is the second dividend in such bonds, the first one being for a like amount, so that the total distributed is $23,541,680. Presumably this represents the subscription that the powder company made when the bonds were offered last September, although market reports are that it subscribed for $41,000,000.

The Plattsburgh plant of the Perlman company, zinc manufacturers has been bought for $1,800,000 by the United Zinc Smelting corporation. The capital of the latter is 600,000 shares of no par value. The stock has been underwritten by a syndicate managed by Raymond Pynchon & Co.

It is announced that the German steel output for April was 1,203,398 tons, compared with 1,347,395 tons in March.

The Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway company has sold $1,495,000 5 per cent equipment trust certificates, being a part of the original issue of $5,600,000 put out in 1914. The new certificates will be dated June 1, 1916, and mature $115,000 annually up to 1921.

International Mercantile Marine shares were quite strong, and it was understood in the market that a detailed announcement covering an agreement between the various interests would be shortly reached.

Directors of the Midvale Steel and Ordnance company are scheduled to meet tomorrow. An interest close to the management says no dividend will be declared at this time.

Currency shipments from Chicago in May were $9,784,228, against receipts of $7,548,041. In May, 1915, shipments were $6,670,623 and receipts $9,647,165.

A special meeting of stockholders of the Stewart Mining company has been called for June 8 to vote for increase in capital from $1,250,000 to $3,000,000.

The Chino Copper company's production for May is estimated at 6,526,072 pounds, a large increase over the previous month.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, June 5.—Later news of the naval battle put dealers on the stock exchange in a more cheerful frame of mind and imparted a steadier tone to the markets, though business was not large. British funds were in demand. Consols advanced a fraction and shipping, iron, steel, and Marconi shares and Colonial issues were steadily supported and comprised the bulk of the transactions. American securities were inclined to ease off with Canadian Pacific, but the closing was steadier. Money was in good supply and a large business was transacted in treasury bills and exchequer bonds. Spanish exchange on London continued to drop and is now nearly 10 per cent in Spain's favor at 22.70 pesetas, against a normal of 25.25; bar silver, 31⅝d per ounce; money, 3¾ per cent; discount rates, short bills, 4 9-16@4¾ per cent; three months, 4 9-16@4¾ per cent.

PARIS, June 5.—Trading was quiet on the bourse today; rentes, 52 francs 75 centimes; exchange on London, 28f 18c; 5 per cent loan, 88f 25c.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, June 5.—There was a renewal of scattering liquidation in the market for coffee futures here today and prices made new low ground for the movement. Business was very quiet in the morning and the early offerings were pretty well absorbed at the opening decline of 2@5 points, but the selling became rather more active later owing to reports of freer cost and freight offerings. September contracts sold off to 8.45c and December to 8.55c, with the market closing at a net decline of 7@11 points. Sales, 22,750 bags. June, 8.20c; July, 8.27c; August, 8.35c; September, 8.43c; October, 8.47c; November, 8.51c; December, 8.55c; January, 8.61c; February, 8.66c; March, 8.72c; April, 8.76c; May, 8.81c. Spot coffee quiet; Rio 7s, 9⅝c; Santos 4s, 10⅝c. Santos 4s were offered from Brazil for forward shipment at 10.50@10.65c, cost and freight, London credits. The official cables reported declines of 50@100 reis in the Brazilian market and of 1-32d in the rate of Rio exchange on London. Brazilian port receipts, 16,000 bags; Jundiahy, 8,000 bags. The latest estimates placed the probable decrease in the world's visible supply for May at 660,000 bags, against 747,000 bags last year. MOTORS TO THE FORE.

New York, June 5.—Speculative operations in motors were resumed on an enlarged scale today, publication of additional deals connected with the huge merger of several prominent companies contributing measurably to further substantial gains and new maximums. Among the high records scored during the session, some of which were largely if not wholly surrendered before the close, were Willys-Overland, which rose fifteen points to 325, with 5¾ to 117 for the preferred; Chandler Motors, 11 to 131; General Motors, 11 to 560, and Lee Rubber 2½ to 56½.

Marine Sets Record.

Interest in shipping shares was revived under the guidance of Mercantile Marine preferred, which made an extreme gain of 3¾ to the new record of 100⅜, with a gain of 2 for the common and 3 for United Fruit. Sugars were again benefited by a steady inquiry, with new high quotations for American Beet Sugar on its gain of 4½ to 82¼ and South Porto Rico Sugar 6¼ to 231, but Cuban-American Sugar moved contrarily, declining 4 to 230.

After the spurt in these mercurial stocks had run its course, trading shifted to copper and zinc issues, Mexicans and fertilizers, finally embracing the old war contract favorites. Gains in these varied stocks ranged from two to five points, shading irregularly later.

Rails were doubtless checked by the character of the general trading, but even in that division a strong undertone was manifest for a time, with Norfolk and Western achieving a new maximum of 135. There were temporary gains of 1 to 3 points in Canadian Pacific, "Panhandle," Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern Railway preferred, and Seaboard Air Line, but fresh selling of Reading soon effaced these advances and was responsible for the irregular trend at the close.

Strong Tone in Rails.

International issues, including the war bonds of the entente allies, were decidedly firm on the later advices dealing with the recent naval engagement. Sterling, francs, and marks were slightly lower in the absence of more than nominal dealings.

General firmness attended the restricted dealings in bonds. United States coupon 4s advanced ¼, registered 4s ½, and Panama 3s 1 per cent on call.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Cotton goods markets were generally quiet today, but the inquiry was better than last week. Yarns were firm. Dress goods were in steady demand. Knit goods were active. Raw silk sellers did more business on new season silk.

Steam-Making Coal From the Famous No. 5 Vein

The most valuable marble comes from the noted Carrara quarries in Italy. And—most powerful steam-creating bituminous coal is mined from a vein that has long been praised by geologists and coal experts. That vein is the famous No. 5 Vein of Indiana. From that vein comes

Knox County Coal

—the coal guaranteed to prove out 13,400 British Thermal Units (the measure of coal's heat-making ability) per pound lump—with 9% ash and 9% moisture!

The coal that has been tested—tried out under the boilers of the power plants of such concerns as

City of Ft. Wayne Electric Plant;
Crane Co., Chicago;
Public Schools of Chicago;
Albert Schwill & Co., Chicago;

and scores of other large coal consumers—which today prefer Knox County Coal to all other steam coals offered to them.

In addition to being a fine coal naturally, Knox County Coal renders better service because it is better prepared coal. All the mines operated by this association possess the most modern equipment for cleaning, preparing, and sizing coal.

Another advantage we offer is assurance of prompt service. All our mines are located on the Pennsylvania Lines. The swift, sure freight service of this, the standard railroad of America, is at our command.

It is to your interest as a user of steam coal to investigate Knox County Coal. Let us quote you prices—refer you to scores of big concerns who know that Knox County Coal is superior steam coal. Write us today.

OUTSIDE WHEAT MARKETS SHOW FAIR ADVANCES

Because of the judicial election the local board of trade was closed yesterday, and with their leader missing the outside markets were quiet, though firm. Wheat at the northwest markets closed ⅛@⅜c higher than on Friday, Winnipeg was ¼@⅜c higher, while southwest points showed gains of ⅜@¾c. Minneapolis reported because of bearish conditions the market was oversold at the outset and shorts later were forced to cover. Winnipeg was firm from the outset. Weather in the spring wheat belt was too cool for forcing growth and unsettled conditions are forecast.

Poor prospects for a crop, as shown in the Missouri state report, gave especial strength to the St. Louis market. Kansas City ruled weak early on favorable rains over the southwest and increasing stocks, but later rallied with other markets. Kansas City stocks are 6,150,000 bu, thirteen times as large as a year ago, and elevator men there say a small percentage of this supply has been sold to go out and that a large part will be carried into the new crop.

Liverpool Cargoes Weaker.

Liverpool spot wheat was unchanged with the market dull and inclined to be lower under continued pressure of Manitobas. Winter wheat cargoes there were 3d lower, with Manitobas 4½d lower. Argentine and Australian cargoes nominal. Broomhall reports a further loss of 1s in English country markets, and says the increasing stocks and large floating quantities serve to keep the trade bearish. Liverpool stocks are 4,432,000 bu, against 3,606,000 bu a year ago. Supplies on ocean passage decreased 768,000 bu for the week, to a total of 62,632,000 bu, against 51,000,000 bu afloat a year ago.

North America shipped 10,851,000 bu last week, compared with 13,532,000 bu the preceding week, and 5,236,000 bu a year ago. Total world's shipments were 12,955,000 bu, against 11,162,000 bu a year ago. Advices from India state that the monsoon has broken and this is favorable for wheat. Splendid rains were reported in southern Australia with scattered showers elsewhere in that country.

Export Call Is Limited.

Seaboard advices said little interest was shown in wheat for export yesterday. There were a few bids, but these were so far out of line as to make business impossible. Late on Friday there were 750,000 bu sold to the Belgian Relief association, with reports of 200,000 bu taken in addition. Cash wheat at the outside markets was generally steady. Receipts northwest for two days were 662 cars, against 264 a year ago, while Winnipeg had 628 cars, against 175 last year. Southwest and Omaha markets had 536 cars, against 491 a year ago. Minneapolis stocks decreased 80,000 bu for two days.

P. S. Goodman issued a report saying the Canadian acreage was 20 per cent under last year, while oats area showed a small increase. He says the wheat plant averaged three weeks late, and estimates the condition at 90 per cent, with a crop indication of 211,000,000 bu.

Corn Southwest Is Firm.

Corn at the southwest markets closed ¼@⅜c higher, with Kansas City relatively firmer. The market was firm largely in sympathy with wheat, and also affected by the less favorable weather conditions over the corn belt. Kansas City cash corn was unchanged to ½c lower, with St. Louis ½c higher. North America shipped 1,155,000 bu last week, against 892,000 bu in the previous week and 433,000 bu a year ago. Supplies on ocean passage increased 2,235,000 bu for the week to a total of 14,433,000 bu, against 13,583,000 bu a year ago. Liverpool spot corn ½@1d lower.

Winnipeg oats finished unchanged to a fraction lower. North America shipped 3,362,000 bu last week, compared with 4,774,000 bu the preceding week and 1,799,000 bu a year ago.

BOSTON STOCK QUOTATIONS.

BOSTON, Mass., June 5.—Though not especially active, stocks of all sorts were strong today. United Fruit lifted above 163 for a gain of about 3½ points, and although it did not hold all this advantage, still was up more than two points. The earnings of the company are responsible for the steady advance. United States Smelting rose nearly 3 and Calumet and Hecla rose to 546, a gain of nearly six points. It was the only local copper to show marked improvement, although Osceola and Old Dominion lifted a point. New Haven was fractionally higher, but Boston and Maine fell below 50 for a loss of a point. Call money ruled at 3 per ment; time loans, short dates, 3@3¼ per cent; time loans, six months, 3@3½ per cent; time loans, one year, 4@4¼ per cent.

Paige-Detroit Motor.

O. R. S.—A meeting of stockholders of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car company a few days ago approved the plan to issue an 80 per cent stock dividend, thus increasing the outstanding stock from $500,000 to $900,000. They also reduced the par value from $100 to $10. The directors immediately afterward declared a 3 per cent monthly dividend, payable June 8, on the increased capital. This is slightly more than 5 per cent on the old capital. On an estimated production of 16,000 cars this year profits are expected to be $1,500,000.

Pullman Company.

M. C. R.—The Pullman company has shown a steady increase of earnings for many years with occasional small setbacks in periods of general business depression. The year ended July 31 last was in such a period and gross earnings declined about 7 per cent. The surplus after depreciation amounted to only 8.79 per cent on the $120,000,000 of capital stock. A better showing will be made in the current year. A number of large stock dividends have been paid in the past, but as the total surplus now amounts to only 5 or 6 per cent of the stock there is no reason to expect any such extra distribution in the near future. The regular dividend is 8 per cent, and at the present market price of the stock the yield is less than 5 per cent.

American Waterworks and Electric.

N. B. N., Racine, Wis.—The American Waterworks and Electric company's collateral trust bonds, outstanding to the amount of $17,755,000, are somewhat speculative. The various subsidiaries have securities in the hands of the public so that the collateral trust issue is rather far from the ground. Earnings of subsidiaries are showing a good increase, however, and the position of the bonds is improving steadily. In the three months ended March 31 gross earnings of subsidiaries showed an increase of 15 per cent. The income of the holding company in that period was $310,103, being an increase of about 75 per cent. Interest charges were $197,523.

Edmunds & Jones.

F. P. J., Waukesha, Wis.—The concerns that recently combined to form the Edmunds & Jones corporation were comparatively new and no reports of their earnings or financial condition were published prior to the consolidation. It is stated officially that the companies earned in the aggregate $440,000 in 1915, a sum equal to the 7 per cent divided on the $1,000,000 new preferred stock, and $9.20 a share on the common. The output of the Edmunds & Jones company was 442,646 lamps in 1913, 661,430 in 1914, and 1,467,119 in 1915. There is no other official information available. On the basis of this the stock appears to be a speculation more than an investment.

Brief Answers.

C. M.—The dividend always has been paid on United States Steel preferred and the stock fluctuates in market value only within narrow limits. Any reputable broker will buy or sell the shares for you on a moment's notice. When earnings decline the market price of the preferred stock is likely to decline somewhat.

J. H.—World Film stock sells low because it does not pay dividends and has issued no reports of earnings or condition for nearly a year. Apparently there is no prospect of dividends.

Virgil Bosworthy, 17 years old, applied to the Postal Telegraph and Cable company yesterday for work, but officers of the company had been advised by the Detroit health department of Bosworthy's physical condition.

With his chum, Price Burton, he was hurried to the health department, and after an examination both he and his companion were taken to the isolation hospital.

Bosworthy, the physicians said, has smallpox and Burton has just recovered from the same disease.
